A PETITION is being circulated in Amity asking the city council to abolish the liquor licence altogether.

Our city council has lately been a very popular body judging from the large attendance at their semi-monthly meetings. The several interests are anxious to know what they do and who does it.

OVER fifty saloons have gone out of business since the first of the year in Portland, and a wholesale liquor dealer says he thinks many more will close April 1st, and he favors a license of $400 a quarter, so that there may be still fewer saloons. He thinks it would be better for the business to shut up the little concerns.

VIEWED from every standpoint, political, economic, social and moral, the liquor traffic is the prolific parent of nearly all the evil that now curses the world. There is no more important question now before the public; none that is so closely allied to our homes, or more deeply affects the welfare of mankind.

WOMEN have been requested to remove their large hats when in a public hall, church or theater, so as not to obstruct the view of those behind them. Now, if hoops are to be worn they should be made collapsible so others can have a place to put their feet or else women will monopolize the whole territory.—Eugene Register. This is a good suggestion and something of the same kind should be applied to foreign advertisers who want so much space in newspapers.

A BILL passed the house of the Washington legislature last week, says the Register, appropriating $2,000,000 for the erection of a new capital building at Olympia. That legislature has made itself the tool of "snap" seekers and corporations, and the people of that state may well feel relieved when an adjournment takes place. One million dollars would erect a commodious, substantial and elegant structure, but provision has been made by these legislators for another million dollars to go into the pockets of a few schemers who will take a part in expending the appropriations.

A FUNNY man who asked the question "Where is the state of matrimony?" received this explanatory answer: It is bounded on one side by hugging and kissing, and by cradles and babies on the other. Its chief products are babies, broomsticks and staying out late of nights. It was discovered by Adam and Eve while trying to find a passage out of Paradise; the climate is rather sultry until you pass the tropics of housekeeping, then squally weather sets in in sufficient power to keep all hands as cool as cucumbers. For the principal roads leading to this state consult the first pair of blue eyes you run against.

The Columbian souvenir half dollar which many publishers have accepted for World's Fair advertising at one dollar each, has proved a hoodoo. Of the entire issue, valued by the Columbian Exposition directors at $5,000,000, just $827,000 worth of the pretty pieces have been sold. The balance is left in kegs in the safety vaults. Some how or other the coins do not seem to take. The great demand for them which was so confidently expected has failed to materialize, and it is not at all improbable that in the near future the price will drop from one dollar to their face value, or at least near it. If the price is reduced it will certainly be a great injustice to the many thousands of people who have purchased them at the advanced price.

One of our farmers who is in town this week doing jury duty, states that he believes if there are any persons living who are justified in raising a kick the farmers are, for kicking against the jury system the way it is carried out. He states that the farmers are drawn for jury duty and are compelled to serve, though business demands their presence at home, while the business men of the towns are not drawn, or if they are they get excused from duty on the plea that their business demands their personal attention. We do not know but what the gentleman is right, and though it is the duty of every citizen to serve willingly when drawn for such purposes, the fact should not be overlooked that the farmers have business which demands their personal attention as well as others. The March and June terms of the circuit court in this county come in the farmer's busiest season.—Eugene Register.

Most anybody would build a motor line from Salem to Independence for a cash subsidy of $65,000 from the people of Salem.—Salem Statesman.

WELL then why don't "most anybody" get in and build it. Do you think the people over in Polk are going to build the road themselves and then let all the trade that would go to Salem over it, be diverted from them. If anybody wants to build the road and give its benefits to Salem free, hunt them up. Salem always wants someone to do it all and they sit back and hold the sack. In this case Salem must do her part or no railroad. Talk is cheap, but it takes money to build motor lines. Make a proposition yourself.

A well informed lady says the large hoop skirts now about to come in fashion will prevent over-crowding of street cars; hence less danger of fatal accidents. Good idea that!

The "dog catcher" in Independence seems to be slack in his duties. Let us have more collars with a license number, or else less dogs.

The cow ordinance here is being strictly enforced and is a great benefit to the town.

Choral Union.

W. W. Davis, a very fine bass singer from Albany, is desirous of forming a permanent musical society here in Independence, having the purpose in view of giving a grand chorus entertainment at some time in the near future. He will be assisted by his wife at the entertainment, who has a mezzo-soprano voice. In addition to the training of the voice, rudiments of music will also be taught. It will be necessary that the class contain at least twenty persons and the singers of Independence are invited to leave their names with Miss Essie Robertson, at the Post office next week, and as soon as twenty names have been secured, Mr. Davis will come and organize the class. Twelve lessons will constitute the course, two lessons a week, and the rate of tuition has been placed very low. Mr. Davis is also an expert performer on the piano and organ.

Nature's Surest Ally.

If nature did not struggle against disease, even in weakly constitutions, swift indeed would be the course of a malady to its fatal termination. While nature thus struggles let us, lest worse befall us, aid her efforts with judicious medicinal help. Experience must be our guide in battles with disease, and that "lamp to our feet" indicates Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a safe, tried and thoroughly ally of nature. If the blood be infected with bile, if the bowels and stomach are inactive, if the kidneys fail to expel impurities of which they are the natural outlet a course of the Bitters is the surest reliance of the sufferer, one, moreover, that is sanctioned by professional endorsement and use for nearly half a century. No American or foreign remedy has earned greater distinction as a remedy for and preventive of chronic liver complaint, malaria, constipation, kidney and rheumatic trouble and debility.

Peculiar
In Combination, Proportion and Process of preparation, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.
Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 does one dollar." Other medicines require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.
Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered."
Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.
Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has attained such popularity in so short a time. It is Peculiar to Itself.
Peculiar in the originality and effectiveness of its advertising, its methods are constantly being copied by competitors.
Peculiar in the way it wins the people's confidence, one bottle always sells another.
