Miss Jennie Wright, of Redding, al., has sold two of her residence ots for $200 to Ben Friedenburg.

Butte Falls enrrowly escaped a ligastrons fire Saturday morning. One of Mr. Briggs' little children got ome matches, started a fire in a heap of rubbish near the billiard parlor, and then lighting a handful of excelsior ran into a fent near the Briggs residence, and set the inside of the tent on fire and but for the timely alarm given by Jack Doubleday who was unloading hay, the entire row of business houses would have been burned. As it was, the people rushed to the scene and Mr. Briggs turned on the hose which was attached to a force pump and soon the fire was extinguished with slight loss. Parents cannot be too careful about leaving matches around where young children can get them or where mice can knaw them.
