MANY PEOPLE TO NORTHWEST

Director of Exposition Is Pleased With Great Outlook for This Summer and Fall.

"More people will visit the Pacific Northwest this year than in any previous five-year period," says James A. Wood, Director of the Exploitation of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. "My prediction is fully justified by the returns, from our press clipping bureaus, the letters I receive and the reports from the transcontinental railroads and their connections. St. Paul and Minneapolis newspapers declare that more than a million travelers destined for Puget Sound and the Pacific Northwest will pass through the twin Cities. The probable extent of the movement is greatly increased by reports from all the other big cities of the United States. More publicity has been given the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition during the past five months than was given any exposition held in this country since Chicago. Eastern railroad offices report a more general inquiry than was made concerning any other exposition. The movement is already on. It is estimated that fully 100,000 new people have come into Washington, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia since March 15, largely drawn hither by the attractive homeseeker's rates. But the big movement begins with the first day of the exposition rates.

"In all our work of exploitation we have put the Pacific Northwest to the front with the exposition as a great feature of a trip this year. Not one visitor in a hundred who comes to the exposition should be lacking in general information concerning conditions and opportunities in this and the bordering states and the provinces to the north. This work has been most effectively advanced by the publicity and passenger departments of the railroads and I want to say that the Northwestern representatives of the various lines are the most active, energetic and helpful bunch of men that ever got behind any sort of a project.

The exposition is complete and ready. Attention has been drawn from every quarter of the globe. The visitors and homeseekers coming by the tens and hundreds of thousands, and it is up to the people of all parts of the Pacific Northwest to give them a welcome worth while."

BANQUET BRINGS MANY FLATTERING COMMENTS

Much flattering comment has followed the Crater Lake company's banquet at the Nash hotel Saturday evening and Manager Johnson is the recipient of congratulations from all who attended upon the metropolitan character of the entertainment. In addition to the tasty menu and the cheer of the flowing cup, the delightful music by Hazelrigg's orchestra completed a most enjoyable evening for all guests.

The banquet was designed by C. D. Miller, steward of the Nash grill, and the tasty dishes the handiwork of L. P. Wyatt, chief chef.

A large number of guests took advantage of the Sunday special dinner at the Nash grill and these musical table d'hote dinners will hereafter be a regular feature at the Nash grill.

J. N. McConnell Preaches.

Evangelist McConnell delivered a great address at the Christian Tabernacle last night. A large chorus gave delightful gospel singing. One confession. Come tonight. Come every night.

DO LOBSTERS CRAWL HEAD OR TAIL FIRST?

Friends Fight Over the Question — Diver Hired to Settle Dispute.

SOUTH NORFOLK, Conn., May 25.—This section of Connecticut is worked up over a discussion as to whether a lobster moves backward or forward, and particularly how it enters the lobster pot. The argument so far has been punctuated by two black eyes and a libel suit.

Piscatorial experts, naturalists, scientists and lobster fishermen are involved, and the latest move has been to lure Capt. Charles Smith, the Bridgeport diver, to go to the bottom of Long Island Sound and solve the riddle. William Jenkins, a New York student of water and fish, recently called upon Capt. Charles Stevens, a lobsterman of Bell Island, in his researches. The expert contended a lobster always moves forward. Capt. Stevens contended he had caught lobsters half way in pots and they were always wrong end to. It ended by Capt. Stevens blacking the expert's eyes.

OIL DRILLING PLANT IN ROSEBURG OIL FIELD

Colonel and Mrs. J. F. Mundy, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dean, W. J. Mundy and Leonard Sidelo came down from Medford to begin preparations for putting down some wells near Oakland and in Sutherland valley, prospecting for petroleum. A complete well drilling plant has already arrived at Oakland for use in this work. Oil indications in that vicinity are considered good and they expect to develop a profitable oil field.—Roseburg Review.
