HAILEY LEFT ESTATE VALUED AT $10,000

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 21.—The late Judge Hailey is said to have left an estate approximating $10,000, all of which will go to his widow. The life insurance, $60,000, is the principal part of the legacy, and the policies were all in favor of his wife.

Aside from his insurance, Judge Hailey owned the Alford ranch on which Wild rose grows, which has 700 acres of land and his residence property on the north side of the river in Pendleton.

Other assets consist of the judge's two libraries, valued at $1000, notes and accounts and stock in the Commercial National bank. In the opinion of W. L. Thompson, cashier of that bank, and who is familiar with Mr. Hailey's business affairs, the estate will not between $1000 and $1500.
