

UNITED PRESS DISPATCHES By far the largest and best news report of any paper in Southern Oregon.

Medford Daily Tribune.

The Weather Fair weather is promised for tonight and Friday; northerly winds.

THIRD YEAR.

MEDFORD, OREGON, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1908.

No. 173.

CHICAGO DOWNS NEW YORK; SCORE 4-2

AUSTRIA IS TO FIGHT OR BACK DOWN

Turkey will not stand for further encroachments - Mob and soldiers clash in Belgrade

LONDON, Oct. 8.—A member of the Turkish embassy, whose name is not mentioned declared today that unless Austria retreats from its present position, Turkey will declare war, and asserted that the sultan will not wait long. He intimated that the Turkish government had displayed every desire to bring the difficulties to a peaceful settlement and had earned the support of the powers.

It is said here on good authority that Russia will issue a circular note to the powers this evening protesting against the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria along the lines of its known opposition to the positions of France and England. If this note is issued the situation will be more critical than ever before.

BELOGRADE, Servia, Oct. 8.—Several scores of persons were injured today in a clash between the police and a mob in attacking the foreign ministry. The mob formed in the streets, and, fired by the speeches of agitators who demanded vengeance for the "surrounding of the nation by cowards," made an attack on the police. The mob used stones and sticks, while the police used their sabres freely, cutting down all who came within range. In some instances the mob overpowered the police and took their sabres from them. The crowd was driven back from the ministry, however, after a hard fight.

A second call for reserves was issued today and they are on their way here to assist the 120,000 troops who answered the first call issued in the royal ukase of Tuesday.

TWO BILLION TRUST IS BEING FORMED IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The English railway companies are busy forming trusts and combinations with foreign capital. One of these trusts, which controls the whole traffic to the Midlands, North England and Scotland, has a joint capital of $2,300,000,000. The ostensible object of this trust is to abolish wasteful competition in the express service to the north, in order that dividends may be maintained.

All the rail and boat routes to Ireland, except the Great Western company's service, are controlled by this enormous combination.

There are evidences that the public is becoming alarmed at the possibilities of these formidable monopolies, and parliament has been urged to curb their privileges. It is proposed that the state buy the railways, and this evidence that practical politics may step in and protect the people has caused the companies to practice great economy in expenditures, so as to build their stocks in view of the possibility that the state may buy them out.

W. W. ASTOR WOULD SELL THE FALL WALL GAZETTE

LONDON, Oct. 8.—William Waldorf Astor is negotiating with the representative of a syndicate for the sale of his daily evening newspaper, the Fall Wall Gazette. Mr. Astor makes a condition of the sale that the syndicate shall change its policy—that is, shall become a liberal newspaper—within five years.

To sell the syndicate of the kind would seem to be a bad policy in view of the fact that among Waldorf's assets is the extensive coalfield of the Fall Wall area in Yorkshire. Dr. his father's name is completely assumed to get rid of the mine, which has caused a considerable loss.

OVERSEAS SUBJECT TO REVOTE OF THE STRIKE

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 8.—The meetings from Port Arthur to the coast are being held by the mechanics of the Canadian Pacific railway today looking to a renewal of the strike recently settled. The men indignantly declare that the strike was ended without their being given an option to vote on the question.

BEVERIDGE WILL ASSIST LAKE ROAD

Says Movement is Splendid - Speaks to Crowd in Medford and Ashland - Met by Keene

United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, a short, compactly built, light haired and blue-eyed man in the early forties, Wednesday afternoon opened the republican campaign in Medford in a five-minute speech from the rear end of the afternoon southbound train. A good sized crowd had gathered to hear the speaker, whose remarks met with a cordial reception. The senator was introduced by Secretary "Pat" McArthur and was welcomed in Medford by State Committeeman J. M. Keene, who presented Mr. Beveridge with a basket of choice fruit and cut flowers and accompanied him as far as Ashland. Dr. Keene outlined the Indiana senator the plans for a national highway to Crater lake and secured the latter's promise to support in the senate and work for a large government appropriation for the route.

