OUR GIRLS—TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

There's the lovely girl of Dallas, Who would grace a princely palace, And the homely girl of Salem, whose face would stop a clock;

There's the lively miss of Albion, Who will treat a fellow squarely, And the dainty of Kola, so rosy-cheeked and shy;

There's the maid of Buena Vista, Who is dearer than a sister, And Falls City's bunch of sweethearts with a manner frank and free;

There's the young lady who is fair, And the girl of Independence, who is the darling girl for me!

"The Chilians," under the able management of Dr. W. M. Belcher, have been giving their pleasing entertainments at the new Opera house since Wednesday night.

Prof. W. L. McAdams, principal of our public school, informs us there are already 254 pupils now in regular attendance and that by January 1st, or the time the new building is ready for occupancy; there will be at least 300 pupils enrolled upon the school list.

There was a pleasant social gathering at Mrs. W. E. Cressy's on last Wednesday evening. A few friends and neighbors came in and whiled away several pleasant hours in social talk, the enjoyment of some rare music and a number of lively games at cards.

Willard Bevens, of Buena Vista, pleased our editorial staff by his own writing desk—the other day a handful of the largest native hazel nuts we have ever seen. They were little beauties and only recently plucked from the bush.

Services will be held by the Evangelical church in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, Nov. 22d. Miss Alice Williams will sing a solo preceding the service. All invited.

To women who cut stove wood for their overworked (?) husband: I have a cord of wood just suitable for you, viz small dry sticks that can be broken by hand—Wm. Jones.

The index board at the Independence depot reads: To Portland 75 miles. San Francisco, —. Why not give the distance to the latter place? We now have through trains.

A. P. Bonzey, Esq., of San Francisco, came in on Wednesday afternoon's train. Mr. B. has financial interests in this section of country which he is looking after.

We notice in the Oregonian that Miss Estelle Lake, an attendant last year at the Normal School, was married to Mr. W. J. Hillgard, some time last month.

This company (The Chilians) go to Dallas for two nights. Dallas people will do well to take in this show. They are the king laugh makers.

Call on Dr. Belcher at the Opera house, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. He will tell you your disease without asking any questions.

Charley Irvine is at his post again. He and his family have been spending a few days with relatives over at Turner.

Grandma Macaulay returned from Portland last Thursday much improved in health, we are pleased to say.

Miss Katie Fennell, sister of Thos. Fennell, Esq., of this city, arrived here from Denver, Col., on Monday.

Mr. A. B. Alexander of this city has sold 50 tons of wheat chopt to F. Barnekoff of McMinnville.

NORMAL SCHOOL COLUMN.

In charge of The BLONDIS SISTERS. The Vesperettes rendered a very short program Friday evening. The first society paper was read and much appreciated. A member from the Eureka society was present, and a cordial invitation to visit their society meeting was accepted by many of the Vesperettes, who were regaled with a good program. The debate on prohibition versus high license was well handled by both sides. The wit and beauty of the masculine debaters charmed the Vesperettes considerably. The affirmative won.

The Seniors appointed to the duty of speaking in chapel on last Friday were as follows: Miss Anna Powell, who read an excellent essay on Geoffrey Chaucer; Mr. A. L. Briggs, who gave a lecture on protective tariff; and Mr. C. A. Simonton, who in his speech advocated free trade.

Mr. E. J. Halley was elected to the office of director by the Athletic association, and will soon introduce some regular system of exercise. All the young men should find time to take exercise in the gymnasium.

Several magazines and journals are coming to the reading room, and the students, especially those intending to teach, should read them in order that they may be informed on all the current topics of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard, of Clackamas county, were here the latter part of last week visiting their son and daughter, Bert and Belle, students in the Normal.

The Monmouth people are to have a depot at the Motor station. Carpenters are now at work, and the building will be completed soon.

If you want to laugh some out to the faro, "A Sleeping Car," to be given by Miss Barrett on Wednesday evening, Nov. 20th.

We would again respectfully remind the public of the Friday morning exercises. All are invited to attend.—Sixton Class.

Mr. Crow, of Douglas county, visited the Normal on Friday. His son entered school here Monday.

A number of the citizens of Monmouth and vicinity visited our school Tuesday.

The correspondence class feels very grateful to their kind Oberverer critic.

Our Thanksgiving sermon will be delivered by Rev. Johnson, of Salem.

