

FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1893.

TAKE NOTICE!

On and after July 1st, 1893, all subscribers who desire the WEST SIDE to be sent after their subscription expires, must leave word at this office, and their names on the mailing list will be so marked that before the paper is stopped a notice will be mailed asking for a renewal. All others, not so marked, will be stopped at expiration of time without notice.

ARE we going to have a celebration July 4th? Some think that as we have the June races we should be content this year and go to Dallas or Salem to celebrate.

FROM OLD NEW HAMPSHIRE.

BRADFORD, N. H., Apr. 17, 1893.

DEAR WEST SIDE:

It has been some time since I have dropped you a line, but the truth is that procrastination, that old thief, seized hold of my pen, and would not allow me to dictate the ideas that for some time past have been struggling for utterance. But I believe that I have partially succeeded in throwing off his iron grasp, and I will try and chronicle a few items that I hope may be of interest to you.

PLENTY OF SNOW.

In the first place, surprising as it may seem to an Oregonian, I will say that King Winter has not entirely relaxed his hold upon New England. Yesterday we had a snowstorm, and this morning the ground was covered with a white coat of snow. Besides, the old snow has not all gone yet. It is still quite deep in the timber, and seems very reluctant about taking its departure. Still every day the sun's rays become more and more direct, so that sooner or later it must take its final leave for the summer.

MAPLE SUGAR.

The maple sugar season is now in full blast, and invitations to "Sugaring Off Parties" are quite often in order.

A PLEASURE TRIP.

Last week, in company with some of my relatives here in Bradford, I visited Boston, "The Hub," around which old New England revolves. We also extended our trip to Cape Ann, one of the great summer resorts of Massachusetts, an account of which I will try and give you in this communication.

HISTORICAL PLACES.

While in Boston I visited the principal places of historical interest including the old State House, the old South and Park Street churches, and Bunker Hill Monument in the adjoining suburb of Charlestown.

THE OLD STATE HOUSE.

This old place cannot fail to interest the seeker for curiosities, for it is now filled with museum collections, which date way back to the earliest settlement of Boston, and the towns adjoining thereto. Here I saw the original deed to the land upon which this old State House now stands, surrounded by solid business blocks and costly buildings, and which was deeded for the sum of twenty shillings by the mother of Jno. Hancock (one of the well-known signers of the Declaration of Independence) for a calf pasture in 1698. There are also old letters and documents signed by John Hancock, and others by Benjamin Franklin. Here may be seen the scarlet velvet coat worn by the former, and the silver knee-buckles worn by the latter; an old spoon mould for running powder spoons brought over by the Mayflower; old punch bowls used in the times before and during the revolution; swords and guns used during the same eventful periods; cannon balls fired by the Bonhomme Richard during Paul Jones' memorable naval engagement with the Serapis near the coast of France; epaulets of distinguished soldiers during the colonial period; medals awarded by the king of England, and others by the Continental congress for services rendered, and I might go on and give an almost endless list of articles on exhibition in this old State House in Boston, and all of them having a history attached that could not fail to be interesting and instructive.

PICTURES OF DISTINGUISHED PEOPLE.

I was also much interested in the collection of old oil paintings, that were hanging on the walls. These contained pictures of some of the most distinguished men and women of Boston during colonial times, and most of them were painted during the lifetime of the person represented. Models of ancient houses that once stood in Cambridge, Boston, and Plymouth, among them the homes of Daniel Webster and John Adams, can be seen here. These collections have been made by the Historical Society of Boston, which at the time we visited this old building was holding one of its regular meetings in the old "Assembly Chamber." One of the members, Col. W. Lee, was delivering a lecture on the life of John Winthrop, which we found very interesting. The members of the society are nearly all elderly people, and it is made up of the oldest and best scholars of the city and state.

BUNKER HILL MONUMENT.

Our trip to Charleston and ascent to the summit of Bunker Hill Monument must not be omitted. This monument return home we found that the total distance traveled by myself and wife, footed up 340 miles. The expenses of our far, traveling with a mileage book over the Boston and Maine railroad, amounted to $10.80 or two cents per mile. Such is the difference in railroad fares between the East and the West.

With best wishes I remain,
Very truly yours,
W. E. CHESSEY.

