

THE WEEK'S BUDGET.

What Our Reporter Finds of Interest to Our Readers.

THE LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Summary of the Events of the Week for City and Collected Daily—Items of Interest from Everywhere.

Are you reading our continued story? Mrs. M. A. Baker is very sick with influenza fever.

R. Shelby and Ira Smith are camping and fishing on the Luckiamute.

Mrs. Geo. Skinner left on Monday for the East, to be gone several weeks.

Mr. Hodges, familiarly called "Pap," intends leaving in September to visit the World's Fair.

There were no services at the Baptist church last Sunday and may be none next Sunday.

Webber & Fuller have had their blacksmith shop painted, greatly improving its appearance.

Last Sunday Rev. Kelloway, of Corvallis, preached morning and evening in the Christian church.

Dr. Fook, who has been practicing medicine on this coast for the past ten years, has located in Monmouth.

I. Claggett has commenced the erection of a dwelling house adjoining his present home, which he will rent.

The steamer Hoag was unable to get up at the wharf here Monday, the water being too low in the Willamette.

G. W. Shinn and W. P. Conaway went to Portland this week as delegates to the Grand Lodge of A. O. U. W.

T. L. Price's "Kentucky Jack" died last Sunday. This is a direct loss to Mr. Price of over $1000, the value of the animal.

James Davis, living on the Biddell farm back of Monmouth, rejoices in the safe arrival of a fine boy at his house last Monday.

Frank Merwin has Mr. Graves at work building him a hop house on his farm below town. His hops are looking well and no lice.

An agreement was made by all our merchants to leave town on the 24th of this month and all go out rustling. Of course it was only a joke.

Until further notice, the postoffice at this place will be open on Sunday from 10 till 11 o'clock, a. m. So says Miss E. G. Robertson, the postmaster.

Leave your laundry work with Peter Cook, or C. L. Hawley at Monmouth, and it will be well washed and ironed by the Salem Steam Laundry.

E. G. Padlock has moved into the residence lately occupied by J. W. Kirkland, and the latter is nicely settled in his new home next door.

Wanted: Hay in exchange for cow, horse or buggy. Apply at Hawley's Book Store, Monmouth.

James Wheeler brought to this office last Monday some branches of prunes which indicate an immense yield. Mr. Wheeler is an expert orchardist.

You want a pair of those red school house shoes at J. M. Vanduy's?

The family of A. McNeill, the wagon maker, arrived last week. He has two sons, and will make their home here.

A magic price sale at J. M. Vanduy's.

The small comet in the northwestern horizon, now visible to the naked eye, may have something to do with the present demoralized condition of the money market, but we doubt it.

Cash buys a big pile of goods these days at Stockton & Henkle's.

The sparrows whose nests were washed down off the front of the city hall, have taken to building nests on the Independence bank building, and Will Liles has been shooting down the nests with an air gun.

The long and short of it can be found among Stockton & Henkle's stock of gloves and hosiery.

Rev. J. R. Baldwin left this week for a three week's camping out in the mountains on the head waters of the Luckiamute. He will go to Portland on his return and spend a week with the members of Emanuel church, which has given him a call to preach.

If you are thinking of leaving town to rusticate in the mountains, get your supply of good cigars at P. C. Patterson's.

"I was prostrated with a severe bilious complaint," writes Erasmus Southworth, of Bath, Maine. "After vainly trying a number of remedies, I was finally induced to take Ayer's Pills. I had scarcely taken two boxes when I was completely cured."

L. Damon last week sold four of those very desirable town lots in his addition to Monmouth. He is selling them on very easy terms.

The basket revival meeting at Buena Vista last Sunday was largely attended and a great deal of interest manifested. Since the commencement of the meeting nearly fifty persons have been converted. The meeting will continue over next Sunday.

You must eat in spite of heat, and Dooty & Padlock's groceries are hard to beat.

The World's Fair gives Oregon flour the lead. It is the best flour in the world. It is more grateful to the belly of the enterprising, and more serviceable to the back of the moshack than any other kind of meal. It touches the right spot and removes the erythematous roots from the wrong spot.

You want to keep cool and the way to do it is to buy one of those nest-suit suits of J. M. Vanduy.

There will be services at the Congregational church morning and evening on Sunday. Rev. Poling will render a talk on the "Johnstown Flood," in the evening. This is done by request of several who heard it delivered before. No admission. Everybody is invited to be present next Sunday evening July 23. Preaching at 11 a. m. by the pastor.

Fresh bread daily at Dooty & Padlock's.

Banker Cooper visited Portland this week on business.

Dooty & Padlock are selling fruit jars cheaper than anyone.

Remember "Addition" at the opera house this (Friday) evening.

Buy your ice cream soda and your tropical fruits and candies at the Bijou!

Dr. O. D. Butler returned Monday from his week's trip to Europe.

A. E. Freeman, representing the Perrydale Patriot, is in town this week.

Everyone talks finance, and gold and silver, and no two have the same ideas.

