ATTORNEY-GENERAL HOLDS ALL WARRANTS TAXABLE

The decision just rendered by Attorney-General Crawford is put into force when the next assessment is made. The result will be an increase in the assessed valuation of the county. For the information and benefit of a candidate for assessor in a Southern Oregon county, Attorney-General Crawford gives an opinion in which he holds that all county warrants are assessable for the purpose of taxation under the state laws. While not asked to pass upon these questions, the attorney-general also says, orally, that not only county warrants, but those of state, school districts and municipal cities, as well as bonds, are not exempt from taxation under the state statutes. Heretofore it has been generally supposed, and many bookkeepers have advised, that the negotiable instruments were not subject to assessment and taxation and much confusion has doubtless been occasioned on that account.

Wherever recommendations and general information can be had in connection with these orders, they may be secured in all cities."
