TO CHANGE RESTING PLACE OF R. D. HUME

Body Will Be Removed From Queer Burial Spot Chosen by Salmon King.

Exhumation of the body of R. D. Hume from its strange resting place on the banks of the lower Rogue, is promised by his widow, after the affairs of the Hume estate in Curry county are settled up. If all the Hume holdings are sold to outside people and the grave of the departed Curry magnate is emptied, the 30 years' domination of the salmon king will become only a memory there.

Wedderburn and Gold Beach residents point out the grave of Hume as their principal curiosity. The freak of fancy that led the veteran Scotchman to order his interment there was no doubt inspired by his having built up his fortune at this spot, during almost a third of a century of hard work and isolation, throughout which he held most of Curry county thoroughly in control.

A block east of the big Hume store in Wedderburn 15 or 20 yards from the solitary street and on a rocky promontory overlooking the river, Hume chose his burial spot. This was months before his last illness, but perhaps not till after he had warning of its coming. He directed that a hole eight feet deep should be blasted and hewn from the rock; that a casket hermetically sealed should convey his body to the bottom; that a few inches above a cement arch should be laid, forming an underground vault, and that earth should then be filled on in the ordinary way. His wishes were carried out in toto. No shaft marks the place; it is not even fenced ground.

Mrs. Hume will take the body probably to San Francisco.

LARGE VINEYARD TO BE PLANTED IN NORTHWEST

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 17.—The Inland Empire Vineyard company of this city, is in the field to establish the most extensive vineyards and wineries in the country. The vineyards will be near Lewiston, Idaho, and Clarkston, Wash. It is said that many parts of the Inland Empire are better adapted to grape culture than some of the famous European districts, owing to the absence of the dreaded phylloxera, as they cannot exist in volcanic ash. About 2000 acres will be planted during the coming year.

John Watkins of Eagle Point returned home from a short stay in Jacksonville, where he attended the encampment.

AMUSEMENTS

The Medford.

If all that has been said of "A Knight for a Day" be true, patrons of the Medford theater are assured of a treat. This musical play, interpreted by a competent cast, headed by Edward Hume, Grace DeMar and some 60 others, ran for a solid year in Chicago, and five months at Wallack's theater, New York. The present tour of the organization has comprehended visits to Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles and other cities of the Pacific coast, where it was pronounced the best musical offering of recent years. So much has been said in praise of the "American Beauty Chorus" of this company that local admirers of feminine loveliness are likely to be especially interested. "A Knight for a Day" comes to The Medford theater September 23 for one performance.

Notice.

is hereby given that the undersigned will apply at the regular meeting of the city council of Medford, Oregon, on October 5, 1909, for license to sell malt, vinous and spirituous liquors in less quantities than one gallon for six months at lot 12, block 20, in Medford, Oregon, for a period of six months.

MANUAL TRAINING IS UNDER WAY

A. F. Wetter, who is in charge of the manual training department of the high school, is enthusiastic about his work and declares that before the year is over he expects to have many of the students making useful things.

The grades entered in the work are those from the fifth to the ninth, inclusive, and they are all learning the first principles, which consist in exercises in planing, measuring, in use of trisquare and gauge.

One period each week is allowed for the work, which is being conducted in a well equipped and well ventilated room in the basement. Over 100 students compose the class, and many others would like to join.

Next week mechanical drawing will be added. It is sure to prove an invaluable addition.

A party consisting of Pug Isaacs, John Wagner, Harry Sweet, Agnes Peal and Blanche Tulley left this morning for Hillcrest orchard, where packing is going on. The Hillcrest has been packing all this week and will have enough to keep them busy the greater part of next. Pug Isaacs has charge of the packing crew.

PHENOMENAL POTATOES GROWN BY GEO. P. MIMS

Colonel George P. Mims of Seven Oaks orchard, brought to the exhibit building some of the "splendid fruit that made Ireland famous." To say they are beauties mildly expresses it, grown in the Seven Oaks orchard without irrigation, between the fruit trees, once more emphatically demonstrates the wonderful possibilities of this incomparable valley. Some of the spuds measure 16 inches and weigh from 2½ to 4 pounds, nice, smooth potatoes, fit to tickle the palate of the most exacting epicure. Amongst the samples are the Garfield, Burbank and Early Rose.
