

WOMAN CUTS STONE; AGE 70

Mrs. Russell of Ashland, Though Very Old Continues to Engrave

A recent issue of the Monumental News, a trade journal of Chicago, contains the following article regarding Mrs. Russell of Ashland:

Mrs. Ann Hazeltine Hill Russell of Ashland, Or., is one of the pioneer women of southern Oregon, and also enjoys the distinction of being a skillful, practical marble cutter and carver. She owns a marble shop in Ashland and does all kinds of stone work, making a specialty of carved monumental work.

Mrs. Russell is a widow. Her late husband, who died some years ago, was a native of Pennsylvania, and learned his trade at Pittsburg. Early in the pioneer days of the Pacific coast Mr. Russell came to Oregon, and, some years later, took up his old trade at Ashland. He worked exclusively in Oregon marble.

Mrs. Russell is a native of Sweetwater, Penn., and came with her parents to southern Oregon when she was 14. She was married to Mr. Russell when she was 16, and is now 70.

Mrs. Russell learned her trade from her husband and in lettering and carving she finally surpassed her teachers. She has conducted the business since her husband's death, and does all the lettering, carving, designing and attends personally to setting up monuments. She declares: "I aim to please all my customers, to glorify God, and to hold the temperance banner high." Mrs. Russell writes:

"We came to Ashland in 1865. Mr. Russell built a marble mill here run by water power, and supplied the trade—and had all the trade of four counties in southern Oregon. We worked exclusively in Oregon marble—white crystal marble from a quarry about 60 miles northwest of Ashland. About 1875 the railroad was built. After that, Vermont marble almost entirely supplanted Oregon marble in our shop. I delight to carve in Vermont marble, as it is so much softer than the Oregon stone; the latter is almost as hard to work as granite. Mr. Russell and I worked together until two years before his death. I bore the entire burden of business—caring for my children and an invalid husband—for those two long years.

"My husband died in 1895, and ever since then I have been alone in the shop. I never trust monuments to be set up without my personal oversight. All the men, draymen, etc., are my warm personal friends, and take my 'bossing' very kindly. I do all kinds of ornamental work—designs, scrolls, and lettering. I can cut any type that I have ever seen—even Hebrew, Greek and Latin, which I do not understand. Old English text is my favorite."

DEMOCRATS TO HAVE PAPER IN WINDY CITY

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Indefinite plans were announced today for the establishment of a democratic morning newspaper in this city.

According to the assertions of prominent democrats, five capitalists have been found who have agreed to stand an annual loss of $25,000 each for two years. This would give the paper ten years' time in which to become firmly established.

The need of a democratic daily is admitted here by democrats. The chief objection at the present time is that the unsettled condition of the party has caused several of the men who are prospecting the paper to desire its control.

Democratic leaders, however, predict that this obstacle will be overcome and that in the near future there will be a morning penny paper of democratic doctrine in the Windy City.

FAMOUS ACTRESS DIES IN ENGLAND

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The many friends of Lydia Thompson learned today of the sudden death of the famous actress yesterday in her home in Westminster, England. The knowledge of her demise came in a short cable message to her friend, Zeffie Tilbury.

Lydia Thompson first came to America in 1868 and created an instant and lasting sensation. She brought with her a chorus of beautiful English girls who with their leader became the talk of New York.

For more than 20 years the actress held sway and she became best known as the greatest burlesquer of her time. Her years of work were crowned with success and she possessed a large fortune at the time of her death.

LINEMEN ARE RUN OVER BY THEIR OWN CAR

SISSON, Cal., Nov. 17.—Barstow Stein, a groundman, and Charles Kollig, a lineman, employed by the Western Union Telegraph company, were run over by a handcar running at the rate of 20 miles an hour at 5:40 p. m. Saturday. The two young men were riding on the handcar when an inexperienced man on board passed a stick into the wheel in such a way as to throw the car off the track, throwing these men in front of it, afterward passing over them. They are both severely injured, but neither will die unless they are internally injured. The accident occurred three miles south of Sisson. No bones were broken.

SPRAY YOUR ORCHARDS NOW

For Sana Jose Scale, and Use Sampson's Concentrated Lime and Sulphur Solution.

Scale lives and works all the year round. Don't forget this. As the old scale dies the new is ready to carry on the destruction of our orchards.

The scale is less vigorous in the fall, and more easily and surely destroyed than in any other season of the year.

Therefore now is the best time to attack and kill it. If you spray now, many a valuable tree will be saved that otherwise, because of the scale, would not retain life enough to start up in the spring.

