ROGUE RIVER SQUAW DEAD AT OREGON CITY

A dispatch from Oregon City of April 23 tells this story: Martha, a well known Indian woman, was buried here this afternoon. She died at midnight Wednesday in the Indian settlement south of town. She was the wife of Joseph Andrews, commonly called "Soosap," and was nearly 70 years of age, having been born in Jacksonville, Or. Martha was a member of the Rogue River tribe. She was married to Andrews about 35 years ago. Five years ago she was made totally blind by an attack of Bob Gardiner, a degenerate character, who was sentenced to 20 years in the state penitentiary, and who is now in the insane asylum.

RAILROAD TO KLAMATH COMPLETE BY MAY 15

FALLS, Ore., April 28.—The construction of the Klamath Falls chamber of commerce has received assurance that the railroad will be in operation by May 15. The Southern Railway has offered to cooperate with the city in the big celebration held at the completion of the line to this city and the surrounding territory, and the announcement is made in order to allow the city to which to prepare for the celebration.

In the case of Chief Engineer Deake of the Southern Railway, with a party of officials, in charge of the superintendent of this division, has visited the city twice recently and made an examination of the depot grounds and the work. A special car was run for as far as the lower lake and the car came from there to this city upon the steamer. Chief Constructing Engineer H. P. LIVESTOCK SHOW AT SEATTLE FAIR Enough Entries Received to Insure Success—Official Catalogue Ready in May.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 28.—Enough entries have been promised to insure the complete success of the livestock show of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, and the affair will be the most important gathering of prize animals ever held in the west. The event will be held on the exposition grounds from September 27 to October 8, inclusive.

A widespread interest has been created among breeders and dealers throughout the entire United States and Canada, and several foreign associations are negotiating with the intention of sending a number of prize winners across the ocean. The Canadian government has appropriated the sum of $1500 for transportation expenses, and this will be utilized by the cattle breeders' association of Manitoba in sending several carloads of stock to Seattle. The value of live stock exhibits on the Pacific coast has been thoroughly demonstrated by the success following the live stock show in Portland in 1905, and since that time the western sales of two stock associations in the east have totaled over $1,000,000.

The west and northwest are today considered as the most promising fields for high-class stock development, and this fact has been generally recognized by breeders. The exposition appropriation of prize money and premiums is liberal, and this has been increased by offerings of individual breeders and dealers to the extent of $10,000.

The official catalogue of the live stock show will be ready for distribution early in May, and this will include all necessary information regarding entries, classification and awards. Construction work on sheds, stalls, paddocks and yards will be completed long before the opening exhibit. These will be open to exhibitors ten days before the show opens. In the special features introduced into the live stock show, none but new departures will be followed. It is the intention of the management to make this department as valuable as can be done, and in doing this, expense and work have been a secondary consideration.

The Reverie.

What are you thinking tonight, old man,
Sitting all alone;
Are you thinking of those prattling kids,
You used to know at home?
Are you thinking of those bygone days,
When there was love at home
And joy that reigned around the hearth,
Before you went to roam?
When the golden rod and buttercup
And all the flowers of spring
Made the meadow so bright with bloom
And all the birds to sing?
Are you thinking of the voice that's still,
On the lawn you'll see no more,
And you must your own sweet Nell
On heaven's shining shore?

DOCTOR FINDS TEARS ARE GOOD FOR NERVES

LONDON, April 28.—Everybody should cry and "have the cry out" when there is due occasion for it. Such is the opinion of a West End medical man, a specialist in nervous diseases. "Dry-eyed grief, such as one sometimes sees in a grave face, is far more terrible than crying," he said. "When there is great mental stress the blood rushes to the temples and, owing to the tear ducts, forces tears from the eyes. "This is natural, and a great relief is at once felt by the sufferer. The brain is, as it were, put under an anesthetic and the keen sense of grief vanishes. After crying one is soothed and sleepy and the nerves are rested."

OREGON PHOTOGRAPHS GOING TO LONDON

Twenty-five hand colored photographs of Oregon and Columbia river scenery which the Harriman lines are to forward to an exhibit at Earl's court, London, have been received by the passenger department and are being boxed for shipment. These views are from photographs taken by Gifford of The Dalles and are regarded as being the handsomest ever taken of Pacific northwest scenery. The canvasses are of varying sizes, although none is smaller than three by four feet.

LAST OF THE FISHING FLEET OFF TO ALASKA

ASTORA, Or., April 28.—The steamer North Star, the last of the fleet from the Columbia river to go to the Nushagak, Alaska, fishing grounds this summer, left port this morning. The ships Henry Villard, Berlin and St. Nicholas, and the steamer North King have already gone.

The fleet takes up hundreds of men for the fisheries, and there is always much interest and anxiety here until the fleet gets back in the fall, for half the families of the city are represented in it by fathers, sons or the other man relatives.

PRINTING NOW TAUGHT BY MAIL

Typographical Union Arranges Courses for Correspondence School.

During the past two or three years the American public has been treated to much comment and suggestion on the matter of trade education.

America's oldest and most progressive labor organization—the International Typographical union—has formulated and launched a system of technical education that furnishes display, job, and all other compositors an opportunity to acquire a knowledge of the principles underlying good typography, which cannot be taught in printing offices. The union was compelled to adopt the correspondence system, but the instruction is imparted along the lines of the best and most modern educational methods.

The art schools have been levied on for the benefit of the working printer. The principles of design and color harmony are taught scientifically, the students applying them to practical work (done in type or by pencil sketches) under the personal supervision of competent instructors.

The course is sold for $20, which does not cover the cost of outfit, tuition, postage, etc. As a purely commercial venture, it would cost at least $60, but the International union, in order to stimulate and encourage the study of their art by printers, defrays all advertising and other promotional expenses out of its funds and in addition gives a rebate or prize of $5 to each student who finishes the lessons with ordinary diligence and intelligence. Many local unions supplement this by offering additional prizes to their members and apprentices working in union offices. It is estimated that the total union expenditure on account of the educational scheme is between $8000 and $10,000 a year.
