The Goodmans in Oregon.
Interesting Letter From Mrs. Goodman—Oregon Weather Seems to Follow Them.
Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 2, 1901.
Editor "West Side":
We arrived here January 30, having had a very enjoyable trip. On account of the railroad blockade in Oregon, we did not leave Eugene until the 15th. We stopped in Redding one day with some friends; arrived in Marysville on the 17th, going from there to my aunt's at "Rancho Sutter," a beautiful country home of 200 acres, planted in peaches and grapes. We feasted on fresh oranges and pomelos right off the trees.
On the 21st we went to Oakland and San Francisco where we remained a week, visiting some of the many interesting places the city contains—the Cliff House, Golden Gate Park, Laurel Hill Cemetery, Hopkins Institute, the U. S. Mint (where we saw Uncle Sam's employees making $10 pieces about as fast as we could count them), the show windows on the principal streets and the theatres.
On the 28th we boarded the train for the "far famed sunny south-land." On alighting from the cars at Los Angeles the next day, we sought the shady side of the street and carried our wraps on our arms. Imagine our surprise the next morning, on looking out of the window, to see rain. The citizens were all rejoicing for they tell us more rain has fallen this winter, so far, than in the last three years altogether, and beautiful crops are now assured.
Included are clippings from this morning's papers describing the snow storm yesterday. It was amusing to see the people run to the windows and doors and to hear their exclamations, for many had never seen snow before. The public schools were dismissed and the children ran to the streets with hands and hats outstretched to catch the downy flakes while we stood by with doleful faces, shivering, for it was just as cold here as it was at home when it snows.
We have spent the last twenty-four hours hovering over what they call here a heater, trying to get warm. We were invited to join the general club on excursion to the mountains this morning to see the snow. Many who were going had never seen snow and were desirous of putting their hands in it as well as obtaining snapshots. It is needless to say we declined with thanks.
Today the sun is shining bright and warm, though the wind from the snow-covered hills is cool. The indications and prophecies are for pleasant weather.
This afternoon we go to Santa Monica, Margaret Goodman.

Musings from Monmouth.
Cold? You bet!
John and George Murphy go to Southern Oregon this week.
Examination at the Normal School passed with results gratifying to both students and professors.
Monday evening was the mid-year graduating exercises. The chapel was crowded from "colony to colony" and seemed to be entertained. Frank Miller of Dallas, gave a violin solo which was well received. Miss Jessie Snyder sang a beautiful solo. She was called back and gave a selection that showed a range of voice that was marvelous. The graduates were: Thomas J. Newbill, "Potatoes of State"; Miss Emma Fisher, "Women as Sovereigns"; Emma Olin, "World's Expositions and Education"; Mabel White, "Success through Strife"; Margaret E. Tine, "Economic Tailor"; Miss Tine was selected by the class as valedictorian but unfortunately she was sick and unable to be out. An address to the class was delivered by Hon. B. E. Elly. Presentation of diplomas and charge to the class by Prof. J. L. Campbell. Senator Murphy gave a few minutes' talk along educational lines. The school of regalia was present and the members seemed pleased with the work of the school.
The photograph entertainment was immense; the hall was well filled and everybody enjoyed the show.
Rev. J. C. Holt has begun a series of independence lectures. No doubt he will have good audiences.
Miss Mahon White left for her home at Hood River on Tuesday evening.
Tuesday being a birthday of Mrs. W. L. Britton, a little surprise was sprung on her. About 8 o'clock in the evening a few of her friends came in a body and completely surprised her. They were enjoying themselves. During the evening on violin and other instruments were indulged in. At 10 o'clock a daily paper was served which was also a surprise as to where it came from. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Britton, Rev. and Mrs. Eason, Mr. and Mrs. Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Burt, Mr. Ziegler, Miss Belle Kew. On taking their departure they wished Mrs. Britton many happy returns of the day and hoped to come again.

The Census.
A dispatch from Washington on Monday gave the population of the several states. Dallas is credited with 1271 inhabitants and Independence 100. Everybody knows that Independence has more people than is credited. Some of our people claim to know of several who were not enumerated and suggest that the enumerator must have been thinking of other things at the time.
A. J. Pickard, a Lane county stockman, who is in Portland, said to the Oregonian that there has been quite a boom in the cattle and sheep market in his portion of the Willamette valley, and that the horse demand has been prices away.
"Stock" were sold as high as $1.50 a head, last fall. Mr. Pickard said, "and several parties made purchases of hundreds of sheep, which had been driven in from Eastern Oregon. Some of the bands were let out on shares to parties who had ranges in the mountains up the McKenzie, and I have heard since that bad weather and short grass have created and have among them. I do not consider it a good speculation to pay such prices for stock sheep, as they may be down to $1.50 a head within a year."

Send Me Their Names.
Thousands of Eastern people will take advantage of the cheap rates of the Northwest in effect every Tuesday from February 12 to April 30.
They are the lowest in years.
If you have any friends who are talking of coming West, send them the names and I will have our representatives look them up—furnish them with advertising matter—reserve tickets—see that they have a comfortable trip.
A. C. SHILLON, General Agent, 241 430 Hollington Road, Portland.

John F. Cordray, the enterprising theatrical manager of Portland, was in the city a few days ago arranging for the appearance of his companies at the opera house, providing he gets any support from the people. Mr. Cordray looks only the best trouper and our people can rest assured of fair treatment at his hands. He has lately opened the new grand opera house at Salem and desires to include Independence in his circuit. As a preliminary Mr. Cordray's company plays two nights this week. "Que Vadis" last night and "Northern Lights" tonight. And the West Side did not get any "
