

EXPRESS RATE CASE HEARING SEPTEMBER 6

SALEM, Or., Aug. 28.—Final hearing in the matter of the proposed reduction of the Pacific Express Company's rates on the lines of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company will take place Monday, September 6, at which time an agreement will be reached between the railroad commission and the express company relative to the carrying out of the reductions ordered recently by the commission.

It is understood that the express company is willing to submit to the proposed reductions, but wishes to have the order amended where it pertains to certain schedules. These schedules will be taken up at the hearing September 6, when the final order will be entered by the commission and the new rates will then go into effect within a few weeks.

FOR SALE—AUGUST ONLY

A SUMMER RESORT ON KLAMATH LAKE That is Unsurpassed in America

This is a sporting proposition for men of wealth—it is not a farm. Unequaled Trout Fishing—June to November. Deer Hunting on the premises, August 1 to November 1. Duck Shooting superior to any in the state, over thousands of acres of wild celery and rice, September 1 to February 1. Grouse and Pheasant Shooting on the place October 15 to November 15. Best starting place in the county for a Bear hunt. The Crater Lake Automobile road will run through the place for a mile and a quarter. Navigable water to the property, unsurpassed drinking water, and power to develop the property. More bottom land and fine garden land than any place on the lake. Thousands of Pine and Fir trees and thousands of Quaking Aspens. More varieties of wild flowers and natural grasses and vetches than any place in the county. If you develop this property as it can be developed, there is no resort in the county that can compare with it. No amount of talking will describe it—let us show you. We have been offered more than twice what it cost, but have a price at which we may take it—below which we will keep it. J. G. PIERCE, W. T. SHIVE, Klamath Falls, Oregon.

MAKING PLANS FOR BIG COUNTY FAIR

LA GRANDE, Or., Aug. 28.—A committee has been appointed by President Woods, of the Union County Exposition, called the "20,000 Booster Club," with the prime object of bringing 20,000 visitors to the fair here in October. The Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company today announced special rates for the fair. From Pendleton and points between to La Grande and also from Huntington, the round trip rate will be a fare and a third. This rate is also effective over the Wallowa branch.

On Wallowa county day the O. R. & N. will run a special train from Joseph to La Grande with a round trip rate of one fare. The financial committee has raised $500 for a guarantee fund to insure the success of the fair. Bids have been advertised for the construction of the buildings necessary for the staging of the stock. A large pavilion is to be built.

TWO THUGS ASSAULT MAN WHEN REFUSED BEER

KENNETT, Cal., Aug. 28.—Last evening two men, whose names have not yet been ascertained, appeared at the establishment of James Bordes, manager of the local branch of Joseph Hoefler's Redding brewery, and asked for beer. Bordes refused to furnish them with any, and one of the men attacked him with a shovel, inflicting wounds upon his head. He was unable to defend himself, but people who heard the affray came to the rescue and took charge of the assailants and the victim. The timely arrival of two officers probably prevented the indignant citizens from handing out a little frontier justice to the murderous thugs.

Bordes is under the care of a physician, and his two assailants are in prison.

Philosophy.

And so I says: "Danny, keep cheerful. Don't worry about yer troubles six months or a year in advance, boy. A great many times them kind o' troubles when they do come don't happen at all."—New York Herald.

Why He Called.

"What! Are you here begging again?" "No, lady. I have just called as er delegate from de Tramping Toms' association ter notify youse dat if youse don't improve yer cookin' de association will have ter cut youse off its route."—New York World.

What the Professor Wanted.

The professor steps into the barber chair and assumes an attitude of pre-meditation. "Hair cut, sir?" "Please!" The barber cuts his hair. "Like a shampoo?" "Um—please!" He gets the shampoo. "Shave you, sir?" "Um—yes!" One shave. "Massage?" He nods assent and consequently is massaged. The barber removes the towel; the professor arises and mechanically takes the proffered check. "What's this?" "Your check, sir." "My check?" "Certainly, sir—hair cut, shampoo, shave and massage." The professor rubs his hand over face and head. "Did I get all that?" "Surely, sir." "It's queer—very queer—most extraordinarily queer! A most wonderful example of philosophical phenomena!" "What's queer?" asks the barber in dismay. "Why, the working of the human mind. What I came in for was to get my razor honed."—Puck.

What Constitutes Baseball?

The essential apparatus of baseball is simple and inexpensive. All that is required is a field, a stick, the ball itself and police protection for the umpire. One advantage of the game as played professionally is that those sitting in the grand stand can play the game a great deal better than the eighteen men on the diamond. It is also true that any one of the spectators, even though perched on a telephone pole across the street or looking through a knothole in the fence beyond right field, can judge of the pitcher's skill or the runner's feetness much more intelligently than the arbiter who stands behind the battery. The great merit of the game is that the people can participate in it. It is not like bridge whist. Its science is not synonymous with silence. The thing to do is to take off your coat and roar as long and as loudly as you can, even if you don't know what is happening.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Respect For Old Age.

"Jonas, did you beat that rug accord in' to orders?" "No, S'manthy; I just didn't." "Didn't? What's the reason, I'd like to know?" "'Cause, S'manthy, when I got it out on the line there an' saw how frittered an' feeble it was I didn't have the heart to lambaste it. I know I have a shortage of virtues, S'manthy, but I want you to know that respect for old age isn't one of 'em."—Boston Courier.

Going to Law.

The man who goes to law for the purpose of obtaining satisfaction generally gets so many other things that he forgets all about the satisfaction if there is any in it for him.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Narrow Escape.

An old circus man tells this incident as one of the narrow escapes he had in the show business. He had trained lions, zebras, leopards, rhino—you know—and all sorts of beasts of prey, but this, he says, was his narrowest escape. It was when he was running a dime museum in Milwaukee.

One day a mild mannered Russian came out of the railway station with a valise in his hand. He was a heavily bearded man and with shaggy hands and arms like George Esau. He hunted up a cabman and inquired modestly, "Where is the dime museum?" The cabman told him and then asked, "Want to ride up?" "Yes," the bearded stranger told him quietly, almost bashfully. "I'm to be employed up there. I'm the wild man." "The narrow escape," says the ex-circus man, "lay in the fact that no newspaper man heard the man's remark and that the cabman was an Englishman, with no sense of humor, who never thought to repeat it."—Exchange.
