

PLANNING TO CONNECT THE CRATER LAKE ROAD WITH CALIFORNIA'S STATE HIGHWAY

(Portland Telegram.)
 Important to Oregon from the outset, the Crater Lake to Klamath Falls road enterprise now assumes the nature of an interstate project, the highway commission appointed by Governor Chamberlain ascertaining yesterday that connection of Oregon's proposed road with the state road of California, for which $2,000,000 has been appropriated, is feasible. Immediate steps will be taken to confer with authorities of the Golden state to the end that California and Oregon may collaborate and through their joint efforts perfect what may rightfully be termed a boulevard from Harriman's retreat at Pelican Bay to the city of millionaires, Pasadena, nine miles from Los Angeles.

"No greater enterprise has ever been hatched," said Judge George T. Baldwin yesterday, "and the possibilities are so vast it is impossible for Oregon to measure its worth."

While the connection of Oregon's proposed road with California's through-state highway is a feature of the deliberations of the highway commission, it is not as yet uppermost in the minds of the road enthusiasts. With them actual construction of Oregon's road is foremost; when it is complete its union with California's highway will be but a small task.

Canvass Is Begun.
 Today letters are being sent out by Will G. Steel, secretary of the highway commission, to all the county courts of Oregon, to all business men, automobilists and others to enlist their aid in carrying the road project to success, to attain which a large fund will be necessary. The highway commission figures $500,000 will suffice to make the Crater Lake-Klamath Falls road. Jackson county will be asked to contribute $50,000. Klamath county is scheduled to donate a similar sum, and in the next session of the legislature a bill will be introduced asking an appropriation of $100,000 for the project. Interstate subscription is relied on to provide a fitting sum, and congress will be asked for aid worthy of Uncle Sam's bounty in providing for national park highways.

To further perfect the highway commission's plan of action, a number of the members of that body will meet in Medford September 22 to confer with the county court of Klamath county and the council of Klamath. Then the aims of the commission will be set forth in detail, canvass plans will be discussed.

ed and ideas will be gathered from the good roads convention, which will convene at Medford the same date.

Harriman's Choice Tells.
 "The importance of this monster enterprise cannot be realized," said Judge Baldwin, "by people who have not seen the virgin country which the proposed road is to traverse. Harriman, with the whole United States to choose from, selected Pelican Bay as his retreat; that honor tells more than anything else the worth of the country. Travelers realize the value of the Klamath and Jackson country more than those who are in the midst of its fresh air and unparalleled water. Passing millionaires have over the view the country offers, and over the water, which no other place in the United States can excel.

While Klamath and Jackson counties will be particularly benefited by the proposed road, the project will be a national aid, and will do more to advertise this part of the world than any other improvement. California lauds its inland and seaside resorts in the highest terms, but tourists fresh from Golden state retreats go in raptures over Crater lake and Klamath falls. The road we propose will open up the country. It will induce capitalists to invest, and in time tourists will select Oregon's garden spot for their resting periods in preference to any other resort be it located north, south, east or west.

To Be 130 Miles Long.
 "The road, as planned, will be about 130 miles long, and will course up the Rogue river to Crater lake, down Crook canyon, through the Wood river section to Klamath Falls, passing along Pelican Bay ledge, made famous by Harriman. When Oregon's part of the great road building is complete, connection with California's state road will be of little moment. The Oregon road will probably meet the California highway at Montague. Aside from the possibility of connecting with California's road within the confines of Oregon, the road has brought forth great enthusiasm. As an example, Medford, though a small city, contains 100 automobile owners each of whom will not hesitate in subscribing from $25 to $50 to the road fund.

"The road will be team-proof, owing to the annual heavy snowfall. Team traffic for the greater part of the year will not hurt the highway, and the snow will protect it at a time when heavy travel would be harmful."

STRENUOUS POLITICAL DAY IN YREKA SATURDAY

YREKA, Cal., Sept. 18.—Tomorrow promises to be a very strenuous day in this little burg, politically speaking. At 10 o'clock in the morning the republican county convention will be called to order in Peters' theater. The prospects are that the gathering will be well attended, as most of the precincts throughout the county held primaries and elected delegates. The convention will not have a large amount of work, and will probably finish its business during the day.

In the afternoon the democratic primaries will be held, which will keep that party busy until late in the day. In the evening Hon. Theodore Bell is billed to speak on the political issues of the day. It is stated that Yreka is one of the few places at which he will speak in California, and it is the intention of the democracy to give him a grand send-off. Lots of red fire and plenty of music is promised on the occasion, and there will, no doubt, be a large crowd in attendance. After the whirlwind of political doings has passed, there will be a calm until the following Saturday, when the democratic convention will be held here.

Siskiyou county seems to be more than prominent in national politics this election as she was called upon to furnish a presidential elector on both national tickets. W. B. Shearer of Yreka is on the democratic ticket and Dr. G. W. Dwinell of Montague is on the republican.

LARGE ATTENDANCE IN CENTRAL POINT SCHOOLS

School opened Monday morning in the fine new school building with a total of 230 pupils in attendance. This shows a large increase of pupils since last year, the first day's enrollment being but 173, or 57 less than the present attendance. Everything indicates a successful term for the coming year, and every patron of the school and citizen of the district should lend his hearty co-operation to the teachers and school officers with a view to having the Central Point school second to none in the county or state.—Herald.

SISSON INSISTING ON HAVING LOCAL OPTION

SISSON, Cal., Sept. 18.—A petition which will be taken before the board of supervisors of Siskiyou county for a vote on the local option question is being circulated here. To date about 60 names have been added to it. Some doubt of what the outcome will be is felt, since the action taken by the board of Shasta county a few days ago, when it turned the proposition down. This is undoubtedly the beginning of a bitter fight which will be waged in Siskiyou county in the near future on the liquor question.
