"When I was a Boy,"

Writes Postmaster J. C. Woodson, Forest Hill, W. Va., "I had a bronchial trouble of such a persistent and stubborn character, that the doctor pronounced it incurable with ordinary medicines, and advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and one bottle cured me. For the last fifteen years, I have used this preparation with good effect whenever I take and I know of numbers of people who keep it in the house all the time, not considering it safe to be without it."

"I have been using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for 30 years, with the most satisfactory results, and can cheerfully recommend it as being especially adapted to all pulmonary complaints. I have, for many years, made pulmonary and other medicines a special study, and I have come to the conclusion that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral occupies a position pre-eminent over other medicines of the class."—Chas. Davenport, Dover, N. J.

The Banner Vineyard company has incorporated at Fresno with a capital of $150,000.

The City National and the Washington National, two banks of Spokane, are to consolidate.
A new colored Odd Fellows' lodge has been organized at Bakersfield with 18 charter members.

The late J. Chute Wilmerding of San Francisco left $400,000 to establish an industrial school in connection with the university of California.

A Republican split on the municipal ticket at San Jose is apparent, owing to the assumption of too much power by the city central committee.

A Tacoma paper says the Chinese smugglers in that section who had pressed fasten chains and balls on their living freight and drop them into the ocean.

Captain W. H. Harris sent 187 boxes of apples to San Francisco from Myrtle Point, Or., and realized 48 cents net on each box.

Waterman & Katz, the largest mercantile house at Port Townsend, established over 30 years, has failed. Liabilities, $120,000; assets, $90,000, of which $40,000 are preferred.

A monster basking shark, probably the largest ever captured on this coast, was caught about 200 yards from the Del Monte bath-house wharf and towed ashore. The monster is in the neighborhood of 40 feet in length.

A practical test has been made of the recently completed outfall sewer running 16 miles from Los Angeles to the ocean. Water was run through the entire length of the sewer, which was found to work satisfactorily.

The People's Home Savings bank of San Francisco has been suit to foreclose on the estate of Freeman Coomber in San Diego, a mortgage for $30,000 for money loaned in 1889 on about 3,000 acres of the Monserrat ranch near Oceanside.

Suit is to commence at Sacramento against J. N. E. Wilson, state insurance commissioner, for fees collected by him and not returned to the state treasury. The fees were deposited in the Pacific bank and were swallowed in the failure of that institution.

Walter J. Thompson, president; Samuel Collyer, cashier; Henry Drum, vice president, and H. J. Davis, assistant cashier of the defunct Merchants' bank of Tacoma, have been indicted by the federal grand jury for violating the United States banking laws. Eight counts are contained in each indictment.

Right Rev. John A. Padlock of Tacoma, bishop of the diocese of Western Washington, is lying in a critical condition at Miramar, a resort near Santa Barbara. It is the result of a stroke of paralysis. Bishop Padlock has been stopping at Miramar for several months on account of ill health, and up to this attack has been improving. Two of his daughters are with him.

John Lewis, a colored bootblack of Olympia, Wash., has gone to Canada to prove his identity and claim a fortune of $500,000. It seems that a kind old lady, who adopted him as her servant years ago, died recently in Canada without leaving natural heirs and willed her fortune to the colored boy who was so kind to her in years gone by, but as she had lost his address the administrator advertised for the heir. An Olympia gentleman saw the advertisement and informed Lewis. The latter, nearly crazed with joy at the news, put up his bootblack kit and took the first train for Canada.

The California supreme court has rendered an important decision in the suit of Wilcoxon against the city of San Luis Obispo. The action involved an assessment for the widening of a public street. Wilcoxon did not object to the assessment except in so far that it provided for the contemplated expense of grading and improving the property condemned to widen the street. It is now declared by the supreme court that Wilcoxon was right, and that under the act of March 6, 1891, providing for the widening of streets, boards of supervisors cannot saddle owners of the condemned property with any expense for grading and improvement of such property.

Chief Justice Beatty not only concurred with his colleagues, but in a concurring opinion declared his belief that the legislative act of 1889 is unconstitutional. The judgment of the lower court in favor of Wilcoxon was affirmed.