Hot men will do well to inspect our new style of hop tickets and prices on same.

Dooty & Padlock are the sole agents for Corvallis flour. Try a sack.

Dryman Hubbard and family are putting in a few days at the Soda Springs.

W. H. Patterson and party will return from the mountains the first of the week.

That beautiful baby of yours should have its picture taken. See the work done by the Cronis Art Studio, Salem.

Editor Ryan, of the Patriot at Perrydale, did business in town the first of the week.

Patterson Bros., the druggists, are located in the opera house and are as accommodating as ever.

The annual convention of the State Sheriff's Association met at Portland Monday last.

Fly paper and insect powder are the proper things to buy at Patterson Bros. just now.

J. A. Veness and family, left this week for Newport and Seal Rocks to be gone two weeks.

Dooty & Padlock carry a good stock of dishes and crockery.

H. E. R. McElroy is in Chicago attending the International Educational Association.

Patterson Bros. have gold and silver jewelry, and will take paper money in payment. Take a look at their elegant scarfpins.

Advice for these days of alarm: Keep cool. Be prudent but not penurious. Deal with Stockton & Henkle while the prices are so low.

Spare the beautiful thistles which are now in bloom. Like the Chinese they must not be disturbed.

As luck would have it the panic did not strike us hard and Stockton & Henkle are happy as kings at the trade they are getting.

Miss Eva Robertson, who has been visiting her sister Mrs. Craven, returned to her Portland home last Wednesday.

The less money you have the more it is wanted. Make it go the farthest by buying of J. M. Vanduy.

Dooty & Padlock, the grocers, have just had built one of the very finest wagons for delivering goods to their many customers.

If you want to have a good laugh and see some clever people, go to the opera house to-night.

J. E. N. Bell speaks very enthusiastically of the very successful Chautauque assembly meeting at Ashland, where he was engaged to lecture.

You can't get on a "tear" if you wear Vanduy's socks, for they are not the tearing kind.

N. O. Clodfelter's residence is approaching completion and somebody is going to leave a very little home in which to commence housekeeping. Who is the lucky person?

Those dollar shirts at Stockton & Henkle's are good value.

We have a pamphlet before us which says that during the next six years nine tenths of the human race will perish by war, plague, famine, pestilence, earthquake and hail, and references in Hebrew 16: 21, Isa. 6: 11-13, and Jer. 25: 23-33. There is to be a great disruption among nations, see Rev. 2: 27 and Ps. 2: 9. The Jews are to become the ruling nation of the whole world for 1,000 years, commencing in 2,000, and the capital is to be at Jerusalem.

Oranges, lemons, peaches and tangerines at Wheeler & Clodfelter's, and orders taken for raspberries and other small fruits.

The residence of J. C. Mosier, two and one-half miles east of Independence in Marion county, was burned to the ground last Friday, July 14, at about 12 o'clock. The fire originated from the flame of a heating stove and the flames rapidly spread, soon consuming the entire building. The loss was about $500 with no insurance. It is a severe blow to the family as no thing was saved from the ruins. B. F. Hall, of Halls Ferry, has kindly taken the family in charge and he came to Independence Monday with a petition to raise money for the homeless. He headed the list with $5 and soon had $10.50 in cash, and groceries, etc. Our citizens deserve credit for their very liberal donations.

Feed delivered by Dooty & Padlock.

BAGLEY.—In Salem, Thursday, July 13, 1893, Edith R., Wife of W. H. Bagley, aged 23 years, 6 months and 4 days.

Mrs. Bagley was sick about three weeks. She had trouble with her teeth which made it necessary to have several of them extracted and that was the beginning of the difficulty that ended in blood poisoning and death at 5:50 o'clock last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Bagley leaves a husband, a daughter, Mildred E. three and one-half years old, her mother Mrs. E. E. Pentland, a sister, Miss Florence Reynolds, a step-sister, Mrs. S. L. Brooks, of The Dalles, and a step brother, E. C. Pentland of Independence. She was a faithful member of the First Congregational church. Her many excellent traits of character, her genial and even temperament and her graces of mind and person made her hosts of warm friends.

The funeral took place last Saturday afternoon and the floral tributes provided by loving friends were very profuse. The remains were taken on the electric cars to Rural cemetery for interment. Mr. Bagley holds a position of trust and responsibility with a San Francisco insurance agency, and Pacific coast adjuster, and his affairs in life are completely settled by this sad event. It has been truly said, "Man proposes but God disposes."

THE MONMOUTH STATE NORMAL.

During the past year the State Normal school at Monmouth has reached an enrollment of over four hundred, the largest in its history. This professional course has been much strengthened by the addition of the model training department, in which students are given practical application of methods under the supervision of special city teacher, Miss Edith Casavante, a graduate of the Minterville, Pa., State Normal, who has been added to the department for the next year's work. In all the departments has been revised and strengthened. The school has a bright prospect for future growth and usefulness.

