ALIENS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Now that so many millions of English capital have been and are being invested in pretty nearly every industry as well as in landed property in the United States it will be in order for our national government to take proper precautions to protect the country from the evil of absentee landlordism and capital which has proved so great a curse in the case of Ireland. Millions of acres of American land are held by aliens, mostly Englishmen, who have inaugurated upon our free soil the system now prevailing in Ireland, and if no check is placed upon these foreign encroachments we shall ere long see enacted here the devil's drama of English landlordism, with evicted tenants, emergency men, the battering ram, the incendiary's torch, and the midnight burning as the chief features. Already several evictions have been carried out in the West with many of the brutal accomplishments which characterize the hellish work of the exterminator in Ireland. No alien should be allowed to hold a rod of American land until he has at least declared his intention of becoming an American citizen. The rigorous enforcement of such a law would speedily rid the country of those foreign land grabbers who have fastened their tentacles upon our soil. Successive legislative enactments by the British parliament have largely deprived the landlords of their tyrannous prerogatives and landed property both in Ireland and England is not nearly as remunerative to the owner as formerly; hence those oligarchs have cast their greedy eyes upon our Western and Southern lands in the hope of maintaining the power which is being slowly but surely wrenched from them on the other side. The Federal government should see to it that their insidious designs be checked in time. Neither should foreign investments in our railroads and manufacturing interests be overlooked by the government. Those investments have been attracted, as in the case of land, by the larger returns which they yield. Outside the brewing and distilling interests, there are very few industries in England that yield the large dividends which are the rule here. The large amount of capital vainly seeking profitable investment in England was strikingly shown when two of the most prominent breweries were changed into limited liability companies. A wild rush was made for the stock, and it could easily have been subscribed one hundred times over. This accounts for the formation of the big British syndicates that are endeavoring to gobble up our industries wholesale. And those aliens who invest their money in American enterprises possess advantages which are denied to our citizens. They enjoy the benefits conferred by our protective laws and of the superior advantages here afforded over European countries; but they do not contribute anything like their full quota to the support of the government under which they enjoy such privileges. Many of them have been resident here for years, who have not the remotest intention of becoming American citizens, or sharing in the responsibilities which citizenship involves. Foreigners they are, and foreigners they remain, enjoying all the advantages which are alone possible under our institutions, but holding themselves free from the obligations that attach to citizenship, and ready even to take up arms against the United States should the government to which they are knowledge allegiance happen to enter into hostilities with the republic. These resident aliens particularly should be compelled to make some return to the country for the material blessings which they enjoy. A smart tax should be imposed upon every foreigner who engages in any manufacturing enterprise or takes part in any business transaction whatever in any portion of the United States. The imposition of a poll tax also on every immigrant who fails to apply for naturalization within a reasonable time after his arrival in the country would be a timely measure. The evils complained of must be grappled with sooner or later, and the sooner the better.—N. Y. Tablet.

In every newspaper at least a column is reserved for the expression of the editor's thoughts, and there, and there only, should the political opinions of the publisher be made manifest. That column is his horse, on which he can ride at whatever pace his fancy pleases. There it is expected that he will give free rein to his partisanship. There he may treat political displays as he may see fit. If he be a democrat the stronger he supports the ideas of democracy the better will he please his fellows of like faith with little danger of arousing the ire of those who do not agree with him. In fact party fealty is there respected. Then let him pile up his arguments, revel in his tables of statistics, delight in the downfall of his political enemies. He will perhaps make converts; the chances of making enemies are reduced to the minimum. There, too, let his writings show that he knows that personal vilification is not political argument; that political questions can be discussed and debated without resorting to calumny. In brief, let him make his news columns fairly, honestly and impartially newsy; make his editorial columns what he will. This the public not only expects, but has a right to expect.

COMMERCIAL PROPERTY.

Few people have any idea of the increase in value of desirable property in cities, where a town lot worth only a few hundred dollars, as the city grows, increases in value with the town. The following table is based on the city of Portland:

Morrison and Fifth Streets, two lots, 50 x 100 sold in the year 1850, $100, 1860, $1,500; 1870, $5,000; 1875, $8,000; 1880, $15,000; 1885, $25,000; 1890, $50,000.
First and Stark Streets, four lots, 1850, $2,000; 1860, $15,000; 1870, $60,000; 1875, $80,000; 1880, $150,000; 1885, $250,000; 1890, $510,000.
Alder and Third Streets, one lot, 1850, $250; 1860, $1,000; 1870, $5,000; 1875, $8,500; 1880, $15,000; 1885, $25,000; 1890, $60,000.
Washington and Sixth Streets, three lots, 1850, $150; 1860, $600; 1870, $7,000; 1875, $10,000; 1880, $20,000; 1885, $30,000; 1890, $50,000.
Ash and First Streets, one lot, 1850, $300; 1860, $2,000; 1870, $10,000; 1875, $15,000; 1880, $20,000; 1885, $30,000; 1890, $60,000.
First and B Streets, one lot, 1850, $500; 1860, $2,000; 1870, $10,000; 1875, $15,000; 1880, $20,000; 1885, $30,000; 1890, $60,000.
First and Washington Streets, one lot, 1850, $500; 1860, $7,000; 1870, $10,000; 1875, $25,000; 1880, $50,000; 1885, $75,000; 1890, $100,000.
Third and Morrison Street, two lots, 1850, $500; 1860, $4,000; 1870, $12,500; 1875, $30,000; 1880, $60,000; 1885, $100,000; 1890, $175,000.