Eugene (Or.) was shocked the other night by a terrible tragedy. Albert Moss, a young man aged 30, in a frenzy of rage attempted to kill the Coleman family and almost succeeded. Young Moss and his father had some trouble over family matters a week ago, the exact nature of which could not be learned. The boy discovered that David Coleman, a neighbor, agreed with his father in the dispute. Moss purchased a revolver and went to Coleman's residence. In the parlor he met Coleman's daughters, Miss Belle and Mrs. Emma Osborne. After talking a few moments and without the slightest warning, the young man drew the revolver and began shooting at the women. Belle was shot through the arm and Mrs. Osborne through the breast. Madded by his work, Moss rushed into old man Coleman's room and fired several shots at him. Two took effect, one in each lung. The murderer ran from the house pursued by the neighbors who heard the pistol shots, and going to a vacant lot back of his own house committed suicide by putting a ball through his heart.

The Columbia Fire Insurance company has collapsed.
The farcical trial of Corbett at Jacksonville for prize fighting resulted, as was expected, in acquittal.
Mrs. David Rosenberger of Kittanning, Pa., recently gave birth to five children, three girls and two boys. All are alive and doing well.
Judge Chapman of Nebraska City, Neb., sentenced E. T. White, who was convicted of hanging Secretary Morton in oblige, to pay a fine of $200 and the costs of prosecution. A motion for a new trial was overruled. White's attorneys will appeal the case to the supreme court.

Natural gas from the high-pressure main leaked into the beer cellars of Hubach's brewery at Tiffin, O., and when the night watchman entered early in the morning with a lighted torch an explosion occurred which destroyed the brewery and badly damaged the buildings near by.

A bill to submit to a popular vote the consolidation of New York, Brooklyn and suburbs into one great city has passed the New York legislature and received the signature of Governor Flower. If the consolidation is effected, "Greater New York" will have a population of nearly 4,000,000.

The question of opening the Uintah and Uncompahgre reservations in Utah to settlement is under consideration by Acting Secretary of the Interior Sims. The amount of land involved is estimated at 4,000,000 acres, rich in valuable minerals. There are 400,000 acres of asphaltum land.

The Baldy Mountain Land and Water company has undertaken to bring out a large colony of Germans to settle on lands about 12 miles from Hesperia, San Bernardino county. The company is conducting water to the land from Sheep creek and proposes to irrigate 10,000 acres.

Nearly all the employees of the World's Fair at Jackson park have been discharged. The working force had been reduced from time to time during the last six weeks until nobody was left but the clerks in General Manager Graham's office, three companies of the Columbia guards, several hundred men in the mechanical department and a lot of clerks who were selling furniture and other salvage—perhaps 600 in all. All were recently dropped but General Manager Graham's men and the guards.

A communication forwarded through the secretary of war from the president of the California debris commission asks that some changes be made in the law regulating the operations of the commission. There are many places where a single deputy of the commission could make the necessary surveys and thus expedite matters. It is desired that deputy officers may examine the less important applications from miners and report on them to the board, thus allowing the commission itself to act on those applications of greater importance. Much of the travel to the various sites of mines is difficult and consumes time. The commission has its hands full with the sites on the principal rivers.

Owing to the great demand for public work in the parks of Pittsburg at $1 per day, the city employment committee issued an order some time ago to employ only married men. This had the effect of causing a big boom in business at the marriage license clerk's office. Every unmarried Italian and Pole in Pittsburg seems to be hunting a wife. One of them said that the boom in matrimony was caused by the refusal of the committee to hire men who had nobody else depending on them. All the marriageable young women who are willing to begin the married state on $1 per day, he said, had been taken, and unless the order is rescinded trouble will happen in the Italian and Polish colonies.

The United States circuit court at Cheyenne, Wyo., has decided that the changes of the Union Pacific cannot change the rate of wages in force at the time they were appointed. This is a victory for the employees as the receivers contemplated a general reduction.

Three female members of the Tufts college at Haverhill, Mass., were summarily dismissed and their names were suspended or given an exhibition of high kicking and skirt dancing to the members of the College Glee club, who were on the campus.

Italian residents in the vicinity of San Jose have organized an association for the purpose of teaching their children their mother tongue. The children will be taught out of regular school hours so as to not interfere with their education in the English language.

Zimmerman, the amateur bicycling champion of the world, says in reply to the challenge issued by John S. Johnson, to race any man from a quarter of a mile to five miles, that he will meet Johnson at any distance, provided a large stake is put up—the stake to be not less than $5,000 and from that up.