PAY YOUR SUBSCRIPTION.

All Persons in Arrears to the West Side are Respectfully Requested to Read this Notice:

If you will pay all arrears during the month of July, and one year IN ADVANCE, you may deduct twenty-five per cent on the total amount.

This offer holds good during the month of July only. Look at the date on your paper, find out the amount due at $2.00 per year, necessary to pay to August 1894, after deducting one-fourth, send or bring the remainder to the West Side office and get your receipt.

Luckiamute.

Mr. James Harris is building a new house in Independence.

Owing to the hard lines O. J. Huey will not build his new house this summer.

Peter Kurze returned from Chicago Wednesday, where he has been visiting friends and the World's Fair.

N. Steele and family contemplate moving to Lewisville in a short time.

Mr. Steele expects to go into business there.

The merry creak of the sickle can be heard in all directions. Owing to the prolonged cool weather, harvest is two weeks behind time.

We are glad to know that Luckiamute has so many correspondents, but if our cotemporary would not exaggerate so much it would be better on their part.

Mrs. Martha Tetherow and Mrs. Miner, of Independence, were visiting J. Tetherow and family this week.

Mrs. M. Tetherow has been in very poor health for some time, but is now rapidly improving.

John Burns and wife returned from Prineville Saturday. Mr. Burns reports everything very quiet there. He says cattle and grain look very well.

We suppose since a new discovery of gold in our midst, silver will be no longer in demand. One man recently unearthed a pot of gold supposed to be buried by Captain Kidd. We did not learn the exact amount, but will be able by our next communication to give particulars.

List of unclaimed letters remaining in Independence postoffice July 15, 1893:

Baker, Eph Bradford, E. L. Crane, N. B. Hubbard, Mrs. Cora Moore, W. E. Martin, Dan Swaney, J. E. Timp, Miss Lou E. G. Robertson, Postmaster.

THE LEAGUE IS DEAD.

Baseball for "Blood" is All Right, But Baseball for Wages is No Go.

SALEM, July 17.—Salem's baseball team has been disbanded, owing to lack of financial support. The players will leave Friday for their respective homes. Judging from the number of spectators at Sunday's game here, Salem does not want any ball this season. Sunday's game between Salem and Oregon City was a walk-over for the former, the score being 16 to 9.

Although the above dispatch is self-explanatory, we cannot resist the temptation of putting on a few finishing touches, simply as a matter of justice to our citizens.

In the beginning the idea of a state baseball league was heartily sanctioned by all lovers of baseball and when independence was offered a place in the league, providing our citizens would raise the requisite amount, not one refused to give his mite, and the money was subscribed forthwith. Great crowds turned out to see the two opening games here and the vast audiences were prepared to have their fill of fun, but the games were so poorly played and some manager, together with the school-boy wrangling, that the universal verdict was one of utter disgust. It was hoped that in the following games the boys would redeem themselves, but instead of that matters went from bad to worse, until the last few games were witnessed by only a handful of the more enthusiastic, and it was a foregone conclusion that the league would go under so far as this city at least was concerned. The team was then taken from here and given to Salem, but that phase last Saturday and Sunday was to be expected in view of the fact that crowds of Salem people had witnessed the first games played here.

The Oregon State Baseball League is dead, but our citizens still have a game of ball for "blood" and if a local team was organized enthusiasm would soon be revived. We have material here for a nine that could outplay any of the state teams. Let us have a few local games.

To Visit The Valley.

It is now stated that on July 31st, twenty-five or thirty members of the San Francisco board of trade will visit Corvallis, and pay a similar visit to Salem, Albany, Eugene and other towns in the Willamette Valley. The visit was brought about by the recent merchants' excursion over the O. P. to San Francisco, and its object is to promote more friendly as well as more extensive business relations between the merchants and the merchants of the Pacific metropolis. In view of the magnificent reception rendered valley merchants by the visiting visitors, it is meet that the latter should be shown, as they doubtless will be, every attention on the occasion of their visit to Corvallis.—Times.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

Important Happenings of the Week

SENATOR TELLER'S VIEWS.

His Democratic Governor Waite's Utterances—Colorado All Right.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been printed in the silver press, he said he had no doubt that before long they would be on record in the eastern money markets and Colorado would reap the result. At this time the senator had not heard of any great danger, he said, but he might be worse. No state has more varied resources than Colorado, and if other industries were half as well developed as silver mining there would be no fear for the future. The silver question, of course, is a serious one and the countenance of the present financial condition means years of hardship to Colorado, but the state will pull out at right angles. The senator characterized as "rot" the belief that the Sherman law was responsible for all the present trouble. He said one of the periodical crises in the history of the world is the silver question, hence the present deplorable state of affairs in this and other countries.

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—Senator Teller of Colorado was on his way home today from a visit to the World's Fair. Talking about the silver situation here, he said the people of Colorado in general do not endorse the rabid frothing of Governor Waite and others. While those remarks have not yet been