Mrs. J. H. HORNBY, 152 Pacific Ave., Santa Cruz, Cal., writes: "When a girl at school, in Reading, Ohio, I had a severe attack of brain fever. On my recovery, I found myself perfectly bald, and, for a long time, I feared I should be permanently so. Friends urged me to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, on doing so, my hair

REGULAR WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Hawaiian Policy of the Administration—Senators Vest and Stewart Express Their Sentiments.

McMINNVILLE, Dec. 21. The grocery and confectionery store of Peter P. Olds, of Lafayette, was broken into Saturday night and some $50 worth of goods were taken. The burglary was committed by three young men of the town, some of them yet out of their teens. One of the boys turned state's evidence and Monday Geo. Noble and Byron Molloy were arrested. The examination was held Tuesday and as a result Geo. Noble is in jail and Molloy is out on bonds.

The burglar who entered the jewelry store of D. A. Smith some time ago now rests comfortably in the county jail. Tuesday last a watch was taken to a Salem jeweler for repair the owner remarking how cheap such a watch was at $6.50. The jeweler informed Marshal Minto of the matter and upon inquiry it was found that the watch had been sold to the person bringing it in for repair by a fellow loafing around town. Smith was telephoned to and he sent a description of the watch and it was found to be the watch of Mrs. Bain, of this city. The fellow was arrested on a complaint of burglary of a dwelling and the larceny of a watch and Deputy Sheriff Connor went to a Salem for the gentleman. He handcuffed the man before starting for McMinnville, but nevertheless just this side of Smith Stephen's the fellow jumped from the buggy. Connor caught him and pulled him back into the buggy where he struggled to get away. The horses were on a dead run by this time and Connor jumped out pulling the thief with him. After a tough scuffle on the ground the deputy pulled out a revolver and hit the man over the head with it cutting a gash two inches long. The thief then gave up and said he would go without further trouble. A boy was found and sent after the team which had disappeared down the road. The team was soon found none the worse for the run and the procession started. The burglar was covered with blood when he arrived here and Deputy Connor had blood in his eye. It would have been a corpse instead of a live man that Connor brought here had the thief broken away. After leaving here he visited Independence and Corvallis, and no doubt disposed of some of the stolen watches in both places. He looks as if there was negro blood in his veins, the index finger of the right hand being off. He is very anxious to see the daily San Francisco Examiner. He gave his name as John Doe at first and at the examination he said his name was Harry Hill. He admits that he has been in jail before but does not say where. His action denotes cunning and he has a good opinion of his smartness.

The game of football between the Monmouth and Corvallis college teams on Friday last resulted in a second victory for the latter. A crowd of about 1,500 interested spectators witnessed the contest and the general conclusion is that the Monmouth players are not in it. A royal reception was tendered the visitors and their treatment while here was as heapful coils of fire on their heads. The O. A. C. eleven expect to play a practice game with the Multnomah's on Saturday, and wagers are numerous that our boys will make a touch-down.

Prof. Lotz, who has for some months held the position of station chemist of the O. A. C. announces his intention of taking his departure for pastures new in the near future and permanently locate in the second city of Mexico, where he has mining and other interests that require his attention. As to whether this resignation of the doctor is voluntary or not there is a question, and rumor has it that some little persuasion has been used to bring about this result. There is no question about his ability.

