Big Support.
A young colored man in Washington who passed with credit a city service examination was immediately certified for appointment to the treasury department. His old mother, a lady of the abolition type, insisted upon accompanying him to witness his taking of the oath of office. When the official charged with the ascending in the new dress put him the usual formula with reference to "protecting the constitution of the United States" the old lady's eyes were seen to bulge with astonishment. But she said nothing till she and her son were outside, when, turning to him, she earnestly observed: "I didn't wanter say nothin' in there, Joe, but I doed, honey, I doed see how yintse goid' to suppone de United States when you ain't been able to now to support your ownself."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Bird Structures.
Birds belong to the vertebrates, or backboneed animals. They are distinguished from the rest of the vertebrates by the graceful outlines of their bodies, by their clothing of feathers, toothless jaws and the fore limbs, or wings, being adapted to flying. Nature has made many wonderful provisions in the bird, especially in the formation and arrangement of the bones. These are compact and in many cases hollow, thus combining lightness with strength. The first bone of the backbone is so freely jointed to the skull that birds can turn their heads around and look directly back.

Alms From a Tomb.
A remarkable custom which has been unimpairedly in force for 200 years is yearly observed at Ideford, a seacoast parish a few miles from Chudleigh. It is that of picking up alms from the donor's tomb in the churchyard. The pastor and churchwarden stand at one end of the tomb, upon the top of which they place coals. The parishioners of the church come up one by one to the other end of the tomb and pick up the money.—London Standard.

Those initiated were: E. E. Kelly, A. E. Whitman, Thomas Moffat, E. J. Bonner, L. E. Bean, Conrad Reinking, J. D. Pinyan, J. A. Storak, Clarence Cox, William Milnes, W. E. Johnson, C. A. Ames, H. Hopson, C. L. Garrison and A. C. Slinger.

S. P. INCREASES FORCE TO HANDLE IMMENSE TRAFFIC
SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 22.—The tremendous increase in freight shipping has made it necessary for the local officials of the Southern Pacific to put on three more switch engines and three more switching crews for work in the Sacramento yards. It has been the policy of the Southern Pacific since last October to get along with as few men as possible, but the present rush has compelled the increase in the local force.
