HO! FOR THE SEATTLE FAIR!

Seven trips to the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition will be awarded in the great circulation contest inaugurated by The Tribune.

Six young ladies in different sections of Southern Oregon will have their expenses paid for the excursion to the fair, and the one who leads in the contest will have the privilege of naming a chaperon.

This is the only chance young ladies will have to see Seattle, the Puget sound country, Victoria and other resorts, spend a week studying the exposition and enjoying themselves without its costing a cent.

Who are the six most popular girls? Name them and secure the rewards offered.

JUSTICE BEAN FOR FEDERAL BENCH.

Chief Justice R. S. Bean of the Oregon supreme bench will probably be the new federal judge for Oregon, since Senator Fulton has withdrawn from the race. If he is, the people of Oregon are to be congratulated, for no better qualified man for the position could be found.

Justice Bean has all the requisites for the position. He is serving his fourth term of six years each, is noted for his impartiality and fairness and his appointment will give universal satisfaction.

College and School.

Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago, says that the university has received more than 200 beginning gifts amounting to $20,000.

Mrs. Rose C. Johnson of Toke has been appointed visitor of the Maine state schools. She succeeds Mrs. Clarke Barker, daughter of ex-Governor Frederick Bailey, who held the office for more than ten years.

William J. Proby, principal of the high school at Medford, Ore., has requested the parents of girls who will be graduated this year not to spend more than 50 cents a yard on the material for graduation gowns.

Law Points.

A street is held in Ruffalo versus Delaware L. and W. R. Co., 100 S. Y. 84, 82 N. E. 512; 14 L. R. A. (N. S.) 500, not to be destroyed by the owners of a shaft therein by the electric power.

An adjudication of bankruptcy is held in Mills versus Fisher, 117 A. 150 Fed. 807; 10 L. R. A. (N. S.) 100, not to be reversed in the preference of a firm creditor by a partner out of his own property although his credit is the sole asset of the partnership.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Mrs. Rebecca Winstead, eighty-one years old, of Patterson, Pa., has attended 1007 funerals.

Miss Minnie Douglas Mitchell, a well known society girl of New Jersey, has decided to devote her life to nursing and caring for the poor.

Mrs. Mary Goodale of Oakland, Mass., who has just celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of her birthday, has secured a great hat in her honor.

Thus far Miss Minnie J. Reynolds of New York has the distinction of having secured more signatures for the national woman's suffrage petition in one evening than any other person in the country.

Mrs. H. L. Tibbets has been appointed chairman of the board of charities in Lowell, Mass. She is a woman of means and social position and has for several years devoted much of her time and her wealth to charity work.

Mrs. Nancy C. Bush, postmaster at Charlottesville, Va., recently celebrated the eightieth anniversary of her birthday. She has been in the postal service for thirty-eight years, beginning as a telegraph operator and assistant postmaster.

Mrs. William H. Taft, wife of President Taft, has been elected to membership in the Connecticut Society of Colonial Dames of America. Mrs. Taft is a descendant of Thomas Welles, who was governor of Connecticut from 1626 to 1658.

Pen and Brush.

George Bernard Shaw is the son of a baker and earned his living as a lawyer's clerk while attending the university.

Joel Leavelle, the Dutch artist, celebrated his sixtieth birthday at the Hague on Jan. 27 last, but he is still just as full of life and just as active in his work as he has ever been.

John C. Ross, an American artist, has returned to Rome to study the art of fresco painting. The National academy of Washington, Queen Margherita has appointed Ross as its director.

M. J. J. J. J., who is French author, editor at Washington, had found one day to bring his literary history of the United States down to modern times (1776-1908) a dissertation is now, however, so long that he has had to abandon the idea of carrying the work for the time to Shakespeare's death.

English Etchings.

England was first etched by Nicolo Piombino in 1625.

In 1700 the efforts of the Dutch National academy were frustrated by a series of floods and a total loss of the etching plates.

The Marine Hotel at Worthing is being built for the new development of the sea-bathing and its water board, after the model of the modern hotels, and a new garage, "Marine" will be built.

