REFORM IDEAS.

The Capital Journal has a word or two to say on the class of journalists who in endeavoring to elevate mankind make their papers the man. a sort of moral reform organ, A paper that is never outspoken in its condemnation of vice has no influence in its utterance. Each case must be a personal application to effect a reform. It shows the coward when men are screened from publicity in their evil deeds out of consideration for their feelings and our own experience is that whenour own experience is that when-makes a great blunder in taking his ever the people should know the truth it is best to tell it, let the bolt strike where it may.

The Journal goes on to say:

A glaring example of this style of a newspaper moralist comes to our table

Gov. Sylvester Pennoyer has again made himself famous not only in Oregon, not only in these United States, but in all the civilized world. A reporter in Portland obtained his confidence and to him he stated that he would remain in Salem, and expect the president of the United States to pay his respects to him, instead of doing as other governors, meeting the president and escorting him from the state line. The interview was published, and has created much comment. No doubt Govenor Pennoyer wishes he had the power of some rulers that he might behead that reporter and suppress publication of that interview but this is free America and he can not. As governor of Oregon he is a servant of the people of Oregon and should do or say nothing to make himself or the state a subject of either ridicule or censure. Gov. Pennoyer has done both. While it is true that he has a moral right to refuse to receive the pres-

Trudged all the way on foot, over mountain and through morass, carrying knapsack and gun, slept on brush heaps to keep out of the mud, caught cold, from the effects of which his friends thought he would never recover. Lingering with slow consumption for many years, he saw Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised in a country hewapaper, and he determined to try it. A few bottles worked a change; six months' continued usecured him. Always too independent to ask his country for a pension, he now says he needs none. He helped save his country, he sixed himself!
