Forests for Seventy Years. New Zealand has 1,200,000 acres of forest, with 200 kinds of trees. It is estimated that the native forests will last at the present rate of cutting, for 70 years. The replacement will therefore be gradual. But in the end, if the imported trees prove to be more valuable economically than the native ones, they will make up the future forests of the country.

Forestry was taken up in New Zealand over 30 years ago, but was abandoned after a few years. The reason given for dropping it was that it cost more than it was worth. After several years of exploitation it was generally conceded that the abandonment of forestry by the government was a serious mistake, and it was taken up again with renewed energy. Nurseries and plantations are being extended as rapidly as circumstances will allow. The yearly timber cut of New Zealand is about a half billion feet, nearly the same amount as the annual cut of British Columbia.

AMUSEMENTS.

Praise for Jubilee Singers. BY ED ANDREWS.

Williams' Jubilee company, who appeared at the opera house Saturday night and gave a sacred program Sunday night were a pleasant surprise to the music lovers of Medford. It is too bad that good companies should suffer from the shortcomings of inferior companies that precede them, but it is a penalty which true art often has to pay. The so-called jubilee singers that have appeared here this winter have been a delolful attempt at music and have not been considered worthy. The Tribune's notice, but the eight talented singers of last night rank among the first of like companies, white or colored.

Their program is chiefly of the popular style, with enough of the classic to make it worth while for the lovers of high art. The voices are perfectly balanced in their quartet work and their solos and duos are beyond the perfection that any director might hope to obtain. True musicians who sing together for a long time arrive at a unity of sympathy by submerging individuality and striving for a harmonious result which individual ambition would never reach, and this is perhaps the reason we so seldom hear a perfect quartet. These singers diminish to a whisper and successfully imitate the moaning of the wind.

It would be unfair to single out any member for special praise, yet there are singers among them who closely border greatness, but it is as a whole that you think of this company. Manager Hazelrigg should look this troupe for a return engagement next season, for they have given us a taste of their quality and their melodious voices that will be a pleasant memory.

FORMER JACKSON COUNTY WOMAN IN LEGAL TANGLE

Susan E. Anderson is seeking the aid of the circuit court in untangling a matrimonial mix-up in which she has played a prominent part. According to her own account of it, as contained in the complaint she has filed, she was married to Fred Kleinhammer, in Linn county, May 2, 1886, but they were separated and the courts of that county dissolved the knot which made them husband and wife, July 5, 1893, and on that very same day she accepted the hand and heart of Noah W. Leabo and they were at once married at Albany. She lived with this man until the year 1897, when to her great astonishment she ascertained that her marriage to this man was illegal, inasmuch as the Oregon state laws provided that no divorced parties could remarry within a period of six months after the court has separated them. And this was news to her husband, too, and taking advantage of the situation, he forthwith "skipped out" and she says she has never seen him since that time, but afterwards she says one of his brothers informed her that the man was dead. Acting upon this bit of information, she again entered the matrimonial state, this time becoming the wife of Alfred Anderson, to whom she was married March 18, 1901, at Jacksonville. Two children were born to them. But afterwards this husband died and now she seeks to have the court declare her marriage to Leabo null and void, giving her the complete charge of the two children and allowing her and said children to assume the surname of Anderson.

GETS JAIL SENTENCE FOR CARRYING PISTOL

James Gribble, surcharged with Ashland blind pig whisky, flourished a pistol and as a consequence was sent to the county jail for ten days by Recorder Eggleston. Chief of Police Thornton took him to Jacksonville. The habit of carrying concealed weapons is altogether too common, and there are many others who should be punished severely therefor.

RATES TO MEDFORD.

