Glendale is quarantined for smallpox, and all trains on the Southern Pacific pass through without stopping, no passengers being carried into or out of the place. One lady has died from the effects of the disease, and a number of serious cases are under treatment. Thus far the disease, which seems to be epidemic, is not under control, but the authorities hope to soon suppress it.

It is generally thought that any person has a right to make for his own use a patented article, provided he does not sell the same, after it is made to others. This is a serious error, yet a very common one. As a matter of fact, the patent laws grant to the patentee the exclusive right to make, use or sell the patented invention, and the maker, seller and user of the infringing article are each severally and jointly liable for infringement.—From an opinion submitted by E. G. Siggers, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C.

The fine weather during the first of the week had a tendency to wake up the trout fishermen and wheelmen.

An exchange says that you must not judge man by his clothes, and adds, "a ragged pair of pants may cover an honest man's heart."

Dr. S. R. Jessup, one of the most prominent physicians in Salem for over 25 years, is now a patient at the state hospital for insane. Financial troubles is the cause assigned for his mental collapse.

Last Saturday evening the members of Independence Court No. 30, Foresters of America, gave a social at the opera house to a large number of invited guests.

A delightful program was rendered after which delicious refreshments were served and the evening wound up by a social dance. Everything went pleasantly and a large number of ladies and gentlemen witnessed the exercises.

Mr. L. C. Gilmore, who went to Denison, Texas, several weeks ago, to be at the bedside of his dying mother, reached home last Friday evening. The long trip and incidents connected with it proved a severe strain upon Mr. Gilmore, but now that he is at home again he thinks that the better Oregon climate will soon restore him to former good health.

One night last week, some miscreant with the evident intention of seeking revenge for a personal grievance, entered the saw mill owned by J. M. Stark and saw the main driving belt by cutting and slashing it in several places. This act has so angered the business men of Independence that a subscription list was immediately signed, agreeing to pay a certain named sum for the arrest and conviction of the party who did this act of vandalism.

A hundred things happen every week that the newspaper man never sees. He does the best he can, keeps his eyes and ears open, but he is only a human being neither omniscient nor omnipresent. You often wonder why this thing or that thing was not published, and many you say the newspaper has favorites, and it has. They are the people who are thoughtful enough to send what they see they have to the newspaper. We would be pleased to hear from you.

A merchant down in Arkansas refused to advertise, "because," he says, if he does, "somebody will be a pestering me all the time to show 'em my goods." He is the same man who, when a customer comes in and wants to buy a suit of clothes, asks him to come again some time "when I'm a standin' up." This may be a lie, but there is a moral to it.

The litigation over the Albany bridge, so far, has been short-lived. J. B. Tillson brought an injunction to restrain the city from making repairs, and from exacting toll for crossing. The city, in Judge Boise's court Wednesday de-murred and the demurrer was sustained. Judge Boise held that the city had a right under the new charter to place a toll on the bridge, that it could repair the bridge and that the indebtedness limit did not apply in making necessary repairs to the city property. The Democrat says the repair work will go on, and that toll taking will begin about April 30th.

It seems that the state barber's commission has been woke up enough to start a case against two barbers at Astoria who have not taken out licenses for the practice of the profession. The commission might have tested the law here in Independence several months ago if it had wanted to. There was a shop run here for at least five months the owner not having a certificate and the commission knew it all the time but wanted the local barbers to prosecute the case.

The Salem members of the A. O. U. W. and Degree of Honor gave a delightful excursion to Independence on Tuesday evening. The steamer Altona was crowded to her full capacity by a jolly lot of people who came here to have a good dance. They brought excellent music and the large auditorium was taxed to its utmost to accommodate dancers. Independence people joined in and also had a good time. Dancing was kept up until a late hour and at two o'clock Wednesday morning the excursionists headed for home. The ladies of the Independence W. R. C. served an excellent supper during the evening and it is said that they realized quite a neat sum for their trouble.

Farmers of the Willamette valley are confronted with serious loss to their flocks of sheep. It has been estimated that fully one third of the sheep have died within the last four months. Some judges even say that one half the sheep have perished from the inroads of the leech. Up to the present time no successful remedy has been discovered after the sheep have been attacked. The sheep get the leeches from feeding on the bottom lands. They are taken internally and attack the liver of the animal.

