AMERICAN MADE GOODS POPULAR.

In seventy countries of the world during the last year plows and cultivators bearing the mark "Made in America" turned the ground for foreign crops; 75 nations harvested that crop with American manufactured mowers and reapers and bound it with $5,000,000 worth of binder twine from the United States.

All of which serves to illustrate the striking popularity of American made goods throughout the world. The figures are from the detailed export tables of the Bureau of Statistics, just made public.

The statement shows further, for instance, that America: stove polish during 1908 contributed to the happiness of housewives in the United Kingdom alone to the extent of about $10,000 worth—not to speak of Canada, with $14,-000; and Australia, New Zealand, Hayti and dozens of other countries.

American candles light homes in 40 countries of the world. Cuba bought $188,000 worth of them in 1908. Fifty nations use American made street cars, and people in 60 ride bieycles made in the United States. It may seem like carrying coal to Newcastle to invade French markets with American automobiles, but nevertheless motor cars made in the United States speed over roads there and in 49 other countries as well. Cooks in two score countries use American baking soda to raise their dough. American watches mark time in practically all of the nations in North and South America and in most of those of Europe, to say nothing of China, British India and Asia. American cotton clothes go to 70 nations—milady wears them in Europe, and the savage of Asia, Siam, Liberia, Oceania, covers his nakedness with