Sol Crowley to S D Tucker 11 acres in 17 s 4 w; 41, 105

George Skinner to J S Cooper lot in Monmouth; $300

The Druggists

In Lowell, Mass., agree in saying that they sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of any other blood purifier. For instance, F. C. Goodwin: I sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than all other blood purifiers. A. W. Dows & Co.: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines. C. F. Blaceman: We sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of any other. Mearns & Shaw: With us the sale of Hood's is 10 to 1 of any other kind. F. & E. Bailey & Co.: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines. C. A. Swan: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines we have. Its sale increases every year. F. F. Moody: We sell twice as much of Hood's Sarsaparilla as of anything similar. C. A. Swan: Hood's is the most popular Sarsaparilla of the day. Thirty other druggists speak similarly. This popularity at home, where Hood's Sarsaparilla and its proprietors have been known for many years, could not continue if the medicine did not possess merit. And these facts should certainly convince people in other sections of the country that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good, reliable medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by druggists. At its for $1. Prepared only by C. HOOD & CO., Apolonia, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

READ THIS!

Writing materials
Hair brushes
Envelopes
Eye shades
Language tablets
Eagle pencils
Rubber bands
Celluloid in all shades
Lead pencils
Oranges
Dressing cases
Favorite sewing machines
Eureka tablets
Lemons
Tennis sets
Eleonora paperete
Roasted peanuts

EVERY DAY IN THE WEEK.

FO SALE BY
WHEELER & CLODFELTER
Independence, Or.

A WORD TO BREEDERS.

Prices of late for small and medium-sized horses are so low that there is no paying market for them. This is, in a measure, on account of the introduction of electricity and cable lines for city street cars in place of horses, but there is an active demand for good large draught horses in all cities, therefore we cannot afford to breed to grades or mongrels with expectation of getting horses that are saleable. In this progressive age we must either breed to some of the improved draught breeds, or the Thoroughbred or Standard bred horse. But with the Thoroughbreds and trotters, they must be developed before they are saleable as race horses or drivers, but the draught colt, after two years of age, will pay its keeping on the farm until it is marketable at prices that will pay well for the cost of production.

NAILSTONE WILLIAM
NO. 6199.

THE THOROUGH ENGLISH PURE STALLION. Registered in the American Shire Association Stud Book, Vol. (5) Two, and Imported by Burgess Bros., of Waukegan, Illinois.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE

NAILSTONE WILLIAM, 6199, is a blood bay; weighs 1200 lbs; stand 17 hands high; was foaled in 1888. Sired by Jason White, of Tringstone Leas, England. Sired by Big Dan Dan, Dan Depper, by William the Conqueror, 2145, by Dan, 404, sire Scotch, 1611, dan Repton Madam, Vol. IV, by William the Conqueror, 2145, Nellie 151, sire Lincolnsire Lad, Harrow, dan Madeline, 151, by William the Conqueror, 2145, sire Westminster, Dan by William the Conqueror, 2145, by William the Conqueror, 2145, by Westminster, 182, by Black legs, 142, by Derbyshire, 87, by Housed Tom, 1002, by John Bull, Fisher's Black Horse.

NAILSTONE WILLIAM, No. 6199, will make the season at 180 DALLAN Wednesdays and Thursdays, and the balance of the time at INDEPENDENCE, Polk county, Or.

TERMS: Insurance, $15. Season, $10. Payable at close of season. If mare does when due time is known to be in foal. All care will be taken to prevent accidents, but will be responsible for none.

The get of NAILSTONE WILLIAM is worthy of more than a passing notice to breeders of draught horses.

W. W. PERCIVAL,
Independence, Oregon.

The Leading IMPLEMENT Dealer

J. F. O'DONNELL

The Leading HARDWARE Dealer

Carries the largest stock of

Buggies, Carriages, Phaetons, Jump Seat Buggy and Carts,

Seeders, Drills, Chilled and Steel Plows, Ridding and Walking Cultivators, Planet Jr. Garden Drills, Sulkey and Gang Plows, Aspen wall Potato Planters, Digs, Levers, and Spring-tooth harrows.

FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1893.

TAKE NOTICE!

On and after July 1st, 1893, all subscribers who desire the WEST SIDE to be sent after their subscription expires, must leave word at this office, and their names on the mailing list will be so marked that before the paper is stopped a notice will be mailed asking for a renewal. All others, not so marked, will be stopped at expiration of time without notice.

ARE we going to have a celebration July 4th? Some think that as we have the June races we should be content this year and go to Dallas or Salem to celebrate.

FROM OLD NEW HAMPSHIRE.

BRADFORD, N. H., Apr. 17, 1893.

DEAR WEST SIDE:

It has been some time since I have dropped you a line, but the truth is that procrastination, that old thief, seized hold of my pen, and would not allow me to dictate the ideas that for some time past have been struggling for utterance. But I believe that I have partially succeeded in throwing off his iron grasp, and I will try and chronicle a few items that I hope may be of interest to you.