London from starvation was the "city" of a Shakespeare's model in a woman's match which lasted from April sixty-four. Her husband could be seen walking one, and they had only a month's work to live on.

Whitney on the "Harvard" is a 200-ton British patrol has sent a check for $20,000 to Lord Kibber to assist in equipping and rebuilding the 11,000 tonners needed to complete the London group of the territorial army.

Sporting Notes.

Kentucky is the only state left open to business for spring racing.

The Edgemoor Turf club of two-out will fund three railroads to connect in the races for the Turf club of Toledo.

Harry Payne Whitney has shipped a dozen polo ponies to England to be used by him and his friends in their contests abroad this season.

The "Tiger," the rowing launch used by the University of Washington in Seattle, for the last two years, has been purchased by the associated students of the college for coaching purposes.

BROTHER OF EDITOR PATTISON IS KILLED

Caught in Gasoline Engine at Candon and Dies Horrible Death—Had Charge of Waterworks.

S. L. Pattison, editor of the Central Point Herald, left Tuesday for Candon, where his brother, R. H. Pattison, engineer at the Candon pumping plant, was caught in the machinery of a gasoline engine and instantly killed about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Pattison had been in the employ of the city for several years, having charge of the pumping plant several miles from town, but at the time of the accident was working with an engine at one of the wells in town.

Pattison was a native of Pennsylvania, about 26 years old, and unmarried. The only relative he is known to have in the west is his brother, who is well known in Medford as the publisher of the Central Point Herald and president of the Commercial club in that place.

Endeavor Rally Day.

Sunday, April 18, will be Endeavor rally day at the Yakamole. The Endeavorers will have charge of the evening service. A splendid program will be rendered, consisting of solos, duets, quartets, choruses, mark, recitations and some short but earnest addresses by representative Endeavorers and others. This will be an evening of great helpfulness to everyone who attends. Plan to attend this service. You are wanted at the "benevolent church."

Bulletin Methodist Church, B Street.

Methodist Brotherhood meets tonight at 8 p. m. Prayer meeting on Thursday night, topic, "First Lesson in Christ's Life." Choir practice on Friday evening.

Methodist Episcopal Church, B St.

A large congregation gathered last Sabbath morning at the above church to hear the pastor's Easter sermon on "Thomas and the Risen Christ." While Thomas is generally called the doubter, he belonged to the honest class of doubters. He was an honest seeker after truth, and when presented in a convincing manner embraced it gladly. The Christians' faith is not a blind faith. Christ challenges investigation. "Handle me and see," says the Galilean Carpenter. When a man touches Christ in a scriptural manner a conviction that Christ is risen seizes him, and he can say with Thomas, "My Lord and my God." Jesus said to Thomas, "Blessed are they who have not seen and yet believed." If a man's salvation depended on his seeing Christ, a blind man could not be saved; and thus thousands through no fault of their own, could be shut out of heaven. God has put salvation within the reach of everyone, therefore the Bible does not say, "Whosoever see, but whosoever believeth, shall be saved."

EXPENSIVE HUNTING.

The Cost of Ex-President Roosevelt's Trip Into Africa.

Before Theodore Roosevelt may lift his gun to slay when he lands on the African continent he must obtain a license at a cost of $250, which will enable him to kill sixty animals. Among these he may include two elephants (male only), two rhinoceroses, two hippopotamuses, two lions, two leopards, two mountain gorillas, two cheetahs, two male ostriches, two each of the large species of ostriches and quail and one each of the smaller species, ten of each species of wild pig and ten of the smaller cats and parrots.

The expense of the trip will be very great, but should the Roosevelt expedition be successful every form of it will be the triumph of his team. The expedition was so fortunate as to secure a white rhinoceros may dispose of it for a small fortune. Half or half grown animals delivered alive at the Florida railway will bring a varying price of from $100 to $200.

Mr. Roosevelt will not be restricted in the matter of lion, leopard and rhinoceros by any limit, but the wild life, the ostrich, ibex, cheetah and dog are to be law made out from him.

