EDITORIAL.

Exchanges.—If this is marked, it is the last issue you will receive until you respond.

Since last issue, we have turned out a fine line of job printing. People appreciate good work when they see it.

The Star, of Sharon, Pa., is a neat and enterprising sheet, and we hope to receive it regularly every week.

The publishers are interested in all the advertisements in this paper and are especially desirous that our readers clip the coupon offering premiums on orders, when sending for goods to the advertiser making the offer.

We were pleased to meet, among the employees of the Wallace circus, an old amateur journalist, who used to burn "mid-night oil" writing "glowing editorials" and setting type for his paper, now a thing of the past. Mr. Cartter was once a member of the National Amateur Press Association and is well acquainted with most of the "old boys."

LOCAL BREVITIES.

DIED.—At his home in Ashland, Monday, July 21, 1895, at 6:00 o'clock P. M., Mr. F. C. Hunt, aged 47 years and 11 months.

Mr. Hunt was born in Augusta, Maine, August 21, 1847. He came to California at the age of twelve years, and since that time most of his time was spent in hotel management. He came to Ashland six years ago and has gained many warm friends who share their grief with a wife and an only son.
