DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous
For Medford People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Medford.

Mrs. A. Moore, corner F and Eleventh streets, Medford, Or., says: "My husband suffered from kidney trouble for some time and the complaint gradually grew worse. He had pains in his back and kidneys and was caused much annoyance on account of the frequency of the kidney secretions. He took many remedies, but did not succeed in finding relief until Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to his attention and he procured a box at Haskin's drug store. They helped him from the first. He continued and the pains ceased, his kidneys were restored to their normal condition and he now feels better in every way. He is glad to recommend this valuable remedy to others."

"THE ANIMALS" ARE STIRRED UP ALRIGHT

Telegram Tells of Indignation Felt
Over the State Regarding Judge Galloway's Decision.

The Portland Telegram says: In granting a perpetual injunction against the appropriation by the state for the Crater Lake road, Judge Galloway has stirred up the animals in the southern part of the state. The bill carrying the appropriation was only passed after a hard campaign in the recent legislature, and the men who boasted for the scenic road do not intend lying down because of the court's decision. The matter will be appealed to the Supreme Court, where the constitutionality of the act is to be tested. When it comes to the Supreme Court the friends of the road feel confident that they will win, for a palpable reason. The legislature which passed the Crater Lake Road bill, which is held unconstitutional, also increased the number of members of the Supreme Court bench, when the constitution says there shall be three Supreme Justices. The road people contend that if one act was unconstitutional then the other was, and that if the legislature had no right to make the appropriation for the road, then it had no right to increase the number of justices. The Supreme Court may entertain a similar idea.

The contention of Judge Galloway is that the appropriation for the Crater Lake road would benefit but two counties. The argument of the road advocates at Salem was that the two counties interested were willing to tax themselves heavily towards the project, and that the United States government would invest thousands of dollars more than the state of Oregon, and that Harriman himself would chip in $50,000. The argument was that the Crater Lake road is not a local enterprise, but a statewide proposition, for the state at large would benefit through the advertising the scenic wonders would receive, and thousands of tourists would visit Oregon who would not otherwise come here. Large delegations from Medford and Ashland lobbied at the legislature through the session, being reinforced by Portland people and they put up such a strong fight that the appropriation eventually carried.

Pending the state assistance, the people in the Crater lake territory have been building the road and making it fit for automobiles. The lake can now be reached by motor cars, but with the levies from the counties the state and the federal government the road was to be made wide, solid and enduring. The decision of Judge Galloway will be fought persistently.