Hot Praise for Oregon

Mr. Beveridge in his brief speech expressed his admiration for Oregon as the most beautiful land he had ever traveled in and stated that if he ever left Indiana it would be to come to the Rogue River valley and raise fruit. He asked if there was a democratic fruit grower present, and when someone admitted his politics, he asked him to state how Bryan's election would help him in his business. The fruit man stated that time was too limited to enter into a discussion, and Mr. Beveridge said that it was impossible for anyone to tell how Bryan's election would help the country. He stated that the democracy was under the control of reactionaries, while the republican party stood for Roosevelt's policies.

Democracy stands for free trade or tariff for revenue only.

"Democracy stands for free trade or tariff for revenue only," said Mr. Beveridge, "and this is an absolute policy, abandoned by all nations of the world, except such progressive countries as China, Spain and Turkey. England is the only great free trade nation and she is abandoning the policy as rapidly as possible."

"England was made great by the most extensive tariff ever devised, and when she had become the world's work shop she needed the world's raw materials and so operated her doors with free trade. Protection has made all the nations of Europe great."

Crowd at Ashland.

A large crowd gathered at Ashland, where Mr. Beveridge, at Ashland, and his spokesman upon the same lines as at Medford. The speaker was suffering from hoarseness and was obliged to write a cancellation of his Sacramento speech. "I am greatly interested in Crater lake," said Senator Beveridge on the train from Medford to Ashland. "I have heard much of it from Mr. Garfield and some day hope to see it for my self."

Talks on Crater Lake.

"I heartily approve plans under way to make a state and national highway, and you say you are on my side in the matter. In securing a large appropriation for the work in the forest reserves and parks, Secretary Garfield has outlined some of the improvements proposed in the park, the road about the rim of the crater among these, and I wish to my share in making this wonderful area a national park."

Met by Keene at Ashland.

Mr. Beveridge was met by Keene at Ashland, where he was accompanied to the train for Medford.

TALE IN LEFT LABOUR

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Yale University will receive from the estate of the late Dr. William Brewster of Orleans, Mass., the Brewster House, England, a beautiful old house which will have in its domain for legs and other free about 25000. The house is surrounded by a forest.

Library Board Meets.

The library board will meet at 8 o'clock at King's book store, Independent business. All members requested to be present.

MRS. H. C. TIDDARD

An invitation is extended to all members to visit the parlors of King's book store to hear the celebrated A. B. Chase virtuoso player piano.

HOT FIGHT ON TAP FOR HARRIMAN

Trans-Mississippi Congress Taking up Matter of More Cars on Harriman Lines - More Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 8.—The visiting delegates to the trans-Mississippi commercial congress were entertained with a trip around the San Francisco bay this morning, and the session of the organization will not resume until this afternoon.

The fight against the Harriman lines for more cars is on and better service on land and for better service on sea to the Pacific islands and the South American coast is crystallized in the committee on resolutions, and there is every prospect that a hot fight will develop when the committee considers the various resolutions that have been introduced late today. A ruling calling for the omission of all the "whereas" clauses in all the resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the resolutions committee and it is to harmonize the defenders of the Harriman policy with the opponents who are fighting all the Harriman interests in the congress.

Center of Fight.

The resolutions empowering the interstate commission to examine and determine in advance the reasonableness of railroad rates will be the center of the battle. The Provo of Texas, a millionaire cattle man, will lead the fight for these resolutions as for another he introduced calling for a law empowering the interstate commerce commission to distribute cars.

The trans-Mississippi will be the subject of an address this afternoon by George W. Dickie, a shipbuilder of San Francisco, and resolutions denouncing the recent ruling of the interstate commerce commission that regulates trans-Pacific traffic are expected.

The California delegation is in a favor today as the result of the election of ex-President Pardee as chairman of the resolutions committee. Pardee is expected to be a "live wire" when the railroad interests are under discussion.

REGGIE VANDERBILT SNUBS PITTSBURG HIGH SOCIETY

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 8.—Pittsburg society people are about ready to admit that a cold snub was given them by the Reggie C. Vanderbilts, who came here to attend the horse show of the Country club at Sewickley Heights. It is generally conceded that the Vanderbilts did not care to have anything to do with Pittsburg society.

The only social function that the Vanderbilts appeared at was a dinner given Friday night by Mrs. Hay Walker in honor of Mrs. Kip, one of the Vanderbilt party. The Walkers are among the leaders of the Sewickley Heights set and are very wealthy. The Walker fortune was founded in the soap business and the family still has a large soap works here.

