WAGE WAR UPON POISONOUS WEEDS

Poisonous Plant Investigation Work Is Being Carried On by the Government Awakens Widespread Interest—Eradicating Growth of Range Plants.

That the poisonous plant investigative work now being carried on by the forest service in the different national forests throughout the west has awakened widespread interest is strongly illustrated by the increasing number of applications for new range examinations from users of the national forests.

Good Progress Made.

Although this branch of the forest service work is still in its inception, it being a comparatively short time since the plan was initiated, good progress has already been made. A thorough examination of the Manti National forest in Utah and partial examinations of the Huachuca in Arizona, Black Hills in South Dakota and the Holy Cross in Colorado have been made and much very valuable information in regard to the plants most dangerous to stock has been secured. It is the intention of the forester to continue the work throughout the coming season, and it will undoubtedly result in a series of important discoveries that will lead to the reduction of the loss of range stock from poisonous plants to a minimum.

Many Sheep Are Lost.

In an application for an examination of poison areas in the Park range and Sierra Madre forests in Colorado and Wyoming it is reported that the value of the sheep lost during the present season within a comparatively small area from poisonous plants is not less than $15,000, there being 738 head of sheep lost out of one band, 450 out of another and a number of smaller losses from other herds. Heavy losses of cattle have been reported from Colorado also.

While the work of investigation has been confined to the national forests, the results obtained will be equally beneficial and applicable to the users of unreserved public lands as the poisonous plants are different species of two or three generic families, and the discovery of an antidote for, or a means of eradicating or checking the growth of one species will apply equally well to the others.

BOURNE OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR ROOSEVELT'S RE-ELECTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The editor of the magazine which is handling Senator Bourne's prize essay contest upon the subject of a second elective term for President Roosevelt reached here yesterday with several hundred manuscripts for examination. New York, Illinois and Ohio lead in the number, with but few from Oregon. The decision of the judges will be announced on March 15.

Senator Elkins and Senator Bourne met at the White House yesterday and had an argument over the renomination of President Roosevelt, ending by Senator Bourne saying: "I will bet you $10,000 Roosevelt is nominated by the Chicago convention."

"I won't bet," said Elkins, "but if I thought you had that much money on you I would throw you down and take it away from you."

Senator Bourne is arranging to open up his campaign for the renomination of Roosevelt in a systematic manner. It is reported that he will secure quarters in the Union Trust building, engage a large corps of newspaper writers, cartoonists and clerks and commence an energetic crusade for a second elective, using the material furnished by competitors in his thousand dollar prize essay for distribution. The campaign will take on the features of an anti-Taft fight as well as pro-Roosevelt.

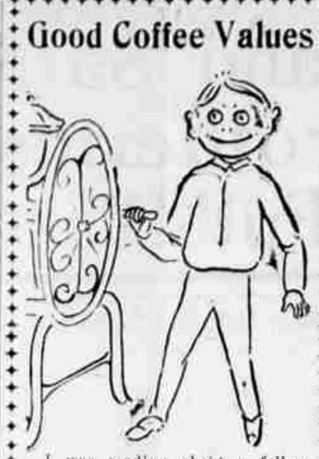
Good Coffee Values



I was reading about a fellow who was asked what he had had for lunch, and he said: "A piece of baconine, some almost eggs, a cup of near coffee and some not quite pie." Well, you won't find any "near coffee" around this shop; that is, if we sell it to you for coffee. It's easy for a grocer to give you a good run for your coffee money if he isn't too stingy. Coffee is lower than ever before and qualities better. It all depends upon how much a grocer is willing to pay for his coffee. You can buy the real old Govt. Java or you can buy Java which comes from Brazil, but whatever we sell you, whether it be Java, Mocha and Java or Costa Rica, you may know it is the best grade that can be sold for the money. We have a big coffee trade, and that helps us to give you fresh roasted coffee any old day you want it, and not the tasteless kind which has lost most of its strength. I expect a lot of ladies in the store today to buy our 25c coffee.
