manner, and the smiling and happy countenances of the recipients of diplomas will be well remembered by the citizens present, and it is the hope and prayer of all, that these graduates may wear happy smiles through life and that the lessons taught them by their respected and honored tutor, Prof. Hitchcock, may bear them safely over life's tempestuous waves. The address to the graduates by Pres. P. L. Campbell of the State Normal school of Monmouth was a marked feature of the evening's exercises. He presented to the graduates the benifits of true education, and the results flowing from studious thought and close application to the pursuits or profession which they might select to lead them to honored positions in social and, busi-nest life. Pres. Campbell is truly and happly eloquent in thought and expression. He always inspires an audience with a feeling, that imbues it with an earnestness of his desire to advance the cause of education in his adopted home. The address of Pres. Campbell at these graduating exercises were well worthy the occasion, and received the applause and commendation of the vast concourse then and there membled. Now .came a selection by Prof. Cressy's orchestra, which was rendered in most melodious tones. Prof. Cressy has gained among the citizens of Independence the reputation of being a musician of high talent, and the exercise of that talent is always called into requisiion upon all occasions when good music is deemed necessary. Prof. Hitchcock has done well in the past in having these exercises carried out in a pleasing and attractive manner. and he is entitled to, and does receive the thanks of community for his efforts in this direction. His efforts also in the school room in advancing in their studies those under his charge during the past are the most commendable and will never be forgotten. Bright, happy innocent childhood enters the portles of our school rooms. Our youth too often leave them with steps tending downward. We feel assured that these young persons just graduated do not so leave, that they still enjoy innocent, happy memories and may our prayers follow them that the principles and maxims taught them by their honored professors may be the guide and practice of their lives. We must not forget to note that the stage upon which the young graduates re. ceived their diplomas were profusely decorated with flowers, the handwork of our lovely daughters and wives.