THE SAW MILL.—The big saw mill of Prescott & Veness is approaching completion. The engine is in place and the band wheel, twelve feet in diameter, seems to take up all the lower story. The smoke stack sixty-four feet high was raised on Tuesday. The corrugated iron roofing is in place, and it will not long before the saws will be in motion and the lumber famine will be at an end.

THE WRONG JOHN.—One of our most stylish Independence young ladies this week met with an amusing mishap. She was walking along not noticing Kelly's dog John lying in her way, and as she felt the dog arose and she gracefully inhaled him with her arms much to the dogs surprise and her disgust. She will hereafter watch her steps with more care.

MOTOR LINE SURVEY.—Mr. H. B. Thielson, surveyor for the Independence and Monmouth railroad company, will be here next Monday and the grade stakes for the road will be set and within a very short time bids will be received for the grading. The company expect to operate the road by July 4th, and only nine weeks now elapse for finishing the road. Hurrah for the motor line!

A PUBLIC KICK.—The Southern Pacific train from Portland arrives here at 11:24 and the afternoon train departs at 2:30. Orders have been sent the postmaster here to deliver the mails at the trains one-half hour before departure. Thus the mail closes at 10:25 in the morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon. As the Portland mail is never distributed until after twelve o'clock it leaves only a very short time for our merchants to answer letters received. The consequence is that a large number of letters are mailed on the train, thus making the salary of the postmaster here smaller. This office is almost a third-class office, but this ruling will delay it indefinitely as letters mailed at the train are not counted. The mail should not be closed before 2:15 p. m. at the least as it is only three blocks to the depot.

WATCH THIS SPACE NEXT WEEK FOR JAMES E. DAVIS'S Sale of Pedigreed Horses. May 6th, at one o'clock INDEPENDENCE.

UNION DOCKS.—We understand that the Oregon Pacific and the Union Pacific are thinking of uniting in building a union dock here, one which will be amply large to accommodate the large freight traffic that high waters substantial manner on what or building will have no effect on what or building. It seems wisdom to do this as one agent could attend to one house and do the business for both companies. We hope the rumor is true.

TAYLOR'S BAKERY.

Several months ago D. B. Taylor arrived here with his family from Canada and recognizing the favorable situation of the town he was not long in investing quite a sum. His speculations have all been profitable and he persuaded some of his friends to come, and they too have made good investments. But it was not until Mr. Taylor resolved to open a bakery here was he a permanent fixture. He used the best material in the construction of the oven, which cost him nearly $500. Messrs. Beck & Gates were instructed to do all their work with great care. The consequence is that the products of the baker whom Mr. Taylor brought from Portland have been of a superior quality from the very first. Mr. Taylor now has a grocery store and bakery and is doing a thriving business.

JUSTICE COURT.

In the justice court for Independence precinct county of Polk, state of Oregon. Warren Waterhouse, plaintiff vs. S. M. Martin, debts, civil action. Judgment by default for the amount claimed and costs.

H. Griggs, plaintiff vs. S. M. Martin and wife, debts. Judgment by default for amount claimed and costs.

I. M. BUTLER, Justice of the Peace.

AND WILLIAM DOD.

She was an Independence lass. An Willam, on a brief vacation, More pleasantly the time to pass. Spoken of flirtation, And as they talked in twilight dim, And near the time of parting drew, Asked if she'd like to have from him A billet-doux.

Of French this maid knew naught, But doubting not 'twas something new Upon its meaning gravely thought.

Then, in a trice, Upon she turned her pretty head; Her eyes light together drew With purpose plain, and coyly said, "Yes, Billy, do!"

CAROLINE GAGE CO.—On Saturday night one of the largest audiences ever assembled in the opera house greeted this excellent company. To say they all were delighted with the performance does not express it. The song "Oh! What Beautiful Language," by Kent Thomas set the house wild and in answer to encores he sang "We Ought to be Thankful for That," "Down Went Meeting" and "Maybe they Will; but I Doubt It." We understand that within a few weeks this company will return, and we predict a jammed house. It is not often that a community so universally united in praise of actors as in this case. The ladies of the troupe are very pretty and attractive. The parts are all well sustained.

A VIGOROUS KICK.

A Merchant's Wife the Bone of Contention. A Debauchery. A well known merchant who has been greatly benefited by Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, desired to give it to his wife, who was very delicate, but out of caution first consulted his physician. Dr. H. C. Wood of 303 Market street. The doctor who is one of our leading practitioners objected saying he had never seen a sarsaparilla that did not contain potash, which thinned the blood, but his patient did not have any vitality to lose and that what delicate people need is not decreased vitality, but more blood. He consented when assured that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla was directly opposed to the old mistaken blood thinning idea of other sarsaparils and that on the contrary by specific vegetable alteratives it stimulated the excretory organs, promoted digestion, and repaired nutrition, hence crowded new blood and was the very thing for feeble people. The above explains the hundreds of cases in which aged, enfeebled, delicate and run down people, have been built up by Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla after the potash sarsaparils failed. Its effects are creating a sensation.—N. Y. Examiner.