PLENTY OF SNOW.

In the first place, surprising as it may seem to an Oregonian, I will say that King Winter has not entirely relaxed his hold upon New England. Yesterday we had a snowstorm, and this morning the ground was covered with a white coat of snow. Besides, the old snow has not all gone yet. It is still quite deep in the timber, and seems very reluctant about taking its departure. Still every day the sun's rays become more and more direct, so that sooner or later it must take its final leave for the summer.

MAPLE SUGAR.

The maple sugar season is now in full blast, and invitations to "Sugaring Off Parties" are quite often in order.

A PLEASURE TRIP.

Last week, in company with some of my relatives here in Bradford, I visited Boston, "The Hub," around which old New England revolves. We also extended our trip to Cape Ann, one of the great summer resorts of Massachusetts, an account of which I will try and give you in this communication.

HISTORICAL PLACES.

While in Boston I visited the principal places of historical interest including the old State House, the old South and Park Street churches, and Bunker Hill Monument in the adjoining suburb of Charlestown.

THE OLD STATE HOUSE.

This old place cannot fail to interest the seeker for curiosities, for it is now filled with museum collections, which date way back to the earliest settlement of Boston, and the towns adjoining thereto. Here I saw the original deed to the land upon which this old State House now stands, surrounded by solid business blocks and costly buildings, and which was deeded for the sum of twenty shillings by the mother of Jno. Hancock (one of the well-known signers of the Declaration of Independence) for a calf pasture in 1698. There are also old letters and documents signed by John Hancock, and others by Benjamin Franklin. Here may be seen the scarlet velvet coat worn by the former, and the silver knee-buckles worn by the latter; an old spoon mould for running powder spoons brought over by the Mayflower; old punch bowls used in the times before and during the revolution; swords and guns used during the same eventful periods; cannon balls fired by the Bonhomme Richard during Paul Jones' memorable naval engagement with the Serapis near the coast of France; epaulets of distinguished soldiers during the colonial period; medals awarded by the king of England, and others by the Continental congress for services rendered, and I might go on and give an almost endless list of articles on exhibition in this old State House in Boston, and all of them having a history attached that could not fail to be interesting and instructive.

PICTURES OF DISTINGUISHED PEOPLE.

I was also much interested in the collection of old oil paintings, that were hanging on the walls. These contained pictures of some of the most distinguished men and women of Boston during colonial times, and most of them were painted during the lifetime of the person represented. Models of ancient houses that once stood in Cambridge, Boston, and Plymouth, among them the homes of Daniel Webster and John Adams, can be seen here. These collections have been made by the Historical Society of Boston, which at the time we visited this old building was holding one of its regular meetings in the old "Assembly Chamber." One of the members, Col. W. Lee, was delivering a lecture on the life of John Winthrop, which we found very interesting. The members of the society are nearly all elderly people, and it is made up of the oldest and best scholars of the city and state.

BUNKER HILL MONUMENT.

Our trip to Charleston and ascent to the summit of Bunker Hill Monument must not be omitted. This monument return home we found that the total distance traveled by myself and wife, footed up 340 miles. The expenses of our far, traveling with a mileage book over the Boston and Maine railroad, amounted to $10.80 or two cents per mile. Such is the difference in railroad fares between the East and the West.

With best wishes I remain,
Very truly yours,
W. E. CHESSEY.

Sol Crowley to S D Tucker 11 acres in 17 s 4 w; 41, 105

George Skinner to J S Cooper lot in Monmouth; $300

The Druggists

In Lowell, Mass., agree in saying that they sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of any other blood purifier. For instance, F. C. Goodwin: I sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than all other blood purifiers. A. W. Dows & Co.: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines. C. F. Blaceman: We sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of any other. Mearns & Shaw: With us the sale of Hood's is 10 to 1 of any other kind. F. & E. Bailey & Co.: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines. C. A. Swan: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines we have. Its sale increases every year. F. F. Moody: We sell twice as much of Hood's Sarsaparilla as of anything similar. C. A. Swan: Hood's is the most popular Sarsaparilla of the day. Thirty other druggists speak similarly. This popularity at home, where Hood's Sarsaparilla and its proprietors have been known for many years, could not continue if the medicine did not possess merit. And these facts should certainly convince people in other sections of the country that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good, reliable medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by druggists. At its for $1. Prepared only by C. HOOD & CO., Apolonia, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

READ THIS!

