THE CIRCUS TRUST

The all seeing eye of the monopolist watches every move fixed until the association had purof its small competitors, as was shown in Medford earlier in the season. When Norris & Rowe and later the Sells-Floto shows were billed here, Ringling Bros.' posters and banners appeared simultaneously and were plastered over the small shows' announcements. Ringling Brothers' receipts in Medford will approximate $10,000, nine-tenths of which is taken out of the community. The license to show costs $75, and a higher license is justified. However, it is of undoubted commercial advantage to Medford to be the only city in Southern Oregon board of forestry to fill the vacancy that the big circuses show in, yet a license of at least $150 caused by the resignation recently of E. P. Sheldon, secretary. is reasonable.

Wine Grapes Will Rot Before Growers Will Sell at Prices Offered

WOODLAND, Cal., Aug. 28.—Geo Severidge, of Ffesno, a representative of the California Wine Associa tion, was in Woodland yesterday afternoon and arbitrarily fixed the price of wine grapes at $5 per ton That is not all; the first payment, $2.50 a ton, will not be made until December, and the second payment not until next March. In the meantime the cost of picking and hauling the grapes, which is about $2.50 a ton, must be advanced by the growers At such prices, it is claimed, the growers cannot make a cent on the whole season's work, and many have already announced their intention of allowing the grapes to rot on the vines. Others who have hogs will turn them into their vineyards.

Land in California Being Devoted to Raising of Ecualyptus Trees for Timber

WILLOWS, Cal., Aug. 28.-E. C. French, manager of the Forest Syndicate tract of land, north of Willows a few miles, has been in Willows this week, and says that things will hum on their holdings this winter; in fact, as soon as the first rain falls. He has made an inspection of the million equalyptus trees planted on the Domessake ranch last spring and is more than cleased with the growth. Most or line trees are new between three and some feet high, and a very all nere go of them lave died. He stores that the growth is far but eted, and sees the six hundered acres planted to encalyptus trees presents a beautiful sight.

This six hundred-acre grove is nothing compared with the immense amount of land to be planted later. The Domonoske tract alone still has seven hundred acres which will be planted to seedling evenlyous as soon as possible. Paides this tract the company now over 1270 ares of land just east of Germenton , known as the Deveny farm, and before another eight months the body of land will have been planted to seedling eucalyptus.

tI is estimated that it will take several millions of trees to cover the ground, but the company cares little for the amount, and is trying to secure more land upon which to plant trees. oN time will be lost, and if it were not that the ground is too hard to plow they would be at work at present. Just the minute Glenn county sees its first rain this season the whole of the company's land will Train leaves be turned over by plows and a big Motor car leaves force of men put to work in placing the trees in the ground.

CALIFORNIA'S COPPER

SAN FRANCISCO. Mineralogist Aubury, in his advance statistical report on the mineral wealth of the state, given out today, stated that California's copper production for the year was 40,867,872 pounds and its value was $7,000,000, approximately. This is the greatest amount of copper yet produced within the state for one year. Most of the copper was mined in Shasta county where 34,878,677 pounds was taken from the earth.
