The sole of the foot of an ordinary New York newsboy is not a very easy thing for even the sharpest needle to pierce, and the pain of the operation was much increased. While it was going on a member of the New York fire patrol entered and sitting himself in a chair waited with evident impatience for his turn to arrive. The sewing fin ished, the foot was bandaged, and the young Styrax took up his burden.

The Dewey System.

The Dewey system of cataloguing a library was devised by Mr. Melvil Dewey, at present director of the state library. In it all books are classified into a certain number of principal subjects. which, in alphabetical order, receive numbers; for instance, astronomy may be 1. Then the subjects are divided, and each division receives a decimal; the history of astronomy is numbered

After these come, when necessary, The system, theoretically, is perfect; practically it is cumbrous, and, except to the cataloguer, unsatisfactory. Adapted in various ways, it is used in many libraries, however.—New York Sun.

The Latest flypnoile Unen-The latest hypotic yarn from the Charite hospital, Paris, casts all its predecessors into the shade. Dr. Luys, it appears, has been making experiments in relation to what be calls the "exteriorization" of the human body, and it is asserted that he succeeded in transferring the sensibility of a hypnotized woman into a tumbler of water. When the water was touched the woman winced. and when it was swallowed she went into a deatily swoon. How the drinker felt with another person's sensibilities in his vitals is not stated. Dr. Luys next undertook to transfer sensibility from the woman to her pho tograph, and succeeded so admirably that when he stuck a pin into the picture the woman acreamed. Not only this, but the mark of a scratch appeared upon her hand in exactly the spot where the pin had been applied to the photograph. It is lucky for Dr. Luys that he is living in the Nineteenth century, for many an old woman has been hanged and burned for doing this sort of thing. - Denver Sun,

The Loss in Gold Coin.

A remarkable example of the loss of gold by reason of abrasion came to the notice of the Chicago customs officials the other day. George W. Sheldon & Co. sent $15,000 in gold to the collector to pay duties. The sum was in equal amounts, made up of $5, $10 and $20 pieces. The teller found that the confooted up all right taken at its face value, and it was sent over to the subtreasury Protty soon word came back to the collector that the $15,000 in gold was $1,935 short weight and the deficit come in, attracted by the noise.