Writing materials
Hair brushes
Envelopes
Eye shades
Language tablets
Eagle pencils
Rubber bands
Celluloid in all shades
Lead pencils
Oranges
Dressing cases
Favorite sewing machines
Eureka tablets
Lemons
Tennis sets
Eleonora paperete
Roasted peanuts

EVERY DAY IN THE WEEK.

FO SALE BY
WHEELER & CLODFELTER
Independence, Or.

A WORD TO BREEDERS.

Prices of late for small and medium-sized horses are so low that there is no paying market for them. This is, in a measure, on account of the introduction of electricity and cable lines for city street cars in place of horses, but there is an active demand for good large draught horses in all cities, therefore we cannot afford to breed to grades or mongrels with expectation of getting horses that are saleable. In this progressive age we must either breed to some of the improved draught breeds, or the Thoroughbred or Standard bred horse. But with the Thoroughbreds and trotters, they must be developed before they are saleable as race horses or drivers, but the draught colt, after two years of age, will pay its keeping on the farm until it is marketable at prices that will pay well for the cost of production.

NAILSTONE WILLIAM
NO. 6199.

THE THOROUGH ENGLISH PURE STALLION. Registered in the American Shire Association Stud Book, Vol. (5) Two, and Imported by Burgess Bros., of Waukegan, Illinois.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE

NAILSTONE WILLIAM, 6199, is a blood bay; weighs 1200 lbs; stand 17 hands high; was foaled in 1888. Sired by Jason White, of Tringstone Leas, England. Sired by Big Dan Dan, Dan Depper, by William the Conqueror, 2145, by Dan, 404, sire Scotch, 1611, dan Repton Madam, Vol. IV, by William the Conqueror, 2145, Nellie 151, sire Lincolnsire Lad, Harrow, dan Madeline, 151, by William the Conqueror, 2145, sire Westminster, Dan by William the Conqueror, 2145, by William the Conqueror, 2145, by Westminster, 182, by Black legs, 142, by Derbyshire, 87, by Housed Tom, 1002, by John Bull, Fisher's Black Horse.

NAILSTONE WILLIAM, No. 6199, will make the season at 180 DALLAN Wednesdays and Thursdays, and the balance of the time at INDEPENDENCE, Polk county, Or.

TERMS: Insurance, $15. Season, $10. Payable at close of season. If mare does when due time is known to be in foal. All care will be taken to prevent accidents, but will be responsible for none.

The get of NAILSTONE WILLIAM is worthy of more than a passing notice to breeders of draught horses.

W. W. PERCIVAL,
Independence, Oregon.

The Leading IMPLEMENT Dealer

J. F. O'DONNELL

The Leading HARDWARE Dealer

Carries the largest stock of

Buggies, Carriages, Phaetons, Jump Seat Buggy and Carts,

Seeders, Drills, Chilled and Steel Plows, Ridding and Walking Cultivators, Planet Jr. Garden Drills, Sulkey and Gang Plows, Aspen wall Potato Planters, Digs, Levers, and Spring-tooth harrows.

FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1893.

TAKE NOTICE!

On and after July 1st, 1893, all subscribers who desire the WEST SIDE to be sent after their subscription expires, must leave word at this office, and their names on the mailing list will be so marked that before the paper is stopped a notice will be mailed asking for a renewal. All others, not so marked, will be stopped at expiration of time without notice.

ARE we going to have a celebration July 4th? Some think that as we have the June races we should be content this year and go to Dallas or Salem to celebrate.

FROM OLD NEW HAMPSHIRE.

BRADFORD, N. H., Apr. 17, 1893.

DEAR WEST SIDE:

It has been some time since I have dropped you a line, but the truth is that procrastination, that old thief, seized hold of my pen, and would not allow me to dictate the ideas that for some time past have been struggling for utterance. But I believe that I have partially succeeded in throwing off his iron grasp, and I will try and chronicle a few items that I hope may be of interest to you.

PLENTY OF SNOW.

In the first place, surprising as it may seem to an Oregonian, I will say that King Winter has not entirely relaxed his hold upon New England. Yesterday we had a snowstorm, and this morning the ground was covered with a white coat of snow. Besides, the old snow has not all gone yet. It is still quite deep in the timber, and seems very reluctant about taking its departure. Still every day the sun's rays become more and more direct, so that sooner or later it must take its final leave for the summer.

MAPLE SUGAR.

The maple sugar season is now in full blast, and invitations to "Sugaring Off Parties" are quite often in order.

A PLEASURE TRIP.