POLICE SEARCHING FOR ASSAILANT OF FARMER

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 8.—While surgeons are preparing today for an operation in the hope of saving the life of Charles Kellogg, who was shot last night as he entered a quarrel over a sheep property, officers are searching for the person who fired the bullet that penetrated one of Kellogg's lungs. A general search is being made in the vicinity of Kellogg's farm.

One of Kellogg's farm hands, who was shot in the quarrel, was taken to the hospital. The shooting followed a quarrel over this incident. Kellogg tried to enter the house, when he was shot through the chest of the door and penetrated the farmer's lung.

Library Board Meets.

The library board will meet at 8 o'clock at King's book store, Independent business. All members requested to be present.

MRS. H. C. TIDDARD

An invitation is extended to all members to visit the parlors of King's book store to hear the celebrated A. B. Chase virtuoso player piano.

THOUSANDS OF EAGER FANS SEE FINAL BATTLE FOR SUPREMACY

BRYAN PLEDGES AID TO BUILD UP WATERWAY

Addresses the Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterways Convention

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—William J. Bryan was the center of interest today at the session of the Lake to the Gulf Deep Waterways convention. He entered with David R. Francis, former governor of Missouri, and was given an ovation by the delegates.

Bryan was introduced by Francis and made a brief address in which he expressed himself in sympathy with the work of the convention and pledged his support to the general plan of development of waterways. His remarks were loudly cheered and when he finished the delegates cheered him for several minutes.

After leaving the hall, Bryan spoke to the students at Northwestern university. He then made a hurried trip through the suburbs of the city and tomorrow will resume his journey.

In his address to the delegates Bryan made a comprehensive review of the problem of water transportation and predicted eventually the rivers will carry the bulk of freight. He promised his hearty cooperation in the work and asked the audience if the delegates thought that anything he might say could make his promise of support any stronger. In conclusion he said: "I am heartily in sympathy with the waterways movement. If you tell me what you want and I can arrange it in the future I will go beyond you. The government cannot guarantee the people too good facilities in the river navigable."

PASSENGER ASSOCIATION IS WRESTLING WITH RATES

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The executive committee of the Western Passenger Association is today wrestling with the problem of securing a uniform minimum rate on all western lines for all purposes, and it looks as though the effort to abolish cheap tickets will prove of doubtful success.

At the first meeting of the association yesterday the proposition to abolish old rates, exemption and silverback rates was voted down because the various representatives had received definite orders that these rates should be maintained.

It is probable today that reduced rates on all lines for special occasions will continue. The members of the association agreed on the proposal for a 2-cent minimum rate for all seasons. The original proposition called for the abolition of all reduced rates beginning January 1, 1909.

KLAMATH WATER USERS ASK HEAD OF OFFICIAL

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Oct. 8.—It became known here today that the Klamath Water Users' association has asked for the removal of Project Engineer William H. Murphy in a letter to the department of the interior. The proceedings against the government by the patrons of the city water system are not known, but it is alleged lack of confidence and lack of administrative ability are charged. The appointment of Engineer W. H. Sanders or Joseph Smith is asked. There has been considerable trouble relative to the water system.

KERMIT OUT FOR PLACE ON HARVARD FRESHMEN

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 8.—Among the fresh material of the Harvard football team is Kermit Roosevelt, son of the president, who is endeavoring to get on the regular team. Young Roosevelt, while slightly lacking in weight, plays a snappy game and the coaches are carefully watching his work.

The lad wants to emulate the example of his father and the showing he has made in practice is said to warrant his hope to make either of the tackle positions on the freshmen eleven.

CASE ARGUED IN COURT FOR TWO HOURS

Attorneys who Assisted Smith in the Liquor Case Reached Medford Today

A decision on the Medford charter case, saying whether or not Medford remains wet, argued in the supreme court at Salem Wednesday is expected within two weeks by Wallace McCannan, the Portland attorney who presented the case in behalf of the respondent. Judge Colvig represented the appellant.

The case was heard by the court on June, both commissioners and the three supreme court judges being present," states Mr. McCannan, who spent Thursday in Medford. "Beliefs were filed by Mr. Colvig, representing the prohibitionists, and both Mr. Smith and myself for the respondent. The arguments lasted about two hours, and I think the case will be decided at once, say within two weeks."