During March and April, 1908, tickets will be on sale daily from the principal cities of the United States to Medford, Or., over the lines of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company and Southern Pacific company (lines in Oregon) at the colonist rates named below:

Table with 2 columns: From, Rate. Includes cities like Atchison, Atlanta, Baltimore, Birmingham, Bloomington, Bristol, Boston, Buffalo, Cairo, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Council Bluffs, Des Moines, Elmira, Memphis, Minneapolis, Mobile, Montgomery, Nashville, New York, Omaha, Omaha, Philadelphia, Evansville, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Leavenworth, Louisville, Pittsburg, Sioux City, St. Joseph, St. Louis, St. Paul, Washington, D. C.

Medford, Or. Is located in Jackson county, Southern Oregon, in the heart of the celebrated Rogue River valley. The valley has an area of approximately 1500 square miles and is about half as large as the state of Delaware or Rhode Island. The Rogue River valley is one of the most prolific in the entire country, and produces apples, pears, peaches, grapes and other fruits with extraordinary success. During 1907 an orchard near Medford shipped a carload of pears to New York City, for which the gross price of $4622.80 was paid. This is the fresh fruit car record of the world and is equivalent to the remarkable price of 17 cents per pound for fresh fruit at wholesale. The fruit which made this remarkable record was Du Coince pears. The best previous record of fresh fruit was also made by Medford (in 1906) when $3450 was paid for a carload of the same fruit.

The records made in the Rogue River valley in orchards adjacent to Medford during 1907 are so wonderful as to surpass belief. Sixteen and one-half acres of Winter Nellis pears produced $19,000 net f. o. b. Medford. Fifty-five trees of Yellow Newtown Pippin produced $15 boxes of fruit, which, in spite of the financial panic in London, panned out $1713.50 net. These trees grow on less than one acre. The three-acre orchard from which this fruit was taken has produced an average amount of $500 net per year for the last eight years. One hundred and fifty-two Yellow Newtown Pippin trees produced in 1907, $3125 f. o. b. Medford. These trees grow on three acres. From eight acres near Medford 6000 boxes of Newtown Pippin apples were marketed in 1907, netting $2600 an acre f. o. b. the orchard. For the past seven years this orchard has netted $791 per acre average.

Apple and Pear Returns.

Seven acres of Bartlett pears near Medford in 1907 grossed $2200 per acre. A young Bartlett pear orchard of 30 acres of 8-year-old trees netted $1000 per acre.

Twenty Winter Nellis pear trees netted $6600. These figures show the wonderful profit made in 1907 for apple and pear orchards about Medford—a profit exceeding $1000 per acre in many cases.

Although the record for 1908 does not show such wonderful returns, the figures are, nevertheless, exceedingly large. Three-fourths of an acre of Spitzenbergs produced 387 boxes in 1906, which brought $1714. Four acres of Spitzenbergs brought $2135. Twenty-two acres of pears in 1905 produced 644 boxes of fruit, which sold for $8884 f. o. b. cars.

The significant fact of the wonderful resources and possibilities of the Rogue River valley is shown by the offer of the Medford Commercial club to pay $200 to any one who can show by authentic testimony that any city or town in the United States, outside of a 50-mile circle, with Medford as a center, has tributary to it within the same radius as many diversified resources as Medford, Or., can show with the corresponding radius. Among the resources of this wonderful valley are the following:

Resources of Valley.

Apples, pears, cherries, apricots, berries, grapes, peaches, radishes, tomatoes, horseradish, asparagus, prunes, artichokes, etc., potatoes, onions, carrots, sugar corn, chestnuts, almonds, butter-nuts, walnuts, peanuts, lettuce, cantaloupes, watermelons, pears, beans, butter, cheese, tobacco, rye, cattle, sheep, goats, hogs, honey, lime, marble, granite, iron, talc, mica, jade, onyx, agate, chrysom, garnets, tellurium, lead, platinum, cinnabar, gold, silver, copper, cedar, oak, cedar pine, Douglas fir, white pine, black oak, madrone, asbestos, arbutus water, mineral springs, sandstone, waterpower, alfalfa, etc., etc.