Last week, in company with some of my relatives here in Bradford, I visited Boston, "The Hub," around which old New England revolves. We also extended our trip to Cape Ann, one of the great summer resorts of Massachusetts, an account of which I will try and give you in this communication.

HISTORICAL PLACES.

While in Boston I visited the principal places of historical interest including the old State House, the old South and Park Street churches, and Bunker Hill Monument in the adjoining suburb of Charlestown.

THE OLD STATE HOUSE.

This old place cannot fail to interest the seeker for curiosities, for it is now filled with museum collections, which date way back to the earliest settlement of Boston, and the towns adjoining thereto. Here I saw the original deed to the land upon which this old State House now stands, surrounded by solid business blocks and costly buildings, and which was deeded for the sum of twenty shillings by the mother of Jno. Hancock (one of the well-known signers of the Declaration of Independence) for a calf pasture in 1698. There are also old letters and documents signed by John Hancock, and others by Benjamin Franklin. Here may be seen the scarlet velvet coat worn by the former, and the silver knee-buckles worn by the latter; an old spoon mould for running powder spoons brought over by the Mayflower; old punch bowls used in the times before and during the revolution; swords and guns used during the same eventful periods; cannon balls fired by the Bonhomme Richard during Paul Jones' memorable naval engagement with the Serapis near the coast of France; epaulets of distinguished soldiers during the colonial period; medals awarded by the king of England, and others by the Continental congress for services rendered, and I might go on and give an almost endless list of articles on exhibition in this old State House in Boston, and all of them having a history attached that could not fail to be interesting and instructive.

PICTURES OF DISTINGUISHED PEOPLE.

I was also much interested in the collection of old oil paintings, that were hanging on the walls. These contained pictures of some of the most distinguished men and women of Boston during colonial times, and most of them were painted during the lifetime of the person represented. Models of ancient houses that once stood in Cambridge, Boston, and Plymouth, among them the homes of Daniel Webster and John Adams, can be seen here. These collections have been made by the Historical Society of Boston, which at the time we visited this old building was holding one of its regular meetings in the old "Assembly Chamber." One of the members, Col. W. Lee, was delivering a lecture on the life of John Winthrop, which we found very interesting. The members of the society are nearly all elderly people, and it is made up of the oldest and best scholars of the city and state.

BUNKER HILL MONUMENT.

Our trip to Charleston and ascent to the summit of Bunker Hill Monument must not be omitted. This monument return home we found that the total distance traveled by myself and wife, footed up 340 miles. The expenses of our far, traveling with a mileage book over the Boston and Maine railroad, amounted to $10.80 or two cents per mile. Such is the difference in railroad fares between the East and the West.

With best wishes I remain,
Very truly yours,
W. E. CHESSEY.

Sol Crowley to S D Tucker 11 acres in 17 s 4 w; 41, 105

George Skinner to J S Cooper lot in Monmouth; $300

The Druggists

In Lowell, Mass., agree in saying that they sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of any other blood purifier. For instance, F. C. Goodwin: I sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than all other blood purifiers. A. W. Dows & Co.: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines. C. F. Blaceman: We sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of any other. Mearns & Shaw: With us the sale of Hood's is 10 to 1 of any other kind. F. & E. Bailey & Co.: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines. C. A. Swan: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines we have. Its sale increases every year. F. F. Moody: We sell twice as much of Hood's Sarsaparilla as of anything similar. C. A. Swan: Hood's is the most popular Sarsaparilla of the day. Thirty other druggists speak similarly. This popularity at home, where Hood's Sarsaparilla and its proprietors have been known for many years, could not continue if the medicine did not possess merit. And these facts should certainly convince people in other sections of the country that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good, reliable medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by druggists. At its for $1. Prepared only by C. HOOD & CO., Apolonia, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

READ THIS!

Writing materials
Hair brushes
Envelopes
Eye shades
Language tablets
Eagle pencils
Rubber bands
Celluloid in all shades
Lead pencils
Oranges
Dressing cases
Favorite sewing machines
Eureka tablets
Lemons
Tennis sets
Eleonora paperete
Roasted peanuts

EVERY DAY IN THE WEEK.

FO SALE BY
WHEELER & CLODFELTER
Independence, Or.

A WORD TO BREEDERS.

Prices of late for small and medium-sized horses are so low that there is no paying market for them. This is, in a measure, on account of the introduction of electricity and cable lines for city street cars in place of horses, but there is an active demand for good large draught horses in all cities, therefore we cannot afford to breed to grades or mongrels with expectation of getting horses that are saleable. In this progressive age we must either breed to some of the improved draught breeds, or the Thoroughbred or Standard bred horse. But with the Thoroughbreds and trotters, they must be developed before they are saleable as race horses or drivers, but the draught colt, after two years of age, will pay its keeping on the farm until it is marketable at prices that will pay well for the cost of production.