Secretary Herbert has submitted to the senate committee on naval affairs a bill for the reorganization of the navy. It provides that the active list of the line shall consist of 30 rear admirals, 60 captains, 100 commanders, 74 lieutenant commanders, 250 lieutenants, 75 lieutenants of junior grade and a number of ensigns sufficient to maintain the service.

Numerous mountain lions, coyotes and other wild animals were driven into the streets of Salt Lake City by a recent snowstorm. The lions created great fear as they were very bold, entering the very heart of the city. Two of the ferocious beasts killed a horse and ate it within four blocks of the business center. Hunters have secured several of the animals.

Judge Grosscup of the United States court at Chicago discharged the railroad officials who refused to answer questions in the federal grand jury investigation of the workings of the interstate commerce law. This practically renders the law nugatory. Judge Grosscup said the fifth amendment to the federal constitution granted witnesses immunity from testifying to matters which would incriminate them and congress could not pass any law contravening that provision.

One Kuehn of New York is in Tacoma making final preparations for a long, hazardous trip. He leaves soon for Juneau, Alaska, from which place he will start for New York city, keeping on the North Canadian line till he reaches Dakota. His carriage is a combination affair, with wheels set in runners. It will be hauled by a dog team. He has wagered a New York sporting man that he can accomplish the journey in 300 days by means of a dog team. Kuehn pays his own expenses and is to receive nothing if he fails to accomplish the trip in the stipulated time.

The inventor of submarine warships, Louis Gathmann of Chicago, has just built a telescope on a plan which will revolutionize telescope building and enable every small college in the country to have as good a telescope as either the costly Washington, the Lick or the Yerkes instruments, and will operate to remove the existing bar to the building of a telescope of any desired size. He does not depend upon the uncertainty of casting a perfect block of glass large enough to be ground into a 40-inch lens. He takes several small lenses, easily made, and of them builds a large lens.

O. C. Gregory, assistant cashier of Gregory & Son's bank at Dexter, Mich., was found unconscious in the vault the other morning. He had been sand-bagged and the vault robbed. It is said the thieves secured several thousand dollars.

The case against Oscar O. Wells, who was sent from Santa Ana to San Quentin two years ago for committing a assault with a deadly weapon upon his stepson, and who was brought back to Orange county a few weeks ago for a new trial, has been dismissed. Wells had served almost his full time in the penitentiary before the motion for his new trial prevailed.

Scheig, the ex-teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, has practically completed the confession of his gigantic steal from that bank, admitting an embezzlement of over $125,000. One strange feature of the case is that he robbed the bank of $50,000 prior to Jan. 1, 1893. The bank people discovered this, but Scheig was re-employed at an increased salary and got away with an additional $75,000.

John Burke, banker and one of the leading men of the Northwest, has been indicted by the Spokane grand jury on a charge of interfering with officers who had in charge William Masterson and Ed Harris, notorious desperadoes. Burke gave Masterson a pistol while he was under arrest, and the latter shot at the officers. Masterson was killed by a deputy sheriff in the fight in which Burke attempted to aid the criminals. The crime was committed two years ago.

E. J. McNabb, a baseball pitcher, shot and fatally wounded Mrs. R. E. Rockwell and then killed himself at Pittsburg, Pa. The two are well known in every large town on the coast from Seattle to Los Angeles. The woman was the wife of R. E. Rockwell, manager of the Union Ice company at Seattle, while McNabb pitched for the Los Angeles team of the California league during the latter part of the season of 1893. Mrs. Rockwell ran away with McNabb.

Two negro burglars entered the house of Moore Baker, a wealthy farmer, near New Brunswick, N. J., and killed Mrs. Baker and her 14-months-old child with a hatchet. Both burglars were killed by Baker. The child was sick and Mrs. Baker was sitting up with it. She saw the negroes when they entered the room and screamed. One of the fiends struck her repeatedly on the head with a hatchet and then brained the child, when it cried. Baker was awakened by the outcry of his wife and attempted to get out of bed. He was attacked by both men and a desperate struggle followed. Baker wrenched the hatchet from one of the men and killed him. The other ran into an adjoining room. Baker got his shotgun and killed the second negro as he was running down stairs. During the struggle Baker was struck on the head with the hatchet and badly cut. Mrs. Baker and the child were killed instantly.
