A Racking Cough

Cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Mrs. P. D. HALL, 217 Genesee St., Lockport, N. Y., says: 'Over thirty years ago, I remember hearing my father describe the wonderful curative effects of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. During a recent attack of La Grippa, which assumed the form of a catarrh, soreness of the lungs, accompanied by an aggravating cough, I used various remedies and prescriptions. While some of these medicines partially alleviated the coughing during the day, none of them afforded me any relief from that spasmodic action of the lungs which would seize me the moment I attempted to sleep at night. After ten or twelve such nights, I was

Nearly in Despair,

and had about decided to sit up all night in my easy chair, and procure what sleep I could in that way. It then occurred to me that I had a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took a spoonful of this preparation in a little water, and was able to lie down without coughing. In a few moments I fell asleep, and awoke in the morning greatly refreshed and feeling much better. I took a teaspoonful of the Pectoral every night for a week, then gradually decreased the dose, and in two weeks my cough was cured.'

A warrant has been applied for against William Trimble of Los Angeles, charging him with embezzling $1,000 worth of diamonds, according to a St. Louis dispatch. The complaint is J. M. Hatchinson of Montgomery, Ala.

The jury in the suit of Mrs. McWhirter against the Connecticut Life Insurance company at San Francisco, decided in her favor. The company refused to pay its policy on the life of McWhirter, who was murdered at Fresno. The defense of the company was that McWhirter committed suicide.

The Virginia and Truckee mail train was held up and the express car robbed near Carson, Nev. One man burst in the door of the express car and at the point of a shotgun made the messenger hand over the money in the safe. About $1,000 was secured by the robbers.

Judge Turner at Santa Ana rules that the $25 fee charged by justices in criminal cases never has been a legal charge against the county. The fee must come out of the fine imposed, and when there are no fines imposed there are no fees for the justices. The question affects every justice of the peace in the state.

Evans and Morrel were surprised in a cabin in the mountains a few days ago by a party of officers. The bandits discovered the approach of the posse and escaped. In the cabin was found a large amount of ammunition and a quantity of dynamite. Evans left his artificial hand in his haversack to get out of range of the officers' rifles.

Edson bids fair to again experience the golden rule line of '93. As an adjunct to the renewed interest excited by the mine rich strikes made by miners, the merchants have organized four-horse freight teams for the purpose of bringing their store supplies from Sacramento, as their claim that during the present hard times freight rates have been increased to such an extent that cheaper transportation can be had by team.

Mrs. Catherine E. Hewitt has been granted a divorce at San Diego from D. H. Hewitt, one of the wealthiest residents of that city. The complaint was failure to provide. Some time ago Mrs. Hewitt brought suit for a divorce on a charge of adultery, but this was withdrawn, Hewitt agreeing not to oppose the suit if the complaint was changed. The evidence adduced showed Hewitt to be devoid of fatherly instincts. Although he has been wealthy ever since his marriage 15 years ago, his wife and their two children have never been properly supplied with clothing, and in court Mrs. Hewitt presented more the appearance of a destitute person than the wife of one of San Diego's wealthiest citizens. She testified that her 8-year-old son had been provided with but two new suits of clothes during his lifetime, neither of which cost as much as $3. As the result of considerable sacrifice Mrs. Hewitt had during the past few months saved up $5, with which she intended to buy her son an overcoat, but Hewitt learned of the fact and took possession of the money. Mrs. Hewitt was given the custody of the children and was awarded $30,000 community property.

The suit in the probate court of St. Paul against the Kittson estate for half of the alleged dower interest of Mrs. Crevier in $3,000,000 left by Commodore Kittson was dismissed for lack of proof. The suit was based on the claim that Mrs. Crevier was the first wife of Kittson. The testimony of Mrs. Crevier's brother and son, of the priest who married her to Crevier, and other witnesses, was all against the claim—Mrs. Crevier's brother and son testifying that she never never claimed to have been married to Kittson.

George N. Benson, a banker at Chattanooga, Tenn., shot and killed Colonel J. B. Wert, until recently a man of the highest standing in every respect in Chattanooga. Lavens Thomas, a young lawyer, who was a bystander, was struck in the arm by a bullet and was painfully wounded. After the tragedy Benson coolly proceeded to a lawyer's office and engaged counsel and then telephoned to the sheriff. The shooting is the sequel to the divorce suit brought by Benson against his wife, in which Colonel Wert is named as correspondent.

A curious case, which has attracted much attention, was heard by Judge Whitehouse of the supreme court at Boston. At an Odd Fellows' fair in Winthrop last March six women guessed the exact number of pieces in a patchwork quilt. Mrs. Vista Pettinell, who guessed the right number first, claimed the quilt and refused to compromise. Mrs. Pettinell, by legal process, got the quilt, but the other women dispute the validity of the award, as the commission of the justice of the peace had expired before he issued the writ of replevin. The defense of the woman who has the quilt is that the guessing comes under the law against gambling. The contest that has arisen has caused trouble in two churches and divided the quiet village of Winthrop into warring factions.

The Brooklyn Public Health society has completed a joint committee representing also the National Constitutional Liberty league, Boston, and the New York Public Health and Constitutional Liberty league, and declared in favor of legislative requiring: 1. Physicians to write prescriptions legibly and when possible in English and Latin if they choose. 2. That medicines when dispensed by physicians and others con-

A reduction in the price of admission from 50 to 25 cents is being strongly urged upon the fair management by the newspapers and general public of San Francisco. It is argued that people would attend oftener with a two-bit admission, and that the fair would make more money than by charging four bits.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE

Leavening powders... The Supreme Court held the governor had no right to remove her or appoint a successor, as she was appointed for one year and confirmed by the senate, unless charges are preferred and sustained, and that Freeman, who has been acting as her successor, is a usurper. The decision is unanimous. Mrs. Leuse says she intended to resign, as the salary is no object, but she learns the governor has a plan to charge her with bribery in letting contracts for supplies to the state institutions. These, she says, are false, and she proposes to remain in office and fight them.

After three trials at Crawfordsville, Ind., Edward Brown the alleged train robber stands acquitted. The case is peculiar and has attracted widespread attention from the fact, probably, that the unsupported story of Brown, an acknowledged tramp, was accepted in preference to the combined testimony of several reputable and trusted employes of the American Express company. One night last August a number of tramps boarded an eastbound Big Four passenger train. They rode on the front of a baggage car, expecting to beat their way, but a row was precipitated between them and the trainmen and several shots were fired. Brown was picked up near the track later, suffering from two bullet wounds, and stated that some unknown party had shot him while crouched on the platform of the car. The express messengers said there had been a bold attempt at express robbery; that Brown had entered the car at the head of a gang of desperate bandits bent on plunder, and murder if need be; that all were armed and a shower of bullets was exchanged. The friendly tramp's straightforward story was accepted and it is believed the trainmen shot Brown without provocation and that the robbery story is an attempt to shield themselves in case the men died. Brown will bring suit for damages.

The Earth's Journey. The earth does not travel at the same rate all through its journey. Its orbit being elliptical, it must at some time approach nearer to the sun than at others and will take less time in moving through one part of its path than through another. In winter the earth is nearer the sun than in summer and moves through space more rapidly. On Jan. 1 the earth is about 3,000,000 miles nearer the sun than it was on July 1, and as the velocity of a planet increases with its nearness to the sun the earth passes over one-half of its orbit in less time than over the other half. Between the vernal equinox, which happens on March 21 and the autumnal equinox, which falls on Sept. 23, the earth is 186 days in accomplishing that half of her journey round the sun, while the other half occupies only 173 days. It has been said that