NAILSTONE WILLIAM
NO. 6199.

THE THOROUGH ENGLISH PURE STALLION. Registered in the American Shire Association Stud Book, Vol. (5) Two, and Imported by Burgess Bros., of Waukegan, Illinois.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE

NAILSTONE WILLIAM, 6199, is a blood bay; weighs 1200 lbs; stand 17 hands high; was foaled in 1888. Sired by Jason White, of Tringstone Leas, England. Sired by Big Dan Dan, Dan Depper, by William the Conqueror, 2145, by Dan, 404, sire Scotch, 1611, dan Repton Madam, Vol. IV, by William the Conqueror, 2145, Nellie 151, sire Lincolnsire Lad, Harrow, dan Madeline, 151, by William the Conqueror, 2145, sire Westminster, Dan by William the Conqueror, 2145, by William the Conqueror, 2145, by Westminster, 182, by Black legs, 142, by Derbyshire, 87, by Housed Tom, 1002, by John Bull, Fisher's Black Horse.

NAILSTONE WILLIAM, No. 6199, will make the season at 180 DALLAN Wednesdays and Thursdays, and the balance of the time at INDEPENDENCE, Polk county, Or.

TERMS: Insurance, $15. Season, $10. Payable at close of season. If mare does when due time is known to be in foal. All care will be taken to prevent accidents, but will be responsible for none.

The get of NAILSTONE WILLIAM is worthy of more than a passing notice to breeders of draught horses.

W. W. PERCIVAL,
Independence, Oregon.

The Leading IMPLEMENT Dealer

J. F. O'DONNELL

The Leading HARDWARE Dealer

Carries the largest stock of

Buggies, Carriages, Phaetons, Jump Seat Buggy and Carts,

Seeders, Drills, Chilled and Steel Plows, Ridding and Walking Cultivators, Planet Jr. Garden Drills, Sulkey and Gang Plows, Aspen wall Potato Planters, Digs, Levers, and Spring-tooth harrows.

FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1893.

TAKE NOTICE!

On and after July 1st, 1893, all subscribers who desire the WEST SIDE to be sent after their subscription expires, must leave word at this office, and their names on the mailing list will be so marked that before the paper is stopped a notice will be mailed asking for a renewal. All others, not so marked, will be stopped at expiration of time without notice.

ARE we going to have a celebration July 4th? Some think that as we have the June races we should be content this year and go to Dallas or Salem to celebrate.

FROM OLD NEW HAMPSHIRE.

BRADFORD, N. H., Apr. 17, 1893.

DEAR WEST SIDE:

It has been some time since I have dropped you a line, but the truth is that procrastination, that old thief, seized hold of my pen, and would not allow me to dictate the ideas that for some time past have been struggling for utterance. But I believe that I have partially succeeded in throwing off his iron grasp, and I will try and chronicle a few items that I hope may be of interest to you.

PLENTY OF SNOW.

In the first place, surprising as it may seem to an Oregonian, I will say that King Winter has not entirely relaxed his hold upon New England. Yesterday we had a snowstorm, and this morning the ground was covered with a white coat of snow. Besides, the old snow has not all gone yet. It is still quite deep in the timber, and seems very reluctant about taking its departure. Still every day the sun's rays become more and more direct, so that sooner or later it must take its final leave for the summer.

MAPLE SUGAR.

The maple sugar season is now in full blast, and invitations to "Sugaring Off Parties" are quite often in order.

A PLEASURE TRIP.

Last week, in company with some of my relatives here in Bradford, I visited Boston, "The Hub," around which old New England revolves. We also extended our trip to Cape Ann, one of the great summer resorts of Massachusetts, an account of which I will try and give you in this communication.

HISTORICAL PLACES.

While in Boston I visited the principal places of historical interest including the old State House, the old South and Park Street churches, and Bunker Hill Monument in the adjoining suburb of Charlestown.

THE OLD STATE HOUSE.

