Richardson's "Diseases of Modern Life"-The action of ammonia on the body is that of an irritant and it tends to hold the blood in a state of fluidity. It also interferes with the process of oxidation of organic matter so that it becomes an antiseptic, and it rapidly decomposes that allotropic condition of oxygen which is called ozone. Thus ammonia present in the atmosphere daily respired by living beings, is injurious and we see its effects in the pallor and feebleness of many who dwell in houses in the air of which amm always present-houses over stables, for example, or in close proximity to
