

JAPS PLANNING ROYAL WELCOME

Business Men From Coast Cities Will Be Heartily Greeted in Japan

TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 15.—The committee which will have charge of the welcome to be extended to the Pacific coast business men who will come here about October 10, today decided to arrange excursions by which the visitors will be conducted as far north as Nikko and as far west as Miyajima.

This will give the Americans an excellent opportunity to view all the more important features and will give them a clear insight into the life of Japan. Each chamber of commerce that joined in the invitation is working individually as well as in conjunction with the others.

The committee is arranging receptions at various cities along the line of the excursions and plans are being perfected to make the stay of the merchants most attractive and interesting in every way.

Reports received from various sub-committees shows that wide interest is being taken in the coming of the Americans, particularly as the visit of the American fleet has turned the attention of all Japan to America.

Will Sail September 25.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 15.—The delegation of Pacific coast merchants, who will visit Japan this fall, will sail September 25 on the Tenyo Maru, for Yokohama. They will represent Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Eureka, Los Angeles, San Diego and other cities. They will stay in Japan until early in November.

BUFFALO BILL WILL NOT PARADE THROUGH MEDFORD

One of the strangest sights that our streets have ever presented will be seen on the morning that Buffalo Bill's wild west appears in this city. The engine and cars which will be used in the production of the great train holdup will be taken through the streets from the railroad train to the exhibition grounds under the engine's own power. The train will be escorted by the original bandit busters, some of whom participated in the very train holdup at Wilcox, Wyo., upon which Buffalo Bill's present production is based. In planning for the great train holdup the management experienced great difficulty in providing for an engine, as it would be quite impossible to transport a real locomotive from town to town and use it in the exhibition. It is a peculiar fact in presenting a scene typical of the primitive west that the latest invention of modern civilization was called upon to solve a difficult problem. An electric derrick, used originally in transporting merchandise through the city streets, was called into requisition, as the basis for Buffalo Bill's mimic locomotive. The wheels of the truck, constructed to suit the purpose, form what are the driving wheels of the real locomotive. Upon this basis a superstructure was erected in imitation of a practical locomotive. The inventive ingenuity of the Yankee provided the engine with an appliance which emits black smoke with the loud puffing noise of a real engine. There is a whistle and bell, an electric headlight of great power, and the engineer seated in the cab operates the engine and all of its appliances after the same manner that the railroad engineer controls his iron horse. It can readily be imagined that this imitation locomotive, drawing its cars, escorted by a company of sheriffs, United States marshals and bandit hunters, assembled in the west, will present an unusual sight, surpassing as a novelty in street pageants anything ever provided by any exhibition in this or any other country. Add to this strange spectacle the sight of a band of Indians and the large contingent of horsemen with their accoutrements riding to the grounds, one can form a better idea of what may be expected in the performance given by Buffalo Bill than could be gained from a street parade, as it is ordinarily constituted. When the paraphernalia and horsemen arrive at the grounds the public will be able to witness an equally unusual sight in the erection of the Indian tepees, and the work of preparing the arena for the exhibition.

BUTTED TO DEATH BY ENRAGED BULL

QUINCY, Sept. 15.—At the Ganser ranch, west of town, Thursday night, while attending to his duties in connection with the farm, C. E. Schwartzmann was almost instantly killed by a vicious bull. The animal cornered the unfortunate man in the barn and butted him to death against a manger and the ground floor.

When the body was later found by Gansner, the yet mad bull was standing over it, ready for more fight. He would not be driven away until Gansner secured and applied a pitchfork. Coroner Bacher held an inquest late that evening, the jury determining the cause of death to have been as stated. Schwartzmann's spine had been broken in two places and his chest mashed almost flat, nearly every rib being fractured. The vicious animal had been dehorned, otherwise the victim's body would have been worse mutilated than it was.

SANTOS HELD TO ANSWER FOR SHOOTING MAN

KENNETT, Cal., Sept. 14.—Juan Santos' preliminary examination on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon was finally ended yesterday afternoon. Five different hitches were taken at the examination, which was commenced three weeks ago. Justice Hardy held Santos to the higher court in a bond of $1000, which he was not able to give.

Santos shot at one man and hit another—E. Franchette—who was only slightly wounded.

At the Bijou. The Bijou theater has billed a particularly strong performance for tonight. An extra reel of films will be run, making the performance longer than ever. All of the subjects are exceptionally good, making a very strong performance. "The Patriot" is a strong war story and pictures war scenes and the horrors of war in a most realistic manner. "The Story the Boots Told" is one of the most clever and extremely cute pictures ever billed at the Bijou. "A Trip to the Sudan" is another interesting foreign picture; it is highly educational as well. This class of picture should not be missed by anyone. In the course of entertainments at the Bijou pictures are shown on all countries of the world. Three comic subjects of a high order are also billed. They are all capable of producing a great deal of laughter.

THE WATER QUESTION.

To the Editor: Mr. Hafer and others seem to think that the selection of a water supply for the city should be left to the election of the people. I do not agree with them for these reasons:

Not one in a hundred know anything about it, except by hearsay. They have no knowledge otherwise of the peculiar conditions which surround the various sources of supply that is being offered by the partisans of each proposition. They only know by hearsay the quality of the water, the quality and the cost and accessibility of getting it from any particular source. I notice that our newspaper men, after seeing Wasson canyon, came to the conclusion that it is not a "hog wallow," or the drainage from cattle ranges. Hearsay had misled them, and actual observation put them wise. I am from Missouri. You will have to show me before I can vote intelligently.

I made a critical examination of the Wasson canyon supply some years ago, while it was involved in some litigation. It is good, soft, cold, pure water. I am a partisan in its favor, but what do I know about the other propositions? Nothing, from my own observation. I suppose Jeff Heard could tell me the fine points in the Sterling supply. Shorty Hamilton could tell me more about the Fish lake project. Mr. Vawter or B. H. Harris might draw rainbow pictures concerning the fountains of Big Butte. Dr. Ray could turn his artists loose and swing many votes for old Rogue river, etc., etc. Yet the election would be based on ignorance of the voters of the facts involved.

A committee of gentlemen who have looked into all the facts and circumstances of the various offers should make the selection. It is the only sensible way. I have lived in southern Oregon about 57 years. I know it pretty well, but I am not prepared to vote intelligently on the proposition without making a study of each scheme offered, unless I take someone's word for it. This I will not do. I will abide the decision of an intelligent committee, because they have examined these various sources of supply. If I have to vote on the selection, it will be Wasson canyon. I know it, and do not know the other offers except by hearsay. "You will have to show me." WM. M. COLVIG.

TO FIND WAY TO RECLAIM ARID DISTRICTS OF HAWAII

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 15.—Having as his object the bringing of irrigation to the dry sides of the Hawaiian islands and their ultimate settlement by homeseekers, who will live on small holdings, Frederick Hayes Newell, director of the United States reclamation service, left today on the army transport Crook for Honolulu. Newell was accompanied by C. J. Blanchard and Mrs. Newell. The party will remain in the Hawaiian islands for some time studying conditions and formulating a report to congress on the possibilities of reclamation schemes in the islands. The visit of Director Newell to the islands follows a visit made a short time ago by Secretary of the Interior Garfield. Garfield promised the residents of the islands that he would look into the possibilities of establishing reclamation areas on the dry sides of the islands and giving out the land in small parcels to homeseekers. The wet side of the islands is taken up by large sugar plantations, and there is practically no agriculture on the dry side.
