Joseph Jefferson, the actor, was once asked to spend a week with a Scotch peer. Among the guests was a brilliant and hearty lady, who was the daughter of an earl, says the Pittsburg "Dispatch." "I suppose," said Mr. Jefferson, "there must have been omething in my American manner that amused her, for she made a dead set at quizzing me. I did not detect evening. He had been in ill health it at first, and answered some of her absurd questions about America quite for some time, but still kept at work. It is believed the constant jarring of innocently. "She kept her face so well that I might never have discovered this but for the idiotic grin upon the smooth face of one of her admirers; and then I felt that, for the honor of my country, if she made another thrust at me, I would parry it if I could. I had not long to wait, for, emboldened by her late success, she turned upon me and said:

"By the by, have you met the queen "'No, madam,' I replied, with perfect seriousness; I was out when her Majesty called upon me. She colored slightly, and then turned away, and never spoke to me again; but I was opening of the Nez Perce reservation
