ADJOURNMENT FOLLOWS CLEVELAND RESOLUTIONS

Cleveland, late president of the United States, who was three times candidate of the democratic party, therefore be it resolved, that we, the delegates of the party in national convention assembled, recognize in him one of the strongest and ablest characters known to the world's statesmanship.

Resolved, That we hereby express our deep sorrow at his death and extend our warmest sympathy and condolence to his family, and that this resolution by spread upon the records of the convention and a copy be forwarded to Mrs. Cleveland; and

Resolved, As a further mark of respect to his memory, the convention do now adjourn until 12 o'clock, noon, tomorrow.

Snowballing in Denver.

While the real participants in the convention were slow in putting in an appearance, the visitors and curiosity seekers generally were in no way backward. Long before noon the streets in the vicinity of the Auditorium were thronged with men, women and children, who rejoiced in a snowball battle.

This compelled the police to put an end to the festivities, but many of the spectators carried large masses of ice into the building. Two great wagons loaded with snow had been brought in from the mountains and dumped in the vicinity.

Carolinian First Delegate.

The first delegate to enter the hall was a representative of South Carolina, and he sat in solitary grandeur for some time before he had a companion. As the delegates arrived they inquired anxiously for Theodore Bell, the temporary chairman.

It was 11:04 o'clock exactly when the Colorado band began to pour out the sweet strains of "America." As the music reverberated through the building the spectators in the galleries arose and cheered loudly, remaining standing until the tune had been completed. A feature of the band was a huge corps.

Alice and Her Big Hat.

Most prominent among the distinguished arrivals in the boxes were Congressman and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth. With them were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bell and Joseph Panning. Mrs. Longworth was distinguished by a "merry widow" hat trimmed with a little blue.

Owing to the fact that she occupied a seat where she did not obstruct the view of anybody, the officials graciously permitted her to retain her headgear. Among the other visitors toward whom the eyes of the 20,000 operators were turned were Mrs. Ruth Bryan Lewis, daughter of the man who will be nominated, to the man who will be nominated, to the man who will be nominated.

MUST LICENSE MOTOR CARS

Autos of the Valley Being Listed so as to Arrest Those Who Neglect Law

In statistics recently published Medford was credited with having 48 licensed automobiles. As a matter of fact, there are over 100 autos in this city and vicinity. There are therefore over 50 machines not paying a state license. In addition to this, there are said to be a number of false numbers tacked on machines, to simulate a license.

The secretary of state has authorized W. M. Hodgson, the auto man, to list the machines of the valley and their owners, and all who have not secured state licenses will soon find themselves in trouble.

Recorder Collins has authorized the chief of police to arrest drivers of machines not licensed. They are subject to a $50 fine and will be repeatedly arrested until the law is complied with and the machine licensed.

COMMUNICATION

GOLDFIELD, Nev., June 29.—To the Editor: Allow me, a subscriber, to congratulate you and the people of Medford for their good common sense in retaining an open town. It shows that there are enough good, live citizens there who have the welfare of their town and community at heart to be interested in her upbuilding and prosperity.

Should prohibition have won the day, prospective buyers of property and the best class of settlers would have passed the city up; therefore, a stagnation of business would have resulted. Now, however, the people of Medford can go ahead with confidence and work for the upbuilding and betterment of the entire community, and I am with you, as my interests are there. I am boosting for Medford. I can do so with a clear conscience, as she deserves it, and as soon as I get through with my affairs here I am going back and put my shoulder to the wheel and hoist for the best town in the best country I have seen, and they have been many.

Eagle Point vs. Butte Falls.

One of the most hotly contested games of baseball was that played between the Eagle Point nine and the Butte Falls nine July 4 at Butte Falls. The game began in a whirl, was rushed in all innings and after a hard fought battle resulted in a score of 9 to 8 in favor of Butte Falls. Some fine work was done both at the bat and in the field, and considering that the nine of Butte Falls were only organized within the week, or as part were amateurs, while Eagle Point nine has been considered a crack nine, the victory of Butte Falls was remarkable.

Messrs. Baker, Toffer, Stradford and others of Butte Falls' nine played exceedingly fine ball, while the boys of Eagle Point exerted themselves to snatch the laurels of the day, but Butte Falls boys have been dwelling amidst mountain fastnesses, drinking mountain nectar and breathing balmy air and enjoying the sweetest of slumber, rocked to sleep by the songs of waters dashing over rocks and rushing towards the ocean.

DREDGERS TO OPERATE IN JACKSON COUNTY A bond was given last week upon the S. H. Duffield property on Foots creek to a dredging company composed of eastern and London capitalists. These people, who have kept their names secret, for the present, have been actively at work for the past two weeks securing bonds upon different properties in this section, and if present indications count for anything, several big dredgers will be in operation in this section within a few months' time. The Duffield ranch has been prospected a number of times and is considered an ideal location for a dredge. The interests of this company are being looked after by W. O. Covert, who has spent a number of years in South Africa in their employ, and it is through his efforts that they are trying to secure interests in this section. Mr. Covert has nothing to give for publication yet, as he says that things are yet too uncertain to make a positive statement. Prospecting will probably commence on the Duffield property within a couple of weeks.—Gold Hill News.