This old place cannot fail to interest the seeker for curiosities, for it is now filled with museum collections, which date way back to the earliest settlement of Boston, and the towns adjoining thereto. Here I saw the original deed to the land upon which this old State House now stands, surrounded by solid business blocks and costly buildings, and which was deeded for the sum of twenty shillings by the mother of Jno. Hancock (one of the well-known signers of the Declaration of Independence) for a calf pasture in 1698. There are also old letters and documents signed by John Hancock, and others by Benjamin Franklin. Here may be seen the scarlet velvet coat worn by the former, and the silver knee-buckles worn by the latter; an old spoon mould for running powder spoons brought over by the Mayflower; old punch bowls used in the times before and during the revolution; swords and guns used during the same eventful periods; cannon balls fired by the Bonhomme Richard during Paul Jones' memorable naval engagement with the Serapis near the coast of France; epaulets of distinguished soldiers during the colonial period; medals awarded by the king of England, and others by the Continental congress for services rendered, and I might go on and give an almost endless list of articles on exhibition in this old State House in Boston, and all of them having a history attached that could not fail to be interesting and instructive.

PICTURES OF DISTINGUISHED PEOPLE.

I was also much interested in the collection of old oil paintings, that were hanging on the walls. These contained pictures of some of the most distinguished men and women of Boston during colonial times, and most of them were painted during the lifetime of the person represented. Models of ancient houses that once stood in Cambridge, Boston, and Plymouth, among them the homes of Daniel Webster and John Adams, can be seen here. These collections have been made by the Historical Society of Boston, which at the time we visited this old building was holding one of its regular meetings in the old "Assembly Chamber." One of the members, Col. W. Lee, was delivering a lecture on the life of John Winthrop, which we found very interesting. The members of the society are nearly all elderly people, and it is made up of the oldest and best scholars of the city and state.

BUNKER HILL MONUMENT.

Our trip to Charleston and ascent to the summit of Bunker Hill Monument must not be omitted. This monument return home we found that the total distance traveled by myself and wife, footed up 340 miles. The expenses of our far, traveling with a mileage book over the Boston and Maine railroad, amounted to $10.80 or two cents per mile. Such is the difference in railroad fares between the East and the West.

With best wishes I remain,
Very truly yours,
W. E. CHESSEY.

Sol Crowley to S D Tucker 11 acres in 17 s 4 w; 41, 105

George Skinner to J S Cooper lot in Monmouth; $300

The Druggists

In Lowell, Mass., agree in saying that they sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of any other blood purifier. For instance, F. C. Goodwin: I sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than all other blood purifiers. A. W. Dows & Co.: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines. C. F. Blaceman: We sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of any other. Mearns & Shaw: With us the sale of Hood's is 10 to 1 of any other kind. F. & E. Bailey & Co.: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines. C. A. Swan: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines we have. Its sale increases every year. F. F. Moody: We sell twice as much of Hood's Sarsaparilla as of anything similar. C. A. Swan: Hood's is the most popular Sarsaparilla of the day. Thirty other druggists speak similarly. This popularity at home, where Hood's Sarsaparilla and its proprietors have been known for many years, could not continue if the medicine did not possess merit. And these facts should certainly convince people in other sections of the country that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good, reliable medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by druggists. At its for $1. Prepared only by C. HOOD & CO., Apolonia, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

READ THIS!

Writing materials
Hair brushes
Envelopes
Eye shades
Language tablets
Eagle pencils
Rubber bands
Celluloid in all shades
Lead pencils
Oranges
Dressing cases
Favorite sewing machines
Eureka tablets
Lemons
Tennis sets
Eleonora paperete
Roasted peanuts

EVERY DAY IN THE WEEK.

FO SALE BY
WHEELER & CLODFELTER
Independence, Or.

A WORD TO BREEDERS.

Prices of late for small and medium-sized horses are so low that there is no paying market for them. This is, in a measure, on account of the introduction of electricity and cable lines for city street cars in place of horses, but there is an active demand for good large draught horses in all cities, therefore we cannot afford to breed to grades or mongrels with expectation of getting horses that are saleable. In this progressive age we must either breed to some of the improved draught breeds, or the Thoroughbred or Standard bred horse. But with the Thoroughbreds and trotters, they must be developed before they are saleable as race horses or drivers, but the draught colt, after two years of age, will pay its keeping on the farm until it is marketable at prices that will pay well for the cost of production.

NAILSTONE WILLIAM
NO. 6199.

THE THOROUGH ENGLISH PURE STALLION. Registered in the American Shire Association Stud Book, Vol. (5) Two, and Imported by Burgess Bros., of Waukegan, Illinois.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE

NAILSTONE WILLIAM, 6199, is a blood bay; weighs 1200 lbs; stand 17 hands high; was foaled in 1888. Sired by Jason White, of Tringstone Leas, England. Sired by Big Dan Dan, Dan Depper, by William the Conqueror, 2145, by Dan, 404, sire Scotch, 1611, dan Repton Madam, Vol. IV, by William the Conqueror, 2145, Nellie 151, sire Lincolnsire Lad, Harrow, dan Madeline, 151, by William the Conqueror, 2145, sire Westminster, Dan by William the Conqueror, 2145, by William the Conqueror, 2145, by Westminster, 182, by Black legs, 142, by Derbyshire, 87, by Housed Tom, 1002, by John Bull, Fisher's Black Horse.

