

FRUIT PRICES MARKETS EAST

Lower Prices Obtain Throughout the Eastern Markets Since Holidays.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(Special).—Prices for Rogue River pears Wednesday were as follows: One ear consigned by J. D. Olwell sold in New York averaging $2.50. One ear consigned by Bear Creek Orchards sold in Pittsburg, firsts averaging $2.00, seconds $2.70. One ear consigned by Bear Creek Orchards sold in this city averaging, firsts $2.85, seconds $2.70. Delay in shipment caused over-ripeness in most cases.

Through a typographical error in Wednesday's Tribune it was stated that Estep (Buckeye orchard) pears averaged $2.77. This ear averaged $2.91.

Telegraphic advices show that the following general range of prices held in markets east today:

Boston—Malagas, mostly poor condition, 80c; Tokays $1.30. Bartlett's good many showed decay, $2.35; Gros, $1.32. Chicago—Malagas, 90c; Tokays, $1.25; Italians, $1.30; Germans, $1.25; Colorado Elbertas, $1.25; Bartlett's, $2.65. New York—Malagas, $1; Tokays, $1.15; half Nellis, 77c; Seedless, $1.05; Bartlett's, $3.15; Germans, $1.10; Silvers, $1.25; Eggs, $1.30; half Clairgeau, $1.35; Lodi Tokays, $1.45.

Sleever Comedians at The Savoy,

Tonight at Medford's popular moving picture theater the Savoy will be shown a very fine bill of pictures you should not miss. "Traced by a Kodak" is a very pleasing child story picture, portraying with great cleverness a simple theme in an artistic manner. It is highly entertaining to the old as well as the young.

"A Georgia Wedding" is a humorous depiction of a "colored wedding," shown in all its local color. It is a laugh producer of merit.

"The Artist Gets Even," a comedy drama, bubbles over with merriment and laughter, makes you forget your earthly woes.

Entire change of program tomorrow night. The Savoy. One dime.

A Modest Request.

NEW DIRECTORY FOR MEDFORD

Polk Compiling Complete Directory of Jackson, Josephine and Douglas Counties.

Polk's Directory company is compiling a complete directory of the towns of Jackson, Josephine and Douglas counties, including the assessment rolls, all in one volume. The directory will be similar to that published several years ago, the only complete directory ever put forth.

Canvass is under way for the names of residents of Medford. A fake directory, containing only a partial list of business houses and residents, was recently published, and it has been the source of a great deal of aggravation.

The new directory should receive the hearty endorsement and support of the business firms of Medford, as it is published by a reliable firm and is recognized everywhere as a barometer of the city's growth and prosperity. Polk's directories are standard the world over. The same system is used in compiling the Medford directory as is used in the larger cities.

A copy of the directory is placed on file in the libraries of all the large cities in the United States, for the use of the public.

It is the intention of the Polk companies to issue a new book every two years, thus keeping it up to date.

CROWDS WITNESSED THE BIG PACIFIC INDIAN PARADE LAST EVENING

Crowds lined the streets Wednesday evening to see the parade in which the Indians appeared in costume and on floats. Plenty of red fire was used. The floats were of a burlesque nature and caused much amusement.

Medford's military band headed the parade, which formed at the baseball park, and marched down Main street. Chief Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. Enyart on horseback preceded them. The first float represented Teddy Roosevelt hunting big game in Africa with H. L. Patterson, with a ten-foot gun as Teddy, with Mr. Quisenberry as his stenographer. Then came the patrol wagon. The capture of Tom Marshall, the world's most wonderful marksman was shown in another float, with Judge Kelly splicing about Tom's wonderful prowess. Upon another float Fred Gilbert, "the wizard of Spirit Lake," with Pete Holohan extolling his virtues. Upon another float Bill Hillis, the watermelon kid, was handcuffed to a stool with a pile of watermelons just out of his reach. The "conciliator" represented a farmer surrounded by no trespass signs, keeping hunters and fishers off except when bribed with a bottle. C. E. Whisler was the farmer and the three hunters were H. C. Poston, George Bordeaux and Wes Reid.

