ENJOIN FROM USING BAR

R. D. Hume, the salmon king, is not the only man that can get into court over Rogue river fishing. What promises to be an interesting fight is now on. Just above this bar and just below it will bring out some fine legal points. Opposite the old Ranzen hop ranch on the river is a bar some quarter of a mile in length and it is the only suitable place in that vicinity for the fishermen to land with their nets. T. B. Cornell and W. H. Flanagan bought the hop ranch from Ranzen, but the latter leased the bar for fishing purposes. Just above this bar and just below are some of the best fishing grounds along the river and all the fishermen have been landing their nets on the bar. Now comes John Ranzen with an injunction against S. S. Clyburn, a fisherman, prohibiting him from landing his nets on the bar in question. If a permanent injunction is secured it will prohibit all other fishermen from landing on the bar and will leave the fishing of that part of the river entirely in the hands of Ranzen--Grants Pass Observer.

GOOD CROP PROSPECTS IN KLAMATH COUNTY

Throughout the entire Klamath basin the prospects for average crops are very good. Dry land crops are looking quite well, but are not as far advanced as they usually are at this time of the year, says the Herald. In the vicinity of Merrill the alfalfa fields, which are under the ditch, give promise of at least an average field at the first cutting. The haying season will be a few weeks later this year than last year, and the cutting of alfalfa will begin in the course of a week or two. In some places in the lower part of the valley a few small patches have already been cut, but on all of the large ranches preparations are just being made to begin the hay harvest. Most of the large stockmen are of the opinion that there will be enough hay to supply the demand and that the price of stock cattle will keep up throughout the entire feeding season.

Methodist Episcopal Church, B Street. "Patriotic Day," that is what it will be next Sabbath at the above church. At 11 a. m. the subject will be "Visions, Spiritual and National." At night the topic will be "George Washington." Rev. Reuter will read one or two short articles from a duplicate copy of the "Elster County Gazette," published in January, 1899, shortly after Washington's death. This is perhaps the only copy of this paper in Jackson county. Mrs. Krause has trained the choir in special music for the occasion. The church will be decorated with national colors. Sabbath school 10 a. m. Epworth league 7 p. m. All are invited.

The newly married couple left yesterday for Seattle, where they will spend two months, and will be home at Saltese after September 1. Louis E.