The president will be equipped with the most up-to-date armaments of America. The rifle, shotgun and pistol which he will take with him would be sufficient to equip a small army. A rifle among his weapons will be the .375 caliber automatic the .450, which is capable of stopping anything from a tiger to an elephant. It carries five cartridges in the magazine, which go in on a clip and when fired the rifle automatically loads and cocks itself. When the bullet strikes an animal it maddens and cripples every limb it may hit. A soft nose bullet would be discharged from such a rifle with sufficient force to penetrate ten inches of solid oak or five-sixteenths of an inch of steel armor plate and would go through ordinary cast steel as easily as through a soft pine board.

In his complement of weapons will also be a number of 303 caliber rifles and in all probability an English express rifle of 500 caliber. The overland journey after Mr. Roosevelt arrives in Africa will cost him about $15,000, his retinue of servants consisting of 100 porters and gun bearers. There will also be five white men in the party, including the president's son Kermit.

Mr. Roosevelt will be a guest of the king of Uganda, when he reaches this region in Africa, and the town band at Entebbe will serenade him with their brasses and violin band players and other native instruments. Van Norden's Magazine.

Modest Marconi.

It is a somewhat curious fact perhaps that as a boy Mr. Marconi became of whose system of wireless telegraphy has been so strikingly demonstrated by the saving of the passengers of the ill-fated Republic, showed little signs of cleverness. One of his teachers in fact once said of him that he would never have anything to learn. Nevertheless he was only twelve years when he began to study the world with his demonstrations of wireless telegraphy. In spite of his few Marconi is one of the most unassuming of men and his demonstrations. He was once recognized while walking in Rome. Immediately a cheering crowd assembled. Marconi looked into what he thought was an empty carriage. But it contained a lady, who was too frightened to expostulate. The inventor quickly made his apologies and the lady allowed him to remain until they were free of the crowd. London Times.

A Tree Fountain.

In Perryville, Ind., there is an oak tree from which flows a solid stream of water through a 208 pipe. During the Cleveland and Harrison campaign in 1888 it was noticed that puddles of water collected at the base of the tree and that the bark was wet for several feet up the sides. The owner of the tree agreed to have the tree tapped if Harrison was elected. The agreement was carried out, and not once since has the water ceased flowing. It is thought by geologists that there is an underground stream with an opening at the roots of the tree.

Business Courtesy.

In a Canadian town recently a dry goods firm was burned out in the morning. In the afternoon a competing firm inserted the following advertisement in a local paper: "We desire to extend our sympathy to our respected competitors in their loss by fire and to express the hope that their affairs may soon be so adjusted as to enable them to continue business without undue loss of time."

"There is no doubt that women always get what they want."
"And of course that explains why they don't get the ballot."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ASHLAND OFFICER LEAVES TO BRING BACK SUSPECTED MAN

ASHLAND, Or., April 14.—(Special.)—Police Officer George Irwin left yesterday morning for Portland to bring back the fellow arrested there Monday on suspicion while trying to dispose of a number of revolvers. Chief Nejdig gave the Portland authorities a description of the guns stolen Sunday morning from the Elkhorn store, which tallied with the guns offered for sale. Upon being confronted by the evidence, the fellow "squealed." He gave his name as James Wilson and admitted breaking the window in Ashland to get at the revolvers, and also admitted that he had committed a similar robbery in San Jose.

George Orr has begun the erection of a new house on the rear of the large lot at the corner of Main street and Bush.

Mrs. M. C. Shotwell, a niece of Mrs. P. Ritter, arrived yesterday from Atlanta, Ga., and will spend the summer in Ashland.

"Flash" sells at 15c per box elsewhere.

Mrs. H. P. Holmes left yesterday for a visit with relatives in Kanis.

The "Flash" man is coming. He has a lot of boxes, beveled edges to prevent cutting the fingers.

JUNCTION CITY MAYOR WILL FIGHT FOR OFFICE

EUGENE, Or., April 14.—C. P. Houston will ask for an injunction tomorrow morning restraining E. A. Saylor from taking possession of the mayoralty of Junction City. It is supposed that the case will ultimately be fought out on the constitutionality of the recall. Houston base his claim to the office on the ground that he still is in possession of the office and that Saturday's election was illegal inasmuch as it failed to state the reason in the complaint.