Judge Colvig attacked the injunction as an improper remedy in this case, and also brought out other points in support of contentions made in the lower court. I devoted a good deal of time to the Eugene case, showing how the case differed from that of Medford, though a superficial comparison showed a resemblance, and that the decision in the Eugene case was in reality in favor of our contention, that the Medford charter was really amended and not rescinded under old provisions.

"I have not been in Medford for five years, and frankly state I would not know either town or country, there have been so many changes and improvements. It looks to me as if Medford was to become another San Jose."

SOLD WIFE AND FURNITURE TO A STRANGER FOR $15

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 8.—A police officer is being made by Michael Housen, who is accused by his wife of selling her to a boarder, with the furniture of their little home in East Eighty-third street, for $15.

The wife, the mother of four small children, told the police Housen disappeared after he had called her into the sitting room two weeks ago and, after counting over the furniture and striking it in a pile, accepted three $5 bills from a boarder and said to his wife: "Now you're his."

The woman's story was told to the police through an interpreter. "There was the washbasin and the table and two chairs and the bed—and a small for $15," she said.

JAPAN IS PREPARING WELCOME FOR THE FLEET

TOKYO, Oct. 8.—As the American battleship fleet nears the shores, Japan is preparing her official and civil plans for a welcome that will surpass any since the Russo-Japanese war. Officially American warships will be welcomed several hundred miles off the coast by the imperial fleet of 29 ships designated as the "welcome armada." These vessels are now at Yokohama awaiting the word to weigh anchor. The citizens' welcome committee has received word from the naval officials that there will be a special series of posting stamps issued during the visit of the fleet.

CIGAR SPARED BIAS WHEN BILLED WAS

GERALDIN, Or., Oct. 8.—News of the death of Amelia Cigarettes, who was burned in a postoffice annex while she was turning home with groceries, was received here today.

Cigarettes was riding in his buggy when a cigar was thrown to one side and landed in the buggy bed and started a blaze, which soon consumed a bag of mail and exploded it. The burning of Cigarettes, and when the blazing buggy was discovered the man had been badly burned. He died yesterday after 12 hours of agony.

CHICAGO CUBS WILL NOW PLAY DETROIT TIGERS FOR WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP

Fans Lined up at Daybreak and Stood in Line for Hours - Police were out in Great Squads to Keep Order - Greatest Battle of the Age

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The final race in today's game was, Chicago 4, New York 2.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Probably 2,000,000 Gotham fans, eager to cheer the Giants to victory, will endeavor to crowd themselves into the polo grounds enclosure in a space that holds about 25,000 persons, to witness the greatest struggle in the history of organized baseball at the polo grounds today.

After two weeks of suspense, culminating in a harrowing three-game series in which the slightest accident might have deprived McGraw's Giants of a fighting chance for the pennant, the crisis has arrived.

What Today's Game Means. The Chicago Cubs are refreshed after three days' rest. Today's contest decides whether New York or Chicago shall unfurl the 1908 National pennant and gain the honor of meeting Jennings' Detroit Tigers in a five-game struggle for the championship of the world.

The battle is not alone between New York and Chicago. It is a test of brains, ability and determination between John J. McGraw, the aggressive New York leader, and Frank Chance, his wily Chicago opponent. Both men are generals of the game. Each has captured two National league pennants in the last four seasons. The game today not only decides the supremacy of the teams, but gives a decided prestige to the man who attains the old pennant.

Fans Lined Up at Daybreak. At the gates of the polo grounds lines of fans were formed since daybreak, carrying breakfasts and lunches. The mounted and Metropolitan police were busy from early dawn holding the lines in place, quelling minor fights for places on the line and keeping the streets clear. Back on Deadend Hill lay a carpet of humanity, while along the Washington viaduct stretched a row of tiny specks patiently waiting to get a bird's-eye view of the game.

New York is not the only city where the returns will be eagerly watched. Chicago has forgotten presidential campaigns, Turkey-Hungarian imbroglios, Cretan rebellions and even the stock market to watch the tickers and the bulletin boards. Detroit is just as anxious to learn who will be her opponent in the post-season series when play begins next Saturday.

McGraw and his men are confident, but their suppressed manner indicates that they realize there will be a contest.