NAILSTONE WILLIAM, No. 6199, will make the season at 180 DALLAN Wednesdays and Thursdays, and the balance of the time at INDEPENDENCE, Polk county, Or.

TERMS: Insurance, $15. Season, $10. Payable at close of season. If mare does when due time is known to be in foal. All care will be taken to prevent accidents, but will be responsible for none.

The get of NAILSTONE WILLIAM is worthy of more than a passing notice to breeders of draught horses.

W. W. PERCIVAL,
Independence, Oregon.

The Leading IMPLEMENT Dealer

J. F. O'DONNELL

The Leading HARDWARE Dealer

Carries the largest stock of

Buggies, Carriages, Phaetons, Jump Seat Buggy and Carts,

Seeders, Drills, Chilled and Steel Plows, Ridding and Walking Cultivators, Planet Jr. Garden Drills, Sulkey and Gang Plows, Aspen wall Potato Planters, Digs, Levers, and Spring-tooth harrows.

FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1893.

TAKE NOTICE!

On and after July 1st, 1893, all subscribers who desire the WEST SIDE to be sent after their subscription expires, must leave word at this office, and their names on the mailing list will be so marked that before the paper is stopped a notice will be mailed asking for a renewal. All others, not so marked, will be stopped at expiration of time without notice.

ARE we going to have a celebration July 4th? Some think that as we have the June races we should be content this year and go to Dallas or Salem to celebrate.

FROM OLD NEW HAMPSHIRE.

BRADFORD, N. H., Apr. 17, 1893.

DEAR WEST SIDE:

It has been some time since I have dropped you a line, but the truth is that procrastination, that old thief, seized hold of my pen, and would not allow me to dictate the ideas that for some time past have been struggling for utterance. But I believe that I have partially succeeded in throwing off his iron grasp, and I will try and chronicle a few items that I hope may be of interest to you.

PLENTY OF SNOW.

In the first place, surprising as it may seem to an Oregonian, I will say that King Winter has not entirely relaxed his hold upon New England. Yesterday we had a snowstorm, and this morning the ground was covered with a white coat of snow. Besides, the old snow has not all gone yet. It is still quite deep in the timber, and seems very reluctant about taking its departure. Still every day the sun's rays become more and more direct, so that sooner or later it must take its final leave for the summer.

MAPLE SUGAR.

The maple sugar season is now in full blast, and invitations to "Sugaring Off Parties" are quite often in order.

A PLEASURE TRIP.

Last week, in company with some of my relatives here in Bradford, I visited Boston, "The Hub," around which old New England revolves. We also extended our trip to Cape Ann, one of the great summer resorts of Massachusetts, an account of which I will try and give you in this communication.

HISTORICAL PLACES.

While in Boston I visited the principal places of historical interest including the old State House, the old South and Park Street churches, and Bunker Hill Monument in the adjoining suburb of Charlestown.

THE OLD STATE HOUSE.

This old place cannot fail to interest the seeker for curiosities, for it is now filled with museum collections, which date way back to the earliest settlement of Boston, and the towns adjoining thereto. Here I saw the original deed to the land upon which this old State House now stands, surrounded by solid business blocks and costly buildings, and which was deeded for the sum of twenty shillings by the mother of Jno. Hancock (one of the well-known signers of the Declaration of Independence) for a calf pasture in 1698. There are also old letters and documents signed by John Hancock, and others by Benjamin Franklin. Here may be seen the scarlet velvet coat worn by the former, and the silver knee-buckles worn by the latter; an old spoon mould for running powder spoons brought over by the Mayflower; old punch bowls used in the times before and during the revolution; swords and guns used during the same eventful periods; cannon balls fired by the Bonhomme Richard during Paul Jones' memorable naval engagement with the Serapis near the coast of France; epaulets of distinguished soldiers during the colonial period; medals awarded by the king of England, and others by the Continental congress for services rendered, and I might go on and give an almost endless list of articles on exhibition in this old State House in Boston, and all of them having a history attached that could not fail to be interesting and instructive.

PICTURES OF DISTINGUISHED PEOPLE.

I was also much interested in the collection of old oil paintings, that were hanging on the walls. These contained