

MAKE HAY WHILE THE SUN IS SHINING

By the Sun, We Mean Make Every Moment of the Double Vote Offer Count—But One Day of Double Votes Remain.

The double-vote offer closes Wednesday at 8 o'clock p. m. It is up to you, contestants, to make every moment of the remaining time count. Subscriptions will be accepted at the office up until 8 o'clock in the evening. All mail coming in the next day will also be included in the double-vote offer, providing it is postmarked prior to 8 p. m., February 12. The candidates, one and all, received the double-vote offer enthusiastically and are making hay while the sun shines.

Do You Know
That the remaining two days will be as good as four the next week? Have you profited by the double-vote offer? If not, why not? Those of the contestants who have been lagging behind and have been doing very little toward winning one of these valuable prizes have now the opportunity of getting up ever, or even taking the leadership from those now holding it.

Do not let a month go by without seeing someone in reference to helping you along on your journey toward winning one of the prizes; do not allow an opportunity to go by to secure either votes or subscriptions. Do you realize, contestants, that the contest has but about two weeks still to run, and it is sure up to you to make every moment of that time count?

The Interest in the Contest Has now reached fever-heat. Those of the contestants who are taking an interest and are desirous of winning one of the beautiful prizes are making every moment count, and at any time that they see an opportunity to secure a number of votes or subscriptions they are, as the saying goes, "on the job."

If they have already secured a friend's subscription for a month, or three months, or even for six months, they are going back now and securing them for longer periods.

Gather in Your Promises
Between now and Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock and they will all count double votes for you.

Plenty of Territory.
There is plenty of territory to secure votes and subscriptions notwithstanding the contest has now been running a month.

There are any number of people who are only waiting for some bright, enterprising candidate to come along and request their votes, and the first one to see these people are the ones who will profit by their votes.

In two short weeks the largest and most successful newspaper contest ever inaugurated in Southern Oregon will be a thing of the past, and when the final count is made and the announcement of winners is given there will be 17 happy ladies in the territory covered by the Medford Tribune and the Southern Oregonian.

One of these will be the proud possessor of a Reo Roadster Automobile, a 1908 model; another will have a valuable homestead located within five minutes' walk of the city of Medford, and the other 15 will have scholarships, gold watches and piano certificates coming to them.

And the ladies who make the most of their time from now until the date of closing will in all probability be the fortunate ones.

Rustle, Rustle, Rustle.
From now on as you have never rustled before. The prizes are all well worth the winning, and in addition the honor attached to the winners is to be considered.

The Automobile
Will arrive in Medford this week some time, and will be placed on exhibition immediately on its arrival here, so that all may see for themselves that it is a car built for Oregon roads and conditions.

This automobile is being purchased from the firm of Walker & Elmhurst of this city, and is unqualifiedly guaranteed by these gentlemen, and any one desirous of knowing the reputation this car has all over the coast has only to inquire of any one of the many owners of the Reo machines in this city.

Have You Votes Enough to Win?
If you imagine that you have, do not be contented to stop at that, but keep right on as before, and if you have not, now is the time to get in and get them before the close of the double offer. A bright, ambitious, energetic candidate can secure thousands of votes during the next two days if she will only make up her mind to get them, but as long as she sits down and waits for some of her friends to come along and hand her their votes and expects to win the automobile in this manner she is sure doomed to disappointment and might as well have her name taken from the list at once.

Get in, keep busy and do not let up until the curtain on the contest rings down for once and for all.
