Morality of Eugene. Chance to Earn $100 Still Open—Statistics Show That Prohibition Does Not Prohibit—Drunks Keep Courts Busy, One Hundred and Fifty in a Year—Only Half the Growth and Building in Eugene That Medford Can Show. A few days ago I offered $100, which is now on deposit at the Medford National bank, for proof that federal liquor licenses had not increased in Eugene and Lane county under prohibition. Mayor Matlock admitted the existence of "blind pigs." There are 26 revenue licenses for Eugene alone, and persons can draw their own conclusions as to the number of "blind pigs" now in existence. The $100 is still up, and anyone can call at the Medford National bank and examine check. You can earn it by proving the following list of arrests made in Eugene for drunkenness during the past months when the town was dry is not correct. According to the figures made by Prother Shields for Medford, by multiplying the number of arrests by ten, there must have been 1500 drunks in Eugene during this period. At the same time, there has been less growth, less building, and less prosperity in Eugene than in Medford. The following is the list of Eugene arrests for drunkenness: City of Eugene, Oregon, Recorder's Court, 1906. July—Ed Lasky, Shell Coffman, Frank Marshall. August—Ed Bee, William Goss, Chas. Mendel, Welly Wilkins, Scott Inman. September—O. Clansen, Dave Murphy, J. P. McCarty, John Blew, John Bundy, John Opener, as, Gigot, Artie Lumsford, O. Clanson, E. Donovan, or Riley. November—C. M.