The Lineup. Chicago—Sheppard, left field; Evers, second base; Schulte, right field; Chance, first base; Steinfield, third base; Hoffman, center field; Tinker, shortstop; Kling, catcher; Pfeister, pitcher.

New York—Tenney, first base; Herzog, second base; Bresnahan, catcher; Devlin, third base; Dealla, left field; Seymour, center field; Bridwell, catcher; Mathewson, pitcher.

At 10 o'clock 25,000 persons were with the enclosure and a great mob of cheering fans were clamoring at the gates. Thousands are armed with noise creators and the din is terrific. The red going started at 1:20 o'clock and soon more fans streamed into the place as the match started. The police are clearing the field to permit play. Captain Chance is greeted with hisses by the crowd.

First Inning. Sheppard opened the game by vainly reaching for three hot ones that Mathewson steamed over. Evers slammed a grass cutter to Herzog, who caught the runner by a pretty throw to Tenney. Schulte simulated Sheppard and fanned. No runs.

Tenney set the crowd wild with a safe smash. Herzog walked. Bresnahan struck out and Kling shot the ball to Chance, catching Herzog sleeping. Donlin doubled to left and Tenney crossed the plate. Pfeister was unsteady and Seymour walked. Chance retired Pfeister to the bench and Mordecai Brown succeeds him. Donlin fanned. One run.

Score: Chicago 0, New York 1. Chance slammed a safe one to the outfield, but was caught napping a moment later by Mathewson. Chance argued with the umpire over the decision without avail, and Mathewson "kidded" him from the box. Hoffman objected so strenuously to the decision that he was chased to the bench. Howard replaced Hoffman. Kling took the coaching line, but was chased away by the umpire. Steinfield fanned, so did Howard. No runs.

McCormick, who succeeded Bresnahan in the Giants' batting order, opened the last half of the second by flying to Schulte. Bridwell also flew to Schulte and Mathewson was thrown out on an infield hit. Tinker to Chance. No runs. Score: Chicago 0, New York 1. Third Inning. Tinker inaugurated a batting by swatting a three-bagger. Kling's drive to center scored Tinker. Kling was sacrificed to second when Tenney put out Brown unassisted. Sheppard flew to Seymour. Evers was permitted to walk and Schulte came through with a double, scoring Kling. Chance repeated the trick and Evers and Schulte scored. Steinfield fanned. Four runs. Tenney singled. Herzog fouled to Kling. Bresnahan singled and Donlin forced Bresnahan at second, Tinker getting the put-out. Seymour flew to Sheppard. No runs. Score: Chicago 4, New York 1. Fourth Inning. Howard went out, Herzog to Tenney. Tinker slammed out to Mathewson and died at first. Tenney making the put-out. Kling flew to McCormick. No runs. Devlin hit to Steinfield and was out at first via Chance. McCormick flew to Howard. Bridwell went out, Evers to Chance. No runs. Score: Chicago 4, New York 1. Fifth Inning. Brown was out. Bridwell to Tenney, after the Giants' shortstop had made a sensational stop which set the crowd wild. Beckford flew to Seymour. Evers ended the inning. Mathewson to Tenney. No runs. Mathewson went out, Steinfield to Chance. Tenney was out, Evers to Chance, and Herzog was put out by Chance unassisted. No runs. Score: Chicago 4, New York 1. Sixth Inning. Schulte fouled to Devlin. Chance singled. Bridwell was caught stealing second. Bresnahan to Herzog. Steinfield singled through Bridwell, but Howard fanned. No runs. Bresnahan out, Tinker to Chance. Donlin flew to Sheppard and Seymour flew to Schulte. No runs. Score: Chicago 4, New York 1. Seventh Inning. Pfeister flew to McCormick. Kling struck out and Brown went out. Mathewson to Tenney. No runs. Devlin singled and McCormick followed. Bridwell walked, filling the bases. Doyle went in to bat for Mathewson and the crowd went wild at the sight of him. He failed to make good their expectations and popped out to Kling. Tenney next up and flew to Schulte. Devlin scoring on the throw in. Herzog with two strikes fouled off the good ones twice. At length he hit a light one to Tinker, who threw him out to Chance, losing a great opportunity for New York to tie. One run. Score: Chicago 4, New York 2.