GETTING READY FOR BIG SHOOT

Gun Club Will Hold Another Meeting Wednesday Evening to Further Discuss Matters.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the Medford Rod and Gun club held at the Medford Hardware company's store Monday night reports of the committees appointed on entertainment and reception of the Pacific Indian shooters were received and the committees authorized to proceed with the preparation for the event, which promises to be the largest shoot ever held outside of the largest cities on the coast.

The program in the rough is as follows: Monday, September 6, will be devoted to reception of arriving shooters and the evening will be devoted to the annual enshrouding of the Indians at the Wigwam, Mr. Walters having donated the use of the Wigwam for the occasion.

Tuesday evening following will be the first day of the big shoot and the shoot will be followed by an auto ride through the different orchards and to various points of interest.

Wednesday will be the second day of the shoot and the evening will be devoted to the big street parade, in which the Indians will appear in full war paint and costume.

Thursday, the last day of the shoot will be the gala day for the Indians, every shooter appearing in costume at the shoot. Thursday evening will be devoted to a special dance at the Wigwam.

Friday will be devoted to a big salmon bake at the river, where all the shooters will be taken in automobiles donated by different public-spirited citizens.

A number of prominent orchardists have offered donations of fruit to be given the shooters at the grounds during the three days' shoot, and all persons desiring to aid the gun club in making the event a great success may do so by leaving melons and other fruit at the Medford Hardware company's store.

President Daniels has called another meeting to be held at the Medford Hardware company's store for Wednesday evening, at which important matters will be discussed and final preparations made for the shoot.

Every member is expected to be present.

Verdi's Secrecy.

Verdi observed great secrecy concerning his operas, even to his business associates, and it is said that the first intimation his business managers, the Ricordis, received of the composition of "Falstaff" was a toast offered by Boito, who at supper one night, when the publisher and his wife were present, slyly glanced at Verdi and proposed a health to the "fat knight," at which it seemed Verdi and Boito had been working for months.

An Aspersion Suspected.

"That is quite a remarkable Rembrandt," said the connoisseur. "Sir?" rejoined Mrs. Cumrox. "Yes, Rembrandt, you know, the great painter." "Oh! I thought you said 'remnant.'"—Washington Star.

The Fraction.

"Humble as I am," said a loud voiced orator at a meeting, "I still remember that I am a fraction of this magnificent empire." "You are, indeed," said a bystander, "and a vulgar one at that."—London Express.

CARRIERS ARE NAMED FOR CITY

Three Local Men Passed Examinations, but One Carrier Will Be Imported.

Postmaster Woodford has been advised as to the successful applicants for a position as carrier in the local postoffice. They are H. H. Harvey, Rutherford Kerr and George Henry of Jacksonville.

Mr. Harvey will receive appointment as carrier No. 2, Rutherford Kerr will receive appointment as substitute carrier, as he desires to attend high school the coming year. George Henry of Jacksonville has changed his mind of accepting an appointment since taking the examination, which leaves one vacancy, which will be filled by the importation of a carrier, probably one from Illinois.

The carrier service is to be instituted on September 15 or two weeks from Wednesday.

PAVING RAPIDLY GOING AHEAD IN ASHLAND

ASHLAND, Aug. 31.—Paving is progressing along the even tenor of its way, with possibly a little more tenor some days than others. One misses the several teams which have been supplementing the big traction engine in hauling crushed rock to the scene of bitulithic operations, and it is reported that the teamsters struck last week for an advance in wages. However, the motor power is hauling seven coaches between town and crusher, so that operations are steadily progressing, and the bitulithic material is steadily crawling up Fourth street, as the motor makes several trips per day between city and quarry in order to keep surfacemen and finishers busy.

It is reported that the Warren company has ordered not only another traction outfit from Portland to increase the transportation force, but also a carload of team horses.

Arrangements are also being made to sprinkle the road between Ashland and the rock crusher.

HUGE GRIZZLY BEAR KILLS SISKIYOU CATTLE

YREKA, Cal., Aug. 31.—J. J. Garvey, who owns a ranch up on Bogus about 25 miles from this place, was in town yesterday. He reports that there is a large grizzly bear roaming around in the vicinity of Willow Creek and that he has had three head of cattle killed by the monster, one of which, he states, looked as if the bear had hit it with its huge paw and tore all the skin off the side. No one has seen the bear, but several have seen its tracks, which Garvey stated measured ten inches in length and seven inches wide.

The Wilderness.

This theater of bloody conflicts is a vast sea, so to speak, of a dense forest—a second growth more than a century old. It is made up chiefly of scrubby, low limbed, stubborn oaks and disordered, haggard pines, for the soil is cold and thin, with here and there scattering clumps of alien cedars. Some of the oaks are large enough to cut two railroad ties, and every once and awhile you come across an acre or two of pines ten to twelve inches in diameter, tall and tapering, true to the soaring propensities of their kind. But generally, and above all where the battle was fought, the trees are noticeably stunted and so close together and thick lower limbs so intermingled with a thick underbrush that it is very difficult indeed to make one's way through them.—Atlantic Monthly.

Meredith's Advice to Stead.

W. T. Stead tells a characteristic story of George Meredith, which is all the more appreciable as it is told against himself.

"He was a true friend," says Mr. Stead, "not less faithful in criticism than he was cordial in his appreciation. Of the former I remember well the neat way in which he put me out of conceit with my first attempt to write a story. I sent him my little effort with fear and trembling. My trepidation was not without warrant. 'I have read "From the Old World to the New,"' he wrote. 'Some of the characters are interesting and well drawn. One of them especially reminds me of Cecil Rhodes. But if any one of your friends tells you that he likes the story as a story don't believe him.'"