County Exhibits at the State Fair. The liberal premiums offered for county exhibits at the Oregon state fair this year will afford every county in the state an opportunity to exhibit her resources. There is no question about the great number of homesteaders coming to the state this year, and the state fair will afford them an excellent opportunity to judge for themselves of our resources. For this reason alone every county that makes any pretension to general agriculture should make a good showing. The premiums offered on county exhibits are $1000, divided into five parts, as follows: First premium, $300; second premium, $250; third premium, $200; fourth premium, $150; fifth premium, $100. The Southern Pacific company has all exhibits to and from the fair free of charge, and a very liberal rate is made on all other lines in the eastern portion of the state.

The second annual report of the Oregon Historical Society has been received. It is a pamphlet 6120 inches and contains 124 pages. It shows that the society had 627 members on November 30, 1900, distributed in twenty-three counties in Oregon and four in Washington. The material collected during the year is classified as follows: Library Department—Documents, 134; diaries, account books, etc., 18; maps and charts, 15; bound newspaper files, 27; miscellaneous papers, unbound, 53; pamphlets, 165; miscellaneous books, 100; early school books, 48. Museum Department—Pioneer relics, 207; archaeological relics, 123; pioneer photographs, 448; other pictures, 139. The documents consist mainly of letters and other written matter relating to the early social and business life of the country, and the relics are such as were used while crossing the plains with teams or in the early industries of the country. Visitors at the rooms in the city hall, Portland, average 1500 a month, and all who visit that city are cordially invited to call.

Some men spend time in getting good money and then turn around and spend the money to have a "good time."

A man must aim well in this world if he expects to be able to miss fire in the next.

At a farmers' institute held at Myrtle Creek Friday, Dr. James Withycombe, of the Oregon Agricultural college, gave these practical hints on the value of ensilage as feed for cattle: "The silo is an adjunct to successful dairying. Silage is good for stock cattle, but it is particularly a feed for dairy cows. The silo has made rapid progress during the past 20 years. Formerly the silo was built of masonry, and was very expensive. Now it is cheaply constructed of wood. The favorite form is in the circular silo, which is constructed at a cost of about $1 per ton capacity. This makes a cheap form of receptacle for the storing of green fodder, as it will easily last 10 years. Any one contemplating the construction of a silo should see one that is in successful operation. There are points in construction, particularly about the arrangement of doors, which should be seen to be thoroughly understood. Formerly it was considered necessary to fill the silo without any interruption in the process, but now it is considered better to fill about three times, allowing an interval of one or two days between the fillings. When the silo is full it should be covered with some straw cut up fine. About half a bushel of oats should be scattered over the surface. The heat and moisture will cause the grain to make a vigorous growth, and make a practically airtight cover."

The old inhabitant's idea of it, is that the weather has been somewhat out of joint the past few days. Yesterday morning when he looked out of his bedroom window, he saw on the hills west of town a mantle of snow, then shivered. Of wind and rain he had a surfeit. For the 24 hours ending at eight yesterday morning the rain fall was .85 of an inch. For the month of April up to that time it was 1.44 of an inch. For the month of March it was 4.15. The highest temperature for March was 68 degrees; the lowest, 30, on the 12th. There was frost during March on the 13th, 14th, 15th and 19th.—Corvallis Times.

Mr. Editor:— It is exceedingly gratifying for me to state that I have received very good results from my advertisement in the WEST SIDE, in so much that it brought me many customers who had the money (or in other words "plunked the cash down") And that is what I am after. The customers were very much pleased with their bargains and I was equally pleased to get the money. I have just received the finest line of Gentlemen's shoes; see samples in my display windows; and lots of novelties arrive daily in Star shirts, negligé shirts; plenty of new styles in neck-wear for Spring to select from. Now, Mr. Editor, as my profit is so very small, I regret not being able to offer "Prizes" But then, again, that would be a violation of the postal laws; and then, again, everybody knows that in the long run the purchaser has to pay for the "prize." I give every purchaser individually a prize—genuine quality at the lowest price. It is my aim to undersell any house in Independence and you can be easily convinced by purchasing your suits, hats, shoes, hose, etc. at the WHITE HOUSE.

Send Me Their Names. Thousands of Eastern people will take advantage of the cheap rates to the Northwest in effect every Tuesday from February 12 to April 30. They are the lowest in years. If you have any friends who are talking of coming West, send me their names and I will have our representatives look them up—rush them with advertising matter—reserve berths—see that they have a quick and comfortable trip. A. C. SHELTON, General Agent, 284-4-30 Burlington Route, Portland.
