MUCH INTEREST IN AEROPLANE

Dignified Senators Wait by the Hour to See Wright Machine Fly
Through the Air.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The national capital is now afflicted with the hot weather, the tariff debate and the aeroplane fever, and the greatest of these is the last.

Aeroplanitis thrives and increases in spite of the shrivelling sunshine and choking dust of the Fort Myer parade ground, where the Wright brothers are making their flights. Senators, whose temperaments are antipodal to that commonly described as Gallic, forsake the chamber and trudge patiently out into the unsheltered expanse of field where the sun beats mercilessly down upon them to see the machine soar.

Even Steve Elkins and Ben Tillman, whose enthusiasm is as well ordered and well controlled as that of E. H. Harriman, will wait for an hour—a patience-wrecking, temper-disturbing hour—when the machine leaves its rail with a clacking of propellers, wave their hats ecstatically and shake hands with each other, even if it goes only a hundred yards. And Senator Gore, who can't see at all, will wait with him to hear the whirling engine whizz past him somewhere in the upper levels.

It is a pernicious fever. It lays its grip stealthily, and its progress is not stimulated or encouraged by either of the Wright brothers. It doesn't make any difference whether one or four or five thousand people are waiting to see them fly. They sit in their machine shed, each chewing a blade of timothy and displaying as much energy as a night watchman. The crowd may fume and sweat and mop its face and wonder where there is a drink of water, but the Wright brothers are not subject to such witching hour influences.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

"A Look Into Christ's Heart" will be the subject next Sabbath at 11 a. m. At night the theme will be "What Happened to That Man Who Traveled 1200 Miles to Attend Church." Forrest Edmonds will have charge of the choir, so you can count on good music morning and evening.

Epworth league at 7 p. m. Sabbath school at 10 a. m. Everybody welcome.

MISS PRICE LEADS IN TRIBUNE CONTEST

Plucky Little Mountaineer Heads the List of Contestants for the Capital Prize.

Many changes appear in the list today, with some large gains. Miss Sharp of Ashland making the largest individual gain, adding nearly twelve thousand votes to her score, which now makes her in fourth place for the chaperon trip.

Miss Price, of Illabe still holds the lead by over a thousand votes, and her friends and acquaintances of Illabe and contiguous territory, say that their representative must be the one to finally carry off the high score, thus having the honor of naming the chaperon for the trip to Alaska, of Yellowstone Park. Each district that is represented in the contest, say that their candidate must finally carry the first honors and the one that holds the high score after the final count, will indeed know that she has been in the contest.

Now that only one more week remains before the contest closes, contestants should arrange to secure all their promises early in the week and then have the last few days to hustle new ones in. Just seven days now to secure the business in that will on the final count make you the winner of the capital prize.

Contestants in the outside districts must be sure and hand all their business in the Tribune's office not later than next Saturday evening to have it count on the contest.

Assured Prizes.

To the contestant securing largest number of votes over all will be given a trip for herself and chaperon to one of the following places:

Yellowstone National park, Yosemite valley, or a trip to Alaska.

The Yellowstone trip is the same as has been offered, the winners going by Seattle, where they will have the privilege of stopping over if they so desire. They will be furnished with tickets to the A.-Y.-P. exposition and all attractions while there.

In the Alaska trip contestants will have the same stop-over privileges in Seattle. From there they will take the northbound boat and visit the following places: Victoria, B. C., Sitka, then on and stop at Valdez, around the peninsula, up into Cook's Inlet, then landing before starting on return journey.

A railroad trip has been provided for while at one of these stops. This trip, going as far north as it does, gives one a pleasure and educational trip combined that cannot be equalled in any other trip possible.

Visits will be made to some of the world's famous mining camps, whaling vessels will be seen, Alaska dog teams, and numerous other interesting sights too many to mention.

This trip will be of about three weeks' duration, and every expense is provided for from the time you step on the boat leaving Seattle until you return.

To the contestants securing 20 yearly subscriptions to The Medford Daily Tribune, or its equivalent, will be given transportation to and from the Seattle fair, tickets to fair and attractions, and $10 in expense money.

To the contestants securing 15 yearly subscriptions, or its equivalent, will be given transportation to and from the fair, and tickets good for a week's admission to the fair and exhibits.

To the contestant securing 10 yearly subscriptions, or its equivalent, will be given $10 in gold.

To the contestant securing 5 yearly subscriptions, or its equivalent, will be given $5 in gold.
