U'Ren, who wanted a proxy, failed The convention did some strang things, sucha as making one man a dele gate who didn't want the position, and refusing to grant the honor to another who did. His efforts to have himself dected a national delegate must cost Bourne a wad of money, yet he was nusuccessful. Asa Thompson, on the other hand, didn't want to be a delegate and his people forced him to accept Bourne financed counties in order to have favorable delegations sent to the convention; he sent his private secre tary and burnt up dollars in telegraphic instructions. Bourne undertook to or ganize a machine for the sole purpose of electing himself a delegate, and lost all. Thompson wandered down from Enstern Oregon with his delegation, who wanted nothing. Enstern Oregon had to be recognized and the Fulton people did not want Kennedy of Baker City The Fulton crowd told the Eastern Oregon people to designate someone for delegate to Chicago. No one wanted it particularly, least of all Thompson, He was finally prevailed on to accept, and he received the headr without turn ng his hand.