The Oregon Pacific railroad property sold at sheriff's sale on Friday last and was purchased by the Blair-Wharton faction for the insignificant sum of $200,000. Much speculation and unfavorable comment is current concerning the outcome of this sale and the disposition that the court will make of the matter is a question of no small concern to many on both sides. A meeting of employes and claim holders was held in Yakutia on Sunday and the situation discussed at length, resolutions adopted and a committee appointed to wait upon Judge Fullerton protesting against confirmation of the farcial sale on the 15th inst. When it is known that after the court and lawyers' fees are paid there will remain only about enough funds to pay a dividend of little more than five per cent. of amounts due for labor and material, the non-confirmation of this flagrant transaction is apparent and it is the general opinion hereabouts that the court can not, from a moral standpoint, at least, recognize its validity. The Hogg faction and every other hold-ers interested will use every effort to prevent this transfer being made. This morning the story that the O. P.'s steamer "Three Sisters" has been tied up for the debt of wages due its employes, who, it is said, refused to continue their labors further until salaries are paid. Adjustment of the matter is deferred until after the 25th inst., when Judge Fullerton will be here to pass on the sale of the road. Prospects for much litigation are rife.

Ed. Scott and Charley Wheeler had an altercation in the Occidental saloon last Friday night in which the latter severely cut the former in the neck. He was arraigned before Justice H. L. Holgate Monday and fined $20 and costs on a charge of assault and battery.

HILLSBORO, Dec. 20. Mrs. Hoover died last Sunday on the homestead five miles north of town at the age of seventy-three years. The deceased came to Oregon with her husband, Jacob Hoover, in 1844. Her husband died several years ago. She leaves two sons and two daughters. Her eldest son Jackson, lives in this county. Hon. Jacob Hoover is a banker and politician in Spokane, Wash. Her eldest daughter is the wife of Hon. Benton Killen of Multnomah and her youngest is the wife of Mr. Connell of this county.

A heavy rain storm that had been gathering for several days set in on Wednesday morning. All the low places are again full of water.

The preparations for the Christmas holidays are few. Only one church out of six in the town announce any ceremonies at all and they are of the simplest character. The stores offer next to no Christmas goods. The Epworth League has a pay sociable on Monday evening.

W. H. McEldowny who has so successfully managed the Ladd & Reed Farm Company's property at Reedville in this county has been promoted to the superintendency of the same company's Broadmead farm in Yamhill county. That property consists of a tract of over 3000 acres on the south side of the Yamhill river west of Anity. An even 3000 acres is in grain and meadow. One barn on the farm will hold 700 tons of hay, and house 100 head of cattle and another 100 head of it is claimed that the original purchase of land and later improvements have cost $1,000,000. The venture has never paid any dividends and Mr. McEldowny is now sent there to make money for the owners.

Washington Letter. (From our regular correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Dec. 15, 1893. It is perfectly plain from the speeches that have this week been made in the senate on the Hawaiian policy of the administration, the bill for the repeal of the federal laws, and the tariff, that the senators are cocked and primed for a long and bitter partisan debate on each of these questions. The news from Hawaii and the official information from the department of state, has apparently changed no opinions; on the contrary, opinions previously held seem to have been intensified by the developments of the week. The bitter fight in the senate committee over the re-committed bill for the repeal of the election laws is a certain indication of what may be expected on the floor of the senate.

Senator Vest is the only man who has in a speech succeeded in straddling the Hawaiian question. He started out by scoring the republicans for trying to score the compact continental republic established by our forefathers into a great, expansive territory-acquiring government extending to the islands of the ocean, and to the uttermost parts of the earth. He ridiculed the Christian pretences of Minister Stephens and the New England revolutionists of Hawaii, who, he said, had christianized the natives out of their country, and had taken possession of it under the name of God, and then divided the land among themselves, under a law made by themselves. He wound up by dissenting absolutely from the administration policy, and said the provisional government of Hawaii was a de facto government, having all the rights of a de jure government, so far as other nations are concerned; that any assault upon that government by armed forces of the United States would be an act of war that could alone be brought forth by an act of congress, and that he favored a withdrawal of every vestige of U. S. authority, from the island, leaving the opposing factions to settle it among themselves. Senator Stewart removed all doubt as to his opinion on the proposition to repeal the federal election laws, by making a speech in favor of the bill for that purpose, which is now pending. His position is in accord with the one occupied by him when the Lodge election bill, commonly referred to as the "force bill," was before the senate of the fifty-first congress. He did not forget to put in a few good words for silver, in his speech; he never does, no matter what the subject of the speech may be.

