EUGENE MAN PRAISES VALLEY

Secretary Eugene Fruit Growers' Association Greatly Pleased With Rogue River Valley

Eugene Register: J. O. Holt, secretary and manager of the Eugene Fruit Growers' association, who just returned from a tour of inspection of the fruit industry in Southern Oregon and the Rogue river valley, reports his trip a good one and he got many pointers of great benefit. He says the fruit growers in that section make horticulture a business, and not a side issue. Their orchards are as clean as their garden and every tree is the picture of health and good care. They make a specialty of raising pears there and are making good money at it. Mr. Holt brought back several samples of their celebrated Comice, Howell and Bartlett pears and they are pictures of beauty for shape and cleanliness.

They are shipping out about ten carloads a day now and expect good returns. One man from the East is shipping out his first crop and expects to realize $30,000 from this, his first crop. Mr. Holt says they have no better peaches than we have and we can raise just as good fruit with the same kind of care.

They have no cover crop like our vetch, for that plant does not thrive there like it does here in the valley and they are thus badly handicapped. The crop of apples will be light in that section, but they will be good.

The visit has made Mr. Holt more determined than ever to try to instill into the Eugene fruit growers the necessity of better care of their orchards.

EXPERT OUT FOR FARMERS

Scout of Agricultural Department Scouring World for New Wrinkles in Plant Lines

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Across the Atlantic, through Europe to St. Petersburg, south to the Caucasus mountains and east to the famous cities of Samarkand and Tashkand is an imposing line of travel being followed by Frank N. Mayer, a scout for the agricultural department. He is one of the explorers sent by Secretary Wilson to the most remote parts of the earth in search of ideas that will help the American farmer. Mayer returned not long ago from a three-year trip in the Orient that carried him to regions never before visited by a white man.

The garden spot of the world is what he calls the region in Turkestan that he is about to visit. Grapes grow there, he says, larger and more luscious than any known to the Western world. "Although efforts have been made," said Mr. Mayer, "to introduce these grapes into this and other countries, such attempts have proved failures. The quality of the fruit is far superior to the most prized grapes of France and Spain, and although the inhabitants of the country, being Mohammedans, do not drink wine, there is every reason to believe that new and excellent wines can be made from the products of these unequalled vines. Besides grapes, the region is rich in different sorts of apples, with which we of the Occidental world are unacquainted and the same is true of melons, peaches and various other kinds of fruit. There is a large, soft-shelled almond peculiar to this region, and divers other nuts which might be successfully introduced into this country, and this and other sections of the Orient which I will visit is rich in alfalfa and various forage crops which will form subjects of investigation. In the matter of improving the forage crops of this country, Secretary Wilson is specially interested, and investigations with this object will form one of the principal features of my work in this expedition. The climate of the countries which I will visit more nearly

THE NEW SAMPLE Suits, Coats, Waists NOW ON SALE

Some one was trying to tell us yesterday that we had made a mistake in buying sample suits and referred to other samples that had been offered in Medford in the past and hadn't proved good; but we only laughed for it would be perfectly foolish to carry anything else but a sample line of Suits, Coats and Skirts in a town of this size and then we explained that we bought these samples for the two very important reasons—

- First—No two Suits or Skirts are alike.
 - Second—We can offer the very best style and workmanship for the lowest price.
- We guarantee every single garment to be perfect in every way, and just as good as if it had never been shown in a sample room.
- We invite you here to look at the wonderful values now on special sale, and assure you a saving of from 25 to 50 PER CENT.

KILLS FELLOW PRISONER BY BLOWS FROM SHOE

RED BLUFF, Cal., Aug. 26.—A coroner's jury, which investigated the death of John McIntosh, who was beaten to death in the jail here Sunday last, today returned a verdict accusing John Lowery, another prisoner, of murder. The evidence indicated, according to the jury, that Lowery killed McIntosh with repeated blows from a shoe and that Lowery also beat and seriously injured Jerry Desmond, the third prisoner in the cell.

FEATURE FILMS AT THE SAVOY

Everybody has a fountain pen or should have one. Did you ever stop to think how they were made? Well, if you want to find out come to the Savoy tonight and see how many hands worked upon your fountain pen and how many machines it passed through in the making. This picture is entertaining and of great educational value.

"A Magic Pen" is a trick comedy picture which fills you with wonder as to how the picture was made, at the same time making you laugh and forget your troubles.

One of the most powerful dramatic subjects is "The Kid," which tells the story of a boy who is so pathetically surrounded with desolate heart hunger as to cause the most blasé audience to leave the theater at its conclusion with a new note of human pity seeking anchorage in its hearts. Entire change of programme tomorrow.

NEW ANGLING RECORDS ESTABLISHED AT AVALON

AVALON, Catalina Island, Cal., Aug. 26.—Two new world's records for light tackle angling were established here recently. C. G. Coon, of Elkhart, Ind., landed three tuna, the largest, which weighed 120 pounds, being brought to gaff in 10 minutes.

C. Brode held the record, made three days ago, with a 126-pound tuna brought to gaff in 15 minutes.

The other record was made by B. R. Atterbury, of Pasadena, who caught a black sea bass weighing 270 pounds. The struggle lasted two hours and 20 minutes, and the angler was compelled to bring the monster fish to the surface eight times before it could be gaffed.

NO CROWDING SEATTLE FAIR

Seattle Claims Distinction of Being First City to Properly Care for Visitors

SEATTLE, Aug. 26.—Through the efforts of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce in providing accommodations for visitors, this city claims the distinction of being the first place to hold a World's Fair without the attendant crowding and difficulty in obtaining rooms.

Although several hundred thousand people will attend the exposition from outside of the city, over one hundred thousand having arrived already, there has never been a time when the accommodations have not been ample to take care of the crowd.

For several months before the Fair opened its gates the Seattle commercial body conducted an active campaign to induce the citizens of the city to let rooms. Many have advertised rooms for rent from motives of pure patriotism, induced by this campaign.

The visitor at the exposition has his choice of all classes of accommodations to suit his purse from the most reasonable room at fifty cents a night to the costly apartment. Good rooms may be secured close to the exposition for seventy-five cents to a dollar and a half a night. The general air of hospitality which the city has assumed toward visitors has attracted much favorable comment.