You have more time now; there is less wind to scatter and waste the spray, and make it hard to cover every part. Then, too, you cannot tell what may happen to prevent thorough spraying in the fall.

But, above all, the result of fall spraying are absolutely certain.

Sulphur Solution.

These are all "spray facts."

We claim no wonderful chemical discovery in this spray, but we do claim most emphatically that:

Sampson's lime and sulphur solution always produces satisfactory results, and does no injury. There is no better spray manufactured than Sampson's lime and sulphur solution.

Sampson's lime and sulphur solution is a clear, cherry-colored solution free from sediment. It is guaranteed to test 30 degrees Baume. If your dealers cannot supply you, write to us.

Be sure you use Sampson's spriny. Manufactured by

By means of this system tickets may be purchased at Medford from any place in the United States and mailed or telegraphed direct to the party wishing to come here. Sleeper accommodations and small amounts of cash in connection with these tickets may also be forwarded at the same time."

GOVERNORS TO MEET AGAIN

Second Conference in Washington on December 1—Full Meeting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The much talked of inventory of the nation's resources is now practically completed. To consider the material it has brought together the national conservation commission has just announced its first full meeting for Tuesday, December 1, in Washington. At that meeting the first steps will be taken toward putting into tangible shape the results of the six months' hard work on taking stock of the country's waters, forests, lands and minerals.

One week later, after the commission has gone over the inventory, it will hold a joint meeting in Washington with the governors of the states and territories, or their representatives. At this meeting the inventory will be further discussed and the report which the president has requested the commission to make to him by January 1 will be formulated.

Much Data Gathered.

With less than six months in which to make the inventory, the four branches into which the commission is divided, aided by the co-operation of the government departments, have brought together what is probably the most useful collection of facts about the material things on which national industry and progress are based that has ever been presented at one time. Reports presenting those facts and pointing out their significance have been prepared. These reports, summarized and indexed, will be submitted to the commission at its coming meeting.

All through the summer general interest in the work and object of the conservation commission has been growing. The public is now well posted on a subject of which only a few specialists had knowledge at the time of the conference of governors and experts at the White House in May.

Governors Helped Work.

The governors carried the spirit of the conference home with them to their own people, and have kept things moving ever since by appointing state commissions to study local problems, by writing and speaking upon the subject of conservation, and by keeping in close and helpful touch with the national commission. They are ready to take part in the approaching joint meeting. The bare announcement that it had been set for December 8 resulted in a number of acceptances before the formal invitation of the commission had even got into the mails.

When the conservation movement was started, specific information about the actual state of our resources was partly wanting, partly inaccessible. Certain facts were broadly known. It was at least unquestionable that our resources had been wastefully used, and that some of them, notably the mines, were sure in time to be completely exhausted, while others, for example the forests, could still be kept perpetually useful by right management. The first work was to get the facts, to show exactly what the situation was and how it could be improved by measures that would work. Without an inventory of the resources which should show the present condition of the resources and the way to develop them to the best advantage, conservation was in danger of staying up in the air.

Facts Are All There.

But the work is now practically done. The facts are there, in dollars and cents, tons of coal, board feet of timber, acre feet and horse-power of water, acres of land. And the possible reform measures have been weighed. The final report to the president will be the necessary supplement to the addresses at the White House conference. The notes of these addresses was a note of warning. The report is expected to show that the warning must be heeded if the exhaustion of natural resources is not, one day, to imperish the nation, and it will also undoubtedly bring out how the country's resources can be developed so as to last the longest possible time and serve the greatest good of the people.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Medford Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL No. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL No. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Medford proof:

Mrs. J. H. Boussem, living corner of Twelfth and C streets, Medford, Or., says: "I suffered so severely from kidney trouble that I was unable to do my housework. My kidneys were very irregular and caused me much annoy-ance. My back pained me severely when stopping or lifting and sharp twinges were often present in my loins. I ran down in health and at times felt very miserable. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I procured a box at Haskins' drug store. They helped me from the first, so I continued taking them and was entirely cured. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to other sufferers."

GREENVIEW SALOON MAN IS IN TROUBLE

YREKA, Cal., Nov. 18.—The board of supervisors has cited Henry P. Clark, a saloonkeeper, of Greenview, to appear Thursday to show cause why his liquor license should not be revoked and a recovery had on his bond.

The complaint is sworn to by the license collector and alleges that Clark has permitted unlawful games of chance for money, such as hokey-pockey, to be played in his saloon on divers occasions. Clark has conducted the Greenview saloon for some time past. Quite a number of witnesses have been subpoenaed in the matter and the hearing will take up the most of the day, if not longer.