It is now announced that President Cleveland will after the first of January resume the public receptions, the discontinuance of which caused so much grumbling from visitors to Washington. It is also stated that these receptions which used to be held three times a week at 1 o'clock p. m., were not stopped because of Mr. Cleveland's not desiring to meet the public but because he needed the time devoted to the receptions for more important matters.

Delegate Rawlins of Utah, won his spurs as a ready debater of first-rate ability during the short discussion which preceded the passing of the bill providing statehood for Utah by the House. There reasons for the belief that the senate will amend the bill by including Oklahoma, and if talk at this time counts for anything, the Senate will insist upon that amendment being accepted by the house.

So long as the criticism of the closing of the senate chamber to visitors, shutting the public out of the senate elevator and closing every door, excepting two of the capitol at 4:30 p. m., was confined to entering those things up to the credit of exclusiveness the senators did not mind much, although Senator Peffer introduced a resolution to have the senate chamber opened to the public as has always been when the senate was not in session; but it hurts some of them when the charge is made as it has been this week, that it isn't exclusiveness that has wrought these rules old enough to be senators themselves, but fear of personal injury on the part of certain senators. Senator Brice's resolution for the appointment of twelve additional capitol policemen has been used as an additional argument in favor of the seque theory. It may soon be in order for the senators to make personal explanation concerning this matter.

The democrats of the house Ways and Means committee are still wrestling with the troublesome tariff bill, which has not yet been reported to the house. The fact that they have in response to outside pressure made a number of changes in the schedules, all increases of duty, has redoubled the pressure upon them to make other changes before the bill is reported. It has been settled that a caucus will be held on the bill, but attempts are now being made to defer the caucus until the bill has been reported and the internal revenue bill, upon which little work has been done this week, is completed. It is not now expected that the tariff debate will begin in the house until after the holidays.

Prominent silver men are holding a caucus here for the purpose of formulating plans for the next congressional campaign.

THREE SMUGGLERS ARE CONVICTED, Mulkey, Dunbar and Bannon.—No Verdict as to the Others.

PORTLAND, Dec. 23.—C. J. Mulkey, William Dunbar and P. J. Bannon, guilty; James Lotan and Seid Back, no agreement; all the other defendants, acquitted.

Such is the result of the great smuggling case that for 11 days has occupied the United States district court and attracted national attention. The charge was conspiracy to unlawfully land Chinese laborers in the United States. The jury was out 20 hours, having retired at 11:20 p. m., Friday, and announced its readiness to report at 6 o'clock last evening. Not until two hours later was the verdict read, however, owing to the delay in getting the defendants into court.

Nothing Confirmary of the Reported Capture of Rio.

PERNAMBUCO, Dec. 23.—The report that Rio had been captured by the rebels has not been confirmed, but the most startling reports are still in circulation here. It is announced in a dispatch from Rio that Admiral Gama and the insurgent war yessis are off Cobra island, and have succeeded in stopping the collection of revenues from the custom house, which, up to the present, have been paid to Pelzoto.

DISCREDITED IN WASHINGTON. WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Both the state and navy departments were very positive to-day in discrediting the reports that Mello had captured Rio. Though it cannot be positively ascertained, it is believed that one or both have received advices to that effect from Rio. The general impression, however, is that the report was merely premature, and that Pelzoto will be eventually overthrown.

A POSITIVE DENIAL. NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—Ruy Barbery, Admiral Mello's spokesman, cables the Herald as follows from Buenos Ayres: "The report that the admiral had taken possession of Rio Janeiro and had overthrown and imprisoned Mello, is absolutely false. I received yesterday a letter from Admiral Mello, dated Desterro, December 18, saying that Mello was here with his flagship, the Aquidaban, the Republica and other ships."
