WILLIAM B. BARNETT IS ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

mass of flowers, ferns and house plants, and the floral offerings were many and beautiful. Brothers of the Knights of Pythias acted as pall bearers, and the Home Guards, of which Mr. Barnett was a member, commanded by Lieutenant Stidd, and a number from Salem in uniform attended in a body. The choir consisted of Mesdames G. W. Conkey and P. H. Drexler and Messrs. W. H. Walker and L. E. Barrick. At the I. O. O. F. cemetery, the last rites of the Pythian Order were given by Prelate Larry Fitzgerald. Rev. Pace spoke a few words and a military salute was fired by the Home Guard.

"Billy" Barnett loved life and he got more out of it than the average being. A resident of Independence for many years, he was well known and well liked by every man, woman and child in it. Of such good nature and at all times apparently extremely happy, his presence anywhere at any time meant sunshine. He loved flowers, animals, in fact everything that was elevating and refined; kind, merciful, very loyal to his friends and lenient toward those with whom he disagreed in opinion or action. We can truthfully say that "Billy" Barnett had no enemies. It was a coincidence that he should meet his death in the same accidental way as did his father before him when William was but a lad.

William B. Barnett was born in Missouri on Aug. 24, 1858 and was at the time of his death 50 years, one month and nine days old. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nellie Lemmon Barnett, one son, Lemuel, and his aged mother, Mrs. A. M. Booth of Mosier. "Billy" was his mother's only child. To them, The Post, in behalf of the entire town and community, extends much sympathy for certainly it can be said that in the little world in which he lived, his death will be mourned and he will be greatly missed.

We are not sure what life beyond the grave means or what it will be, but we do know that "Billy" Barnett, good husband, good father and good friend, will be plentifully rewarded. "He was a good fellow here and he will be a good fellow there."

The following relatives attended the funeral: His mother, Mrs. A. M. Roop of Mosier, his aunt, Mrs. James Nichols of Albany, Mrs. Barnett's mother, Mrs. M. J. Lemmon of Salem, her brothers, E. L. Lemmon of Portland, A. J. Lemmon of Salem and P. S. Lemmon of Salem, her sister, Mrs. J. A. Adkins of Junction City, and Mrs. A. J. Lemmon of Salem.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors who extended us so much sympathy and loving kindness in the deep sorrow and dark solitude thru which we have just passed in the loss of our beloved husband and father. We greatly appreciate the many beautiful floral offerings which are symbolic of the bright cheerful life he lived. To the Home Guards and Homer Lodge of K. of P. we wish to also to express our deepest gratitude.

Mrs. Nellie Barnett.

WAR WHOOPING INDIAN CHASES 20 GERMANS

Works So Fast That Even the Enemy Stops to Watch Crazed Redskin's Actions.

One North Dakota Indian is a match for 20 Germans, according to a letter

E. H. Tostevin, now in service in France. The Indian is Charlie Rogers, a full-blooded Sioux of the Standing Rock reservation, and a member of the Eighteenth United States Infantry.

"You ought to have seen that Indian the first time the Boche made a raid on our trenches," writes Sergeant Tostevin. "He leaped over the parapet swinging his old rifle over his head. He let out a yell that he had saved for years, and it was a genuine warwhoop by one of the people who made warwhooping famous.

"The Germans were pretty close before we mixed. Rogers, of course, had his gun loaded with five rounds, and his bayonet fixed. After swinging his gun around his head a couple of times, he brought it down to his shoulders and emptied his shells at the enemy, swung it again, yelled and jabbed, and used the butt of his gun to smash the skull of another.

"I had my hands full all this time, but the crazed Indian's actions were so fast that we half watched him, Germans and we fellows alike. It was only a small fracas anyway. The crazed Indian's actions terrorized the Huns and they beat it for their lives.

"Rogers never got a scratch. It was in fact very much a one-man scrap, almost an exhibition. I never saw a man move so fast in my life, and I guess the Germans hadn't either."

Rogers is now being utilized as a sniper, and is enjoying himself picking off enemy snipers, Sergeant Tostevin adds, and says that other Indians in the regiment are being used for scouting and patrol duty because of the natural instinct which fits them for this kind of work.

SEES SON IN MOVIES

Mother Recognizes Boy Among Soldiers on March.

"If you ever see a moving picture camera while on the march, wave your arm, smile and say 'Hello, mamma!' Perhaps I'll see it," was the parting injunction of Mrs. H. G. Bass of Atlanta, Ga., to her son, Lieut. Arthur Bass, as he left them for service "over there."

Recently Mrs. Bass, watching a screen show, suddenly screamed and cried:

"There he is; see him smile and look. I can hear him saying: 'Hello, mamma!'"

The picture showed the Yankees marching smilingly down a long muddy road toward the trenches, when suddenly there came into view the young lieutenant, who waved his hand jauntily and his lips moved as if obeying his mother's instructions.

The picture was continued several days in the hope of showing other Atlanta boys.

THIS WRECKS HUN TRENCHES

This 155-millimeter trench cannon is the grandfather of all the small trench artillery. The Germans at first had much superior small guns for trench smashing at short range, and life in British lines in Flanders was made miserable by the Hun "minenwerfers." Then the Stokes trench mortar was taken to France to make things hot for Heine. The French gun shown above is Fritz' worst hate.
