

DOUBLE VOTE OFFER CLOSES WEDNESDAY

Tribune Contest Is now at Fever Heat—Double Vote Plan Changes Complexion of Contest, Chances Good—Gather in Your Promises Just do Your Best.

And now the race is on fast and furious. The double-vote offer which started in Thursday has been the means of awakening a great many of the candidates who heretofore lagged behind, to a realization of the fact that they are still on earth and still have a chance to win one of these beautiful and valuable prizes. Ever since the double-vote offer was inaugurated votes and subscriptions have been coming into the office fast and furious. Contestants who until the past week were away down in the list in their different districts, and were showing absolutely no ambition or energy, have taken a hold of this offer and are going to stay with it as long as it lasts.

of the time while this offer lasts. Do not forget what Josh Billings said. Josh said: "Consider the postage stamp, my son. Its usefulness consists in its ability to stick to one thing until it gets there." Remember the above motto every time you start out to get a subscription. The ability to stick to a thing until you succeed is the reason our most prominent business men and financiers hold the positions they occupy at the present time.

Is the Game Worth the Candle?
Seventeen prizes, carrying a valuation of $2,500, to 17 bright, ambitious ladies in the territory covered by the Tribune and the Southern Oregonian, and among those 17 prizes a beautiful Reo automobile, and a valuable piece of realty, and in addition to these two prizes there are still 15 to be awarded.

And all that is required to win one of these prizes is a little ambition and hustle.

Every man, woman and child in the country is cognizant of the prize contest being held on this paper and are doing all in their power to assist their different favorites to be numbered among the winners. They are saving their votes and are giving their subscriptions, and prevailing upon their friends to give their subscriptions to the one they desire to see win. And, on the other hand, there are all kinds of people in this section who are only waiting for some bright, enterprising contestant to come along and request their votes and subscriptions, and the first one to see these people is the one who will secure the votes.

A number of the contestants now can count their votes away up among the thousands, but even then they are not resting on their oars, as they realize only too well that the other candidates have the chance while the double-vote offer is on, to catch up to and even pass them in the race for the prizes. Those who lead at the present time are working harder than they have at any time during the contest.

Stand by Your Friends.
Those of you contestants who have all manner of votes turned in to your credit. Those friends were evidently desirous of seeing you among the final list of winners and now is the time for you to show them that their confidence was not misplaced when they threw their votes and subscriptions in your direction. Get in now and work as you never have before at any time during the contest, strain every nerve to secure enough votes to place you among the winners on the last day of the contest.

In District No. 4 Miss Jennie Lewis of Eagle Point makes a tremendous jump today and takes first place with a very comfortable majority. Miss Lewis is well known and is very popular in her home town, and in addition has the backing of a host of friends, who declare that if Miss Lewis does not win the auto it will not be their fault. At the same time there are a number of other candidates in the same district who are doing a whole lot and are saying very little. The most of the active contestants are now starting to pile up a little reserve, which they will find will come in very handy a little later on in the contest.

Make Every Moment Count.
While the double-vote offer is on and then you will be well in line to win the prize you most desire. Keep everlastingly at it and do not give up for a moment. Today some other lady may hold the lead; it is up to you, then, to take that place tomorrow. You can do it and hold the position permanently if you will only put the necessary efforts back of your determination.
