SPLENDID MUSIC AT SEATTLE FAIR

Temple of Music is Centrally Located and Will Be of Great Interest.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 7.—Music will be a big feature of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, and during the exposition season the finest musical organizations of the United States will be heard. Liberatti's, Innes' and Ellery's bands will divide the season and these will be heard daily.

The Temple of Music is centrally located, and in this beautiful building, continuous concerts will be given free from the first day of June until the closing day on the sixteenth of October. A number of handsome band stands have been erected at various points, and these are so dispersed that music will be heard in every part of the grounds.

Shorter concert seasons have been arranged for orchestras and bands from foreign countries, and among these will be heard the Philippine Constabulary band and the National Band of Mexico. Vocal and solo, also instrumental concerts will be heard in the auditorium, and this new permanent building represents one of the very finest halls for such purpose, that is to be found in the United States. Of great importance and assistance to concerts held in the auditorium will be the new organ which has been installed for the exposition. This instrument is one of the largest pipe organs yet built, and in tone and possibilities is not surpassed.

Interesting novelties in music will be heard, and among these will be noted a native Philippine band whose instruments are entirely composed of bamboo. The range and class of music produced by these rudely constructed instruments is remarkable, and the extremely crude appearance presented is in strong contrast to the equipment of other organizations.

The penalty for operating a machine without a license or violating the speed limit is: First offense, from $10 to $25 fine or 30 days in jail; second offense, $25 to $50 or 20 days in jail; third and subsequent offenses, $50 to $200 fine or 30 days in jail. In each case automobile may be put up as security and an appeal to court for trial by jury is allowed.

NATURE AIDED IN BUILDING STADIUM

Natural Lay of the Land Aided the Construction of Seattle Stadium.

SEATTLE, WASH., May 7.—The amphitheatre of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition has been accomplished partly by human efforts, but for the most part the work has been done by nature. On the precipitous shores of Lake Washington, looking across a succession of bays, and snow topped peaks of the Cascades are brought clearly into view, and this forms the background of the amphitheatre stage. Three sides arise from the floor, and these have a stately upward slope; only in the development of these natural seating places has it been necessary for work to be expended.

About the tiered sides the amphitheatre, chairs rise one above the other, and in the vast forest theatre, thirty thousand people can have comfortable and sightly positions. Surrounded at the back and sides to towering trees of Douglas fir and massive cedar, the place seems to have been created by giants of old for spectacular events; it is so fashioned and designed, that open air acoustics produce results which could be generally looked for, only within the walls of structures built with this property always in mind.

It was in this spot that the first shovel of earth was removed in the building of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. Without any work of preparation, twenty-five thousand people were easily accommodated within its borders. During the course of the exposition, the amphitheatre will be the scene of many interesting events, and with its arrangement now perfected will afford the grandest out of doors theatre in existence.

ROSEBURG, Or., May 7.—For the second time Roseburg's bonds in the sum of $25,000 issued on street paving purposes, were turned down by the successful bidder. A few weeks ago they were awarded to Leach & Co. of Chicago, and recently a telegram announced that the brokers had rejected the bonds, owing to alleged error in their issuance.

SALEM BEER

SALEM is the most popular beer in Northern California and Southern Oregon. It is acknowledged to be the equal of the very best eastern product. All beers are good, but some beers are liked better than others. The proof for this assertion lies in drinking Salem beer. If you wish to be convinced, ask for Salem beer and drink it.
