Raw sugar is free of duty, but the refined article pays a duty of a half cent a pound. This gives the sugar trust a chance, and it is taking advantage of that half cent. The trust controls every refinery in the United States, and is the only buyer of raw sugar. It gets the benefit of the law, for it buys its raw material in a market that is free to all the world, and sells its finished product in a market in which all competition is stifled by law. Trusts are the logical outgrowth of tariffs, and even Republican papers are beginning to admit the fact. Recently the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, one of the foremost Republican journals of the country, advocated the removal of the remaining half-cent tax on rerefined sugar, giving for a reason that without this duty the trust could not exist.

A Pioneer's Experience With Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I am a pioneer in this country, having been here 30 years. Four years agony little son Ellery became blood poisoned by impure virus in vaccination. His arm swelled ter ribly, causing great agony; Physicians said the arm must be amputated, and even then his recovery would be doubtful. One day I read about a blood purifier new to me, I read about a blood purifier new to me, and was surprised to learn that it was prespared by C. I. Hood, with whom I used to to school in Chelsea, Vi. I decided to have my boy try Hood's Barsaparilla, and was much gratified when it seemed to help him. He continued to grow better as we gave him the Barsaparilla, and having used to bottles is now controlly cured. As Hood's sarsaparilla has accomplished such wonderful results. I process M.