An Important Enterprise. The Board of Trade of this city held a special meeting on last Monday evening. The meeting was of more than usual interest, because of the presence before the board of Messrs. Blum and Taylor, representatives of an eastern real estate syndicate. Mr. Blum explained that he and his colleague were here for the purpose of introducing immigration into the State; they were here in the interest of colonization. Said he had two hundred families ready to come to Oregon. A committee was appointed to furnish escorts for the gentlemen through the county. This is an important move in the direction of developing the resources of this county, and the Independence Board of Trade is wide awake to the necessity of aiding and abetting all such enterprises by every means within its power. Independence is always ready to step to the front in pushing any movement calculated to benefit the community at large.

Painful Accident. Mr. Irvine Claggett, a prominent citizen of Independence, received a bad cut from a circular saw on Wednesday morning. Mr. C. has been operating a small portable sawmill some four miles below this city for the last five months, and on the morning the accident occurred was trimming up some boards on the edging saw when he slipped and his coat became entangled in the running gear of the machinery he was dragged on to the saw, which cut a deep perpendicular gash along his left thigh some six inches in length and perhaps two inches in depth. Surgical aid was called in so soon as possible, and Mr. C. is resting comparatively easy. The hurt is not necessarily serious, but will confine the unfortunate man to his room for ten days or more.

Thanksgiving Services. The union Thanksgiving services will be held this year in the Presbyterian Church, at 11 A. M., on Thanksgiving day. Rev. A. J. Hunsaker will preach the sermon. The music will be under the direction of M. L. White. All the choirs of the different churches are requested to meet at the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening before, at 7 P. M. for rehearsal.

Grange Meeting. The members of Oak View Grange will please take notice that a special meeting of said grange will take place on Saturday, 27th inst. Matters of great importance will come before the meeting. By order of the master.

Thanksgiving Concert. There will be a concert at the McCoy church on Thanksgiving evening. Extra care has been taken in the selection of music. Everybody is invited. Admission, 25 cents.

A. B. Atkins has sold the remaining two lots of the Wing property to J. N. Jones for $800. Mr. A. has made within a year a net gain of $800 on the original purchase price. Who says it doesn't pay to invest in real estate in Independence?

The sermon abstracts were handed in to late on Monday that it was impossible to put them in this paper. They will probably appear in the West Star.

P. W. Halley has sold his Seattle property for nearly double its original cost.

J. P. Irvine went down to McMinnville Tuesday, on a business trip.

Miss Kisor returned last Tuesday from a visit to Corvallis.

Try Pacific Granules for all liver trouble every bottle guaranteed.

THROUGHOUT THE COUNTY.

Work on the new saw-mill is progressing nicely. Most of the machinery has been placed in position and the brick work is now being done about the boiler. The boom has been put across the pond and everything is in readiness to begin dumping logs into the water. Mr. Hobart is pushing work on his tramway and has the track about completed from the mill to a very nice lot of timber on the land of Robert Howe, about one mile west of the mill. Quite a little village has sprung up here. Several small houses and a tent or two are inhabited by loggers, who already have several thousand feet of logs at the dump ready for transportation to the mill. Should the favorable weather hold out, it is confidently expected that within ten days or two weeks Mr. Hobart will be running logs over the road, and Mr. Martin will be cutting them into lumber at his new sawmill. Speed the day.—Observer.

A late arrival in Dallas from Kansas is Rev. C. L. Lamar, an old friend of Rev. Bowker. He arrived on Tuesday, when the sun was shining so brightly, and to an Oberverer man he expressed himself surprised, as he had always understood that heavy rains set in about the first of November, and for six months the sun was not visible. Mr. Lamar has come to Oregon to remain.—Observer.

A train load of hops was shipped the other day direct to London, England, and consisted of 75 bales from Mt. Angel, 36 from Dayton, 426 from Independence, and 506 from Huttville.—Hemlock.

[This is a pretty good showing for Independence. The truth is we have as fine hop land as can be found anywhere in the State.—Ed.]

Elder H. W. Lyle has gone to California to fill an appointment in the ministerial field.

A car load of hops was shipped from Monmouth one day last week by Chinese dealers.

City election week from Monday. J. P. Irvine, Esq., returned from a business trip to Portland, on last Saturday.

Say! Where did you get that watch? Why of course I bought it of H. R. Patterson and on the installment plan too—No trouble to own a watch that way.

A FLYING TRIP TO DALLAS.

