SECOND TEAM WINS FAST GAME

Played Central Point Second Team and Gave Them Drubbing by 6 to 4 Score.

The Medford second team put it over the Central Point team Sunday in Central Point to the tune of 6 to 4. It was an interesting game from start to finish, both teams putting up a scrappy exhibition. A feature of the game was Henselman's fielding at second base and the pitching of Fish, who only allowed five hits and struck out 10 men. Rudie Scholz played a star game at short. The Medford team has played only one game previous to this and that with Eagle Point, when they got trimmed by a 5 to 4 score. Next Sunday they play the Eaglets on the home grounds and the boys say they are going to pick 'em clean. This will be the first game of the Southern Oregon league on the home grounds.

Harry Mills, a civil engineer of Kalamazoo, Mich., who for nine years has been with the Union Pacific railroad, has decided to locate in Medford. He will make his office with B. H. Harris and have charge of surveys and engineering for Mr. Harris and Dewing Bros. and other Michigan timbermen, as well as survey work for the general public.

RICH WOMAN LEAVES DAUGHTER ONE COW

Contest Threatened, But Equal Division Seems Likely.

MONTAGUE, June 15.—"I give and bequeath to my daughter, Mary J. O'Connor, one cow, to be by her selected." These words in the will left by Phoebe Terwilliger, Sisayon's richest woman, threatened to throw the settlement of the entire estate into court as a bone to be picked by the lawyers and to destroy the peace and harmony of a family of nine children. But affection for a sister, pride in the family name, content with present possessions, and fear that when the lawyers were through the heirs would have nothing left, have led Mary J. O'Connor's six brothers and two sisters to agree to divide the estate left by their mother into nine equal parts. This is after $500 shall have been paid the Little Shasta Congregational church and one-third of the personal property set aside in five accounts in the Hibernia bank for Mary J. O'Connor's five children. The total property was appraised at $170,000, and the personal property alone amounts to $70,000.

The children of the wife of Supervisor Edward O'Connor divide about $23,000. Sidney and Phoebe, who were named after their grandparents, divide equally one-half of this amount, and Arthur, Howard and Kate the other half. The young folks receive their bequests upon reaching their twentieth birthdays.

The failure to provide more for Mrs. O'Connor than "one cow" of her own selection was due to no lack of fondness for this daughter, but to an intense dislike and antipathy to the son-in-law, Pat O'Connor. It seems that after his wife had received from her father a farm adjoining the Terwilliger ranch, and after the father's death, the son-in-law entered suit against his mother-in-law to secure more water than he was allowed for his wife's farm. O'Connor won the case, and she never forgave him, it is said, and was resolute that he should not further share in the ancestral wealth. But now his family will probably secure a double portion.

NEW YORK TIMES ON OREGON APPLES

The New York Times of June 4 contains the following editorial statement about Oregon apples: "Mr. George T. Powell, a horticulturist of this state, declared this week in a letter to the Times that, in his Oregon competition, the New York farmer is up against the brightest men in our country"—eastern business men who have gone there for their health and have put their restored energies into the business of growing apples. In the Progress Magazine for June, Mr. Olin D. Wheeler says that, owing to the methods of those northwestern farmers, more money has been made in growing apples in the past decade than in any like period since the settlement of New England. Trainloads and shiploads of the sun-colored fruit move steadily across the continent and the Atlantic ocean to England and other parts of Europe. Even Asia has taken some of them, and Australia gets thousands of boxes of the very best, and calls for more. Conditions of culture like those of Oregon obtain now, also, in the states of Washington, Idaho and Montana, where small farms are made to yield thousands of dollars' worth of apples yearly."

FIRE DESTROYS STAGE STATION

A. D. McKee on the Applegate Losses House He Had Just Refitted.

Early Tuesday morning fire was discovered breaking through the roof of the house occupied by A. D. McKee of Applegate, and although heroic efforts were made by the inmates and a number of neighbors who were present, it was soon seen that the house was doomed, says the Jacksonville Post. The attention of all was then directed to the contents of the house, part of which was carried out to a place of safety, but many articles of value, highly prized by the owners, were consumed by the raging flames.

The building, which was a frame structure, was used by Mr. McKee and family as a resident hotel and stage station, and was entirely destroyed, the total loss amounting to about $1800, with no insurance on house or contents.

Two elderly gentlemen, Messrs. Keeton and Bowers, who were staying at the house at the time, lost all their baggage, consisting of wearing apparel and Masonic regalia, valued at several hundred dollars. McKee had just finished repainting and papering the interior of the building and had laid several new carpets, etc.

W. S. HAMMOND AND WIFE PURCHASE SAGE PLACE

W. S. Hammond and wife, who originally hail from Denver, but who have spent the last few weeks at Nampa, Idaho, and Seattle, have decided to locate here and will make their home in Medford. Monday they purchased the H. A. Sage place adjoining the city limits, west of the south end of Oakdale avenue, consisting of five and one-half acres, in 4-year-old Newtown Pippin and Spitzenberg trees, and will make their residence there. Mr. Hammond considers Medford and Nampa the two best places in the country to make money in and thinks Medford has a great future.

TEN REASONS WHY You Should Be a Reader of The Pacific Monthly

- 1st. It is the leading magazine of Western America, published on the Pacific coast edited by western men and its entire contents are Western. With pen, brush and camera, it tells the story of the wonderful progress of the West.
- 2nd. No other section of the entire world is experiencing such a rapid industrial and commercial growth as that section of the United States west of the Rockies. It is a duty you owe to yourself to keep informed—The Pacific Monthly completely covers the field.
- 3rd. There are opportunities for the extension of practically every line of business in this territory, and The Pacific Monthly tells of these opportunities.
- 4th. If you are looking for a chance to invest or locate—commerce, farming, orcharding or professional work, if you are worn, tired or in ill health, seeking rest or reasonable, The Pacific Monthly will give you a thousand valuable hints.
- 5th. Here also you can get close to nature. The great snow-capped mountains, in all their rugged grandeur, the boundless plains and the virgin forests, "God's Country," untarnished by the hand of man. Do you not wish to spend a few hours each month with us?
- 6th. The best of western literature to be found in the Pacific Monthly. Live topics of THE DAY, stories of progress and of opportunities, the Romance of the mountains and the plains, always intensely human.
- 7th. One never tires of beautiful pictures and the Pacific Monthly is famous for its illustrations, always a veritable picture book of Western scenery, from Mexico to Alaska and from Denver to the coast. No expense is spared in securing the most striking photos for reproduction in colors and halftones.
- 8th. The Pacific Monthly should be in every home. From cover to cover it is clean wholesome reading of an educational nature. It is particularly interesting and valuable both to teacher and students.
- 9th. Look upon your map, note the great area west of the Rockies, think of the wonderful resources of this section of the country—thousands of acres of agriculture land, billions of feet of standing timber, mineral riches beyond comprehension, extending to the shores of the mighty Pacific, the highway to the Orient—Do you not want to know more about this marvelous country?
- 10th. A spirit of optimism prevails throughout the west that lends life and vigor to all. That is why the Pacific Monthly is different. It comes to you each month breathing this spirit of the west. It will put the red blood into your veins—try it.
