THE NEW TRAIN SCHEDULE

After mature deliberation and evidently careful weighing of results, the Southern Pacific has put into effect its long promised change in passenger schedules for the benefit of Southern Oregon.

The change is a simple one, and intended for that numerous class of travelers who make a business of staying up until the small hours to catch trains.

This train is especially designed to convenience the Rogue River valley residents, and is one of the many marks of special favor shown for this region by Mr. Harriman.

The Willamette valley people are kickers. They stir up a row over poor service, so two trains a day extra are given them.

Think how California-bound tourists from other states are accommodated by the new train. They arrive on the Overland express on the Northern Pacific at 8:35 p. m.

The truth of the matter is that the changed schedule is made simply to benefit the Portland Oregonian, which has all of its long history, been a railroad organ.

When the Southern Pacific first pulled its daylight trains off last fall the Oregonian waxed exceedingly wrathfully because of "the injustice to the people of Southern Oregon."

Will the Oregonian protest? Hardly. Medford has, to a certain extent, brought this shameful treatment by the railroad upon itself.

LET THEM STAY AT HOME. The people of Jackson county have not yet had an opportunity of showing plainly how they stand on Statement No. 1, which is the popular election of United States senators.

EDISON LOSES HIS RIGHT TO PATENT. PITTSBURGH, May 18.—In an opinion handed down in the United States circuit court, Judge Buffington finds a patent issued to Thomas Edison on January 13, 1901, which resulted in great economy in the production of incandescent light bulbs to have been void.

LONG-ESTABLISHED SCHOOL FOR CHILD CROOKS EXPOSED

PITTSBURGH, May 18.—Enraged because she found that she had been instructing her own 15-year-old son, whom she had not seen for years, to pick pockets and be an all-round juvenile crook, Blanche Anderson, alias Miller, turned state's evidence and on the witness stand told a story that sent her former working partner, John Anderson, to the workhouse for 60 days' rest so that the police can get a better hold on him.

The woman told how Anderson and others, assisted by herself, had conducted a school for child crooks on the north side for years, and she testified that not less than 500 child criminals had been turned out in this time. She described the method of training in detail.

"A child could be turned into a first-class pickpocket in four weeks if he were wise," she said.

Anderson was given a hearing, and the woman was the leading witness against him. She declared that the police of Allegheny had known of the whole affair and intimated that some high-up had profited from the proceeds of the child crooks.

"I have paraded all day long while 20 boys picked my pocket in turn, and then would go out on the street followed by the boys, who in turn would slip up to me in a crowd and pick my pocket or open my purse, so as to eliminate their nervousness. The end came when I found that one of the real bright little pickpockets was my own son by a former marriage, whom I thought safe at home with a sister in the east end. I then resolved to quit, which I have done."

EELS ARE KILLED BY ELECTRIC SHOCKS

UKIAH, May 18.—The run of eels in the rivers and creeks in this section is exceeding any known for years. Thousands of them are to be seen along the streams.

There seemed to be no way of getting rid of them until electricians sunk a large meshed piece of wire netting in the canal where the eels congregated and when it was well covered several thousand volts were turned into it.

spacious place, and on this badge will be printed the number of the holder, corresponding to the license number held by the city.

In the past much trouble has been experienced by the police of the city in securing possession of stolen goods which have been sold or pawned, as pawnbrokers and second-hand dealers often keep their purchases a secret, and in this manner become an accomplice of the thief if the articles have been stolen.