The tepee float showed a group of braves and squaws and papposes sitting around a camp fire in costume, gridding mortars and other Indian occupations.

Automobiles filled with marksmen brought up the rear.

Many costly Indian costumes were worn, those attracting particular attention being those of Chief Dillon, Scribe Riehl, Richard Reid, Joe Whitney, J. E. Enyart, while Mrs. Enyart, Mrs. Riehl and Mrs. Dillon wore Klocchman costumes. Credit for the success of the parade is due to Holbrook Withington, Clarence Reames and J. S. Orth.

The evening was spent telling tales about the camp fires and dancing war dances. Thursday evening the Pacific Indians initiate new members and enjoy a dance at the Wigwam. Friday afternoon special cars take the marksmen to San Francisco.

You can get a meal to order at the Nash Grill any time between 6 o'clock in the morning and midnight. Open at all hours.

AFTER QUARTERS FEDERAL COURT

United States Marshal Arrives to Locate Quarters for New Court—Probably City Hall.

Deputy United States Marshal Nicholson of Portland arrived in Medford Thursday morning to secure quarters for the federal court, which was provided by the last session of congress. It is probable that the quarters will be established in the council chamber of the city hall.

Regular court terms will be held in this city, thus giving to southern Oregon a federal court.

PRIESTS TELL GREWSOME TALES

Thousands Dying From Exposure and Starvation Throughout Mexican Flooded Sections.

MONTEREY, Mex., Sept. 9.—Believing that the people in the outlying districts are facing starvation and death as the result of the recent floods, several relief expeditions have left here.

Several priests from the flooded sections tell tales of death, destruction and great hunger. Priests from Ascenco state that that town, with 2000 inhabitants, has completely disappeared. A few survivors fled to the hills and are without food or shelter. Priests from Arrauberi report a similar condition there.

BIG TRADE IN FRUIT IS ON IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Sept. 9.—While fruit receipts at this time are the greatest in the history of the Front street markets, the outward movement is likewise increasing. Good quality is finding a ready demand, but in most instances at a fractional decline in prices from those previously in effect here. Too much over-ripe stuff of all kinds is coming forward for the good of the market, but considering these conditions the prices being paid along Front street are the best ever received here.

Those who figure on very low peach prices this season are evidently mistaken in their views, for the market for good stuff is better than ever. Some fancy stock from Oswego and from Medford found a ready demand at the various commission houses during the day at $1 a box, although peaches sold as low as 50c a box in some instances. While the markets are at present over supplied with peaches, practically nine-tenths of the arrivals of very poor quality, while one-tenth is good stuff. Therefore the demand for the latter at extremely good values.

Ostrich Feathers of Tripoli.

The usual kinds of ostrich feathers known to the trade come into the Tripoli market. These are whites, blacks, feminas, byocks, spadonas, boos, drabs and floss. The Arab dealers bring them in unsorted packages containing feathers in various qualities of each kind, and it therefore requires expert knowledge to buy advantageously from the natives. The goods are sold by the "roll." (The Tripoli roll is about eighteen ounces.)

The feathers are washed and sorted, but not dyed or curled. They are washed in soapy water, and when still wet are beaten. A handful of them are taken by the stems and slapped against the floor with a force that to the uninitiated would seem to be enough to break them to pieces. This is done to bring out the flues or barbs, the miniature feathers extending from the barbs, and gives the plumes a fluffier, richer appearance. A good ostrich plume will have two or three layers of feathers; its tip should be perfect, and it should have no transverse cuts along the vane. For the retail trade two plumes are usually mounted together.

Odd.

Mrs. Van Cerious was discovered at 3 a. m. sitting up in bed reading the encyclopedia.

"What in the world are you doing, Emma?" cried Mr. Van Cerious.