Growth of the City—Its Business—General Prosperity etc. By mutual consent of their respective inhabitants as well as by the county surveyor's measuring rod, the two leading towns of Polk county are separated by a geographical space of some eleven miles, and as these ambitious little cities increase in importance the more lively becomes their race for commercial precedence and popular applause. Albeit, this rivalry has not always been of a generous or noble character, but of late years the old spirit of ungenerous hostility is fast dying out, and a better feeling is happily taking its place. Early on Friday morning (7th instant), we boarded the N. W. Gange train at Monmouth en route for the County Seat of Polk county. Among the passengers on board we were pleased to note from N. L. Butler, of Monmouth. Of course, it goes without saying, the affable Judge was brim full of talk, and the much vexed mortgage tax law and county assessment laws quite naturally came up for discussion. The Judge has very positive, but broad views upon these questions, and the people of Oregon will be sure to hear from him in the next legislature. Judge Butler is a man of more than average mental calibre, as man of ability go, and he is sure to command both legislative and public attention.

A shrill whistle—down brakes—and we are at Dallas. We had not visited the city before for some three years, and were pleased to note the marked changes that had taken place. An air of thrift and enterprise was evident on every hand. A number of neat, substantial cottages were in active progress of completion in various parts of the city, while we also found a splendid brick building going up on the corner where Tom Richmond's old livery stable use to stand. This fine structure is the property of the L. O. O. F. Lodge, and Messrs. Miller and Morrison—Uncle Lige Miller and Cags Morrison, as they are familiarly known. The O. F. building is 34 x 70 foundation and two stories high; the lower room will be occupied for mercantile purposes, and up stairs for Old Fellows' hall and reading room. The Miller-Morrison building is 30 x 70 foundation, and two stories high. Mr. Morrison will use the lower story for his agricultural business, while the upper story will be subdivided into office rooms. The Polk County Oberverer will soon move its plant into this building. Mr. Morrison took special pride in showing us around and about his building, and in pointing out to our verdant eye the many new improvements that had replaced the old landmarks.

The J. M. Campbell brick is another notable building of Dallas. Mr. C. is an old timer who has gradually accumulated a competence by industry and close attention to business. He came to Dallas a poor man a way long in the sixties, we think, but a to-day independent of the world, and well satisfied that Oregon is a good country for the poor man. Mr. C.'s building is two stories high, 31 x 70 foundation, and was erected in 1887. The A. K. Wilson building is a splendid brick structure, two stories high, and "chuck" full of business from basement to garret. Eugene Hyster a young and successful dry goods merchant, and Mark Hyster a young young student, and last but not least of the Hyster brothers, J. Garay Hyster the irrepressible grocer, carry on their business in this block, which has the legend "1889" carved out in his relief upon its front.

But the Brown-Crider block is one of the largest and most substantial brick buildings in the City. Everybody in Polk county knows W. C. Brown, whose life and fortunes have been identified with this county ever since the early pioneer days. We can remember when Mr. Brown was comparatively a poor man, but he is to-day one of Polk county's most wealthy and substantial citizens. He is pre-eminently a self-made man, and by hard physical and still harder mental toil has made his way from poverty to comparative opulence. Mr. B. has upon one or two occasions represented Polk county in the halls of the State legislature, and he invariably discharged his official duties with honor to himself and to the satisfaction of his constituents. The La Creole Academy is a neat and substantial structure, or will be when completed. The work on this building has progressed very slowly, because of the difficulty in procuring building material. Among other buildings we only have time to mention, in passing, is the large hotel, the City Hall, district school building and the new M. E. church. These buildings present a very creditable appearance, and bespeak energy and thrift on the part of the people of Dallas. We also noticed, a number of large, and neatly finished residences, and a general air of thrift about the city, not at all observable in many towns of more pretensions, but really less active growth.

We are glad to see our sister city moving along so smoothly, for what is a benefit to one part of the county is of mutual help to all. Polk county is geographically and commercially so situated that it cannot grow in segments, one locality prosper and an other stand still, or deteriorate. The tendency is a movement of the whole along the line of advancement, the development is spontaneous and general, not sporadic and isolated. And it is only men of narrow views and self-interested and prejudicial motives who will seek to sow the seeds of discord, where the spirit of unity and reciprocal interests should exist. Narrowness destroys, catholicity broadens a community. The mutual interests of both Dallas and Independence are in the direction of a better understanding, and a more cordial feeling towards each other. And we believe that the heart of the great majority of the people of both places is in sympathy with the above sentiment. Personally, we enjoyed a pleasant visit, and shook hands with old friends whom we had not met before for many a year.
