In the numerous towns and villages along the river. It was a painful contrast to the energy and activity of this little city, and it was a relief to get back here and hear the hum of the big mill and witness the brisk business done by the Independence merchants.

Windmill Irrigation.

A crude invention called the "Jumbo" wind engine is now coming into extensive use in Western Kansas and is attracting a great deal of attention.

It resembles the paddle-wheel of a stern-wheel boat, with a shaft 12 or 14 feet long, is 12 to 16 feet across, with six or eight arms. The lower half of this wheel is shielded from the wind so that the air works only on the upper vanes.

It seems to require no governor but simply pumps more during a storm. Notover is required and it is placed so that the radial arms will be clear of the ground.
